Spain's Dangerous Plight.
Installment Plan Babies.
Too Much Greek, Latin.
A Useful Prince.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

CONDITIONS IN Spain grow worse day by day. The number of churches fired by mobs reaches 21, with 10 others wrecked. Fifty thousand members of religious orders have been compelled to flee. It is reported that Sisters of Charity have been beaten in the streets of Madrid.

The President of the Spanish republic, who realizes that no government can stand under such abominable conditions, holds Communists and Royalists responsible, declaring that the disorder was created by enemies of the republic.

WHILE SPAIN is torn, as Mexico was recently, by religious strife and hatred, the authorities of Prussia have signed a "concordat," or treaty, with the former state Lutheran church, similar to that signed in 1929 with the Catholic church.

A nation is fortunate that can progress, free from religious difficulties. And the foundation of such freedom is absolute separation of church and state in all their functions.

The total hospital cost of a new baby under the Chicago installment plan at the Presbyterian Hospital will be $45.

Instaliment plan babies will be well taken care of. The total charge of $45 will include 10 days in the hospital and monthly "pre-natal" visits to the clinic.

Other cities might imitate that.

YALE DECIDES that Greek and Latin are not necessary. Students are permitted to substitute classics in civilization courses for dead languages, a sound decision. Time devoted to Greek and Latin grammar is time wasted.

In the whole United States there are probably not 10 men that know Greek thoroughly, and they don't really know it, or how it was pronounced, or accentuated.

EVERY STUDENT should know a certain number of Greek and Latin words, and their meanings. Some teacher of English should prepare a list of a few hundred Greek and Latin words which every boy that gets out of college should know, for instance, that anthropos means "man," that logos means "the discourse," or "the word."

EVERYBODY SHOULD be taught the part that Greek and Latin play in our language, the derivations of phonograph, telephone, microphone, etc.

All that is needed of Greek or Latin could be learned by an intelligent boy in one week.

GREAT BRITAIN has a valuable asset in the young Prince of Wales, hard worker, simple, democratic, realizing that everybody should do his share and setting the example.

Referring to American methods he said more than a year ago:

"We must learn to adopt, adapt and improve."

Yesterday he told British businessmen that they must copy American sales and advertising methods, if they wanted a greater share in South American markets.

COMPLIMENTING advertising men of the United States, the Prince said:

"I am sorry to say that as a nation we are very far behind in advertising."

AMERICAN ADVERTISERS should remember that this refers to ADVERTISING SPECIALISTS, men who study the art of advertising, making it their only business.

For a businessman, no matter how clever in his own line, to imagine that he can do his own advertising is as foolish as it would be for him to imagine that he could be the architect of a skyscraper, or the engineer of a great manufacturing plant.

Produce goods that the people want.

Get the right advertising agent, let him tell people that you have the goods.

THE FINANCIAL ill wind blows good for those that borrow, and have good credit.

New York City yesterday sold $52,000,000 of four-year corporate stock to a group headed by the National City Company, at an interest charge of less than 3 per cent, the best bargain the city has made in 30 years.

In Wall street, those that speculate can borrow money "on call" for 1 per cent a year.

Very few have any appetite for speculating now. They are like the mouse in the trap that did not "care for cheese."

CRIME DOES not pay. An unusually clever young New York criminal, sentenced to prison for stealing, studied law, pleaded his own case, and was released. Police say he then started studying law in earnest, intending to "go straight" but became a backslider. He was again arrested, charged with stealing diamonds. His career ends now, other criminals having become dissatisfied with his methods.

At 1 o'clock yesterday morning he left a speakeasy, one of New York's many thousands, called the "Mad Dot Boat Club." A friend walked beside him to "put him on the spot."

The friend stepped aside, ran. Three men in an automobile shot the young criminal to death. Crime believes in capital punishment for its own offenders.

SUNDAY BALL FIGHT IN SENATE

STORE BANDITS GET 30-100 YEARS

Pair Trapped by Boy Plead Guilty to Score of Holdups; Others of Gang Sent Up

Two weeks after their arrest, two chain store bandits today were sentenced to serve from 30 to 100 years each in the Western Penitentiary.

They are Wilson Link, alias Kelly, 29, and Harry Lollo, 23, both of 32 Vinecliff street.

Harry McIntyre, 15, high school boy and part time delivery boy in one of the stores held up, caused their arrest, and was awarded a gold wrist watch for furnishing the tip to the police.

Link pleaded guilty to 21 charges and Lollo to 19. Two other members of the gang were sentenced. William Sewell, 19, of 32 Vinecliff street, was sent to Huntingdon Reformatory, and Charles Kauff, 23, of 112 Williams street, was sentenced 2 to 40 years in the workhouse. Both pleaded to three robbery charges.

McIntyre, from whom Link took 10 cents in one of the robberies, was riding his bicycle in Mt. Washington when he saw Link on the street. He followed him and sent a companion to notify police.

Sentence was imposed by Judge George V. Moore.

Briand Beaten, Quits Race for French Office

VERSAILLES, France, May 13.—(AP.)—Aristide Briand, defeated on the first presidential ballot, today withdrew his candidacy and threw his support to Senator Pierre Marraud as the second ballot began early in the evening.

Marraud was the most formidable opponent to Paul Doumer, austere president of the Senate, who polled 442 votes to Briand's 401 in the first ballot. The Socialists announcsd their votes would go to Marraud.

Briand's defeat was interpreted as a blow to his prestige and in the lobbies there was free discussion as to who would replace him as foreign minister. Briand had told the cabinet in conference, however, that he would go to Geneva tomorrow as he had planned, for he did not consider the presidential vote had any effect on French foreign policies.

It was probably the bitterest defeat Briand had experienced in his long, dramatic career, during which he had been chosen premier 12 times and had been a cabinet minister 25 times in a quarter of a century.

The setback was attributed in good part to Briand's overzealous supporters who vaunted the alleged indorsement of his candidacy by Arthur Henderson, the British foreign minister, and cited Briand in American newspapers.

This was believed to have solidified the nationalistic opposition to the international minded foreign minister.

BAKER RESIGNS AS HEAD OF W. & J.

President Storm Center of Student Strike, Pleads Ill Health to Trustees

WASHINGTON, Pa., May 13.—Dr. Simon S. Baker, president of Washington and Jefferson College, resigned today. His resignation, submitted to the board of trustees of the college, gave ill-health as the reason.

The board, meeting to consider the recent strike of students demanding the removal of Dr. Baker, has taken no action upon his resignation.

GOOD OF COLLEGE

Dr. Baker said:

"In taking this action, I am actuated solely by what seems to me to be for the good of the college."

In his letter Dr. Baker referred to the recent walkout of students thus:

"So far as the student body is concerned, I have tried to win their friendship, but have been unsuccessful. Sometimes I think the fault is mine."

The entire student body of Western Pennsylvania's oldest denominational educational institution walked out, demanding Baker's resignation, early in March. They charged him with being autocratic and imposing higher scholastic averages upon students participating in athletics than others.

CHAPEL WALKOUT

Since the strike he has not appeared before a student assembly.

Dr. Baker's letter to the trustees follows:

"As you know, I have not recovered my health and, believing it is for the best interests of the college, I hereby tender my resignation as president of Washington and Jefferson College. In taking this action, I am actuated solely by what seems to me to be for the good of the college.

FACULTY LOYAL

"My successor will find the faculty a group of men devoted to the college. So far as the student body is concerned, I have tried to win their friendship, but have been unsuccessful. Sometimes I think the fault is mine. While, of course, their action as a body in leaving chapel last month was indefensible, I did nothing about it. I hope, beyond condemning it, that there may be nothing further done about their action. As a whole, they are serious-minded and well-behaved.

"I wish to thank the board, and especially Judge Brownson, for his and their kind and considerate support during my incumbency. I sincerely hope my action may benefit the college."

MARTIN BLOC OPPOSING MEASURE

Backers Maneuver to Keep Denning Bill From Going To Law, Order Committee

By ED PRENDERGAST
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, May 13.—The Denning Sunday baseball bill, sent from the House after its passage there, is the subject of a tactical struggle between proponents and blue law advocates in the Senate today.

Liberal forces were maintaining, in discussions with senatorial powers, that the bill should go to the Elections Committee instead of to the Law and Order Committee, the latter of which is traditionally opposed to liberal legislation. A dozen blue law modification or repeal measures introduced this session have lain untouched in the files of the law and order group.

Some of Gen. Edward Martin's men are working to shoot the measure to Law and Order Committee, where it would undoubtedly die.

Edward C. Shannon, lieutenant governor, will make the final decision late today, it was learned.

HELD LOCAL ISSUE

Liberals hold that the Denning bill is a local option measure primarily and that propriety demands that it be allocated to the Elections Committee.

Predictions are being made that the bill will never get through the Senate to the Governor's desk—statements made also for 147 years since the blue law repeal fight has been made. They continued in the House up until the final vote was polled yesterday, a vote that showed 106 for the passage of the Sunday baseball measure and 96 to down it.

A nucleus of 13 of the 50 senators who might unite to pass the Denning bill has been formed, and a vigorous fight is promised if the bill can be brought out of committee.

COYNE POLL TAX BILL SIGNED

Gov. Gifford Pinchot today signed the bills providing a 50-cent poll tax and for assessments two months prior to election.

A conference was immediately held by County Treasurer George J. Schad, chairman of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, and County Controller Robert G. Woodside for putting its provisions into effect.

Pending the changing of tax books, which have been prepared for 1931 taxes on the graded occupation tax basis, the collection of taxes under the new poll tax law has been held up.

As soon as a certified copy of the new bill is received, clerks will be put to work on the books making deductions on the graded occupation tax to conform with the poll tax law. It is expected that a force of approximately 250 clerks, the number used during the July rush period, will be put to work. It probably will take about two weeks to complete the work.

When the books are changed, taxables will be given an opportunity of paying the original amount a receiving a slip for any refund.

How to Register Under New Law

If you are not assessed you may still vote at next September's primaries as a result of the enactment of new assessment legislation today. Following is the procedure:

Go to the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes any time before July 15 and be assessed and pay your taxes.

If you live in Pittsburgh register on September 3, 8 or 12.

If you live in Clairton, Duquesne or McKeesport, register on August 27, September 1 or September 12.

If you live in a borough or township see your register-assessor and be sure you are enrolled.

Under previous interpretations of laws governing assessment the deadline would have been last November 4 for those who sought to vote this September.

'Rum King' Courtney Gets Two Years, Fine

CLEVELAND, May 13.—(INS.)—James (Big Jim) Courtney, of McKeesport, Pa., reputed former "king" of a giant liquor smuggling ring between Canada and the United States, today pleaded guilty in Federal District Court here to charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law and was sentenced to two years at Atlanta Penitentiary and pay a fine of $2,500.

NAUTILUS DIVE TEST SUCCESS

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 13.—(INS.)—Capt. Sir Hubert Wilkins' polar submarine, the Nautilus, was brought to the surface of the Thames River at noon today after the first lenghty submersion test since its reconstruction.

Lieut. Com. Sloan Danenhower, in command of the undersea craft, termed the diving test satisfactory.

The Nautilus, in which Sir Hubert will keep a scientific rendezvous at the North Pole with the German Graf Zeppelin, was submerged very slowly today as experts went over it carefully for possible leaks or weakness in the structure. The Nautilus remained under for more than an hour.

Graf to Cross Sea 6 Times This Year

NEW YORK, May 13.—(INS.)—The Graf Zeppelin will cross the Atlantic six times this summer to test a five-day mail service plan between Berlin and Brazil. Plans for the voyages were announced today by Martin Wronsky, director of Lufthansa, German airways system.

Dollar Gain Slight; Recovery in Doubt

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., May 13.—(INS.)—Capt. John Dollar, 87-year-old shipping magnate, today was reported to have recovered slightly from the illness that confined him to his bed several days ago. Whether he will completely recover remains uncertain, according to his physicians.

Georgette Cohan Seriously Ill in N. Y.

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP.)—Georgette Cohan, daughter of George M. Cohan, veteran actor, is reported to be seriously ill following an operation. No alarm was felt over her condition. She underwent another operation a month ago.

Once 'Richest Child' Becomes Mother

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP.)—A daughter has been born to Mrs. Charles V. Hickox, of New York, once known as "the richest child in America."

Mrs. Hickox inherited $33,000,000 from her father, John H. Barker, of Michigan City, Ind., a manufacturer of railroad cars. She is widely known for her philanthropies. Her husband, to whom she was married in April, last year, is a broker.

Einstein Kin Given Film Expedition Job

BERLIN, May 13.—(AP.)—Dr. Albert Einstein's son-in-law, Dmitri Marianoff, has been appointed art and scientific director of the ethnological film venture headed by Robert J. Flaherty and organized by "Porza," an international artistic and scientific association.

The destination of the expedition has not yet been determined, although it probably will be India.

Clara Bow Assured Job Upon Recovery

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—(AP.)—B. P. Schulberg, managing director for Paramount, announced Clara Bow will start work on a new film as soon as she recovers from the nervous breakdown she suffered 10 days ago.

Dr. J. Wesley Hommel, Miss Bow's physician, said she was showing steady improvement.

Lincoln Highway Bridge Collapses

STOYESTOWN, Pa., May 13.—Traffic over the Lincoln highway between Stoyestown and Ligonier has been cut off for several days, the result of the collapse of the large bridge at Kantner yesterday.

Hawks Sets Fast Mark to Hamburg

HAMBURG, Germany, May 13.—(AP.)—Capt. Frank Hawks flew here today from Berlin, taking 58 minutes for the 160-mile trip which the regular passenger planes usually cover in two hours.

Comedian Joe Cook Free; 'Happiest Marriage' Ends

The divorce was granted in Newark, N. J., at a hearing on April 15 before Referee Francis Child.

Mrs. Cook did not contest the divorce petition.

Thus finis was written to what was regarded as one of Broadway's happiest romances.

The Cook's have two children. They are with their mother, who is said to be in Detroit with her mother.

'Bugs' and 'Jiggs' Intend to Beat Wilkins to Pole

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Just arranged with Sir Hubert Wilkins for a three-cornered date at the North Pole.

Hubert is going there by submarine. Hugo Eckener will meet Hubert and zero in his big Zep.

They talked like the North Pole was just the corner cigar store. So George Jiggs McManus and myself are going to be in back of the tobacco counter when they get there.

George and I figured you can always get a transfer on a street car. So we will start on an initial investment of 5 cents. And keep demanding transfers until we reach the Pole.

He invited us to make the trip as passengers on the Nautilus. But we are having a pretty good time in Chicago and we don't want to be guests of honor any place where the chamber of commerce meets on a cake of ice.

STORM DAMAGE HERE HEAVY

One woman had a narrow escape from drowning and another was assisted to safety during a heavy rainstorm which struck the Pittsburgh district late yesterday, causing many flooded cellars, landslides and other property damage. A new steam towboat, the Pennsylvania, about to embark on its maiden trip down the Ohio River, was damaged $5,000 when struck by lightning.

Imprisoned in the cellar of her home at 2408 Spring Garden avenue, North Side, Mrs. Justine Schmitt, 79, was rescued from probable drowning by Charles W. Moedinger, a neighbor, whose attention to the woman's plight was attracted by her hands extending through a window. The rapidly rising water had reached her waist when she was rescued. Mrs. Schmitt was improving today.

The other woman assisted to safety was Mrs. Amelia Woefel, of 2418 Spring Garden avenue, trapped in a similar manner as Mrs. Schmitt.

PALS SEE TRUCK KILL BOY

Before the eyes of more than a dozen playmates, Walter Wiskeman, 9, of 4210 Geneva street, was crushed to death under the rear wheel of a truck, near the Main Street School at noon today.

Walter and his friends had climbed onto the truck at the bottom of Main street hill, when he slipped and fell beneath the rear wheel, according to Frank Breitenstein, 11, of 4431 Penn avenue, who saw the accident from the sidewalk.

The truck driver, ignorant of the tragedy, did not stop. A motorist took the victim to St. Francis Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Robber's Attack on Envoy Brings U. S. Police Probe

WASHINGTON, May 13.—(AP.)—Secretary Stimson said today the State Department would investigate to determine if foreign envoys in Washington were receiving the police protection to which they were entitled under international usage.

The secretary made the announcement in response to questions regarding an attack on Dr. Don Carlos Leiva, Salvadorean charge d'affaires, during a raid by liquor thieves upon the legation.

Dr. Leiva was at a hospital with lacerations of the face, head and scalp.

An account of the struggle, given by Second Secretary Melendez of the legation, said Dr. Leiva encountered an armed man in the hallway and seized the man's arm, whose gun was discharged, the bullet shattering a glass door.

He said Leiva was struck with a flashlight and in the scuffle succeeded in getting one finger of his assailant's hand in his mouth, causing the intruder to release the flashlight with which Leiva in turn beat at his attacker.

Melendez said Dr. Leiva subdued the man and crossed the street to give the alarm which brought the police. In the meantime, however, his attacker revived and escaped with his companions, who left behind 10 cases of liquor they had removed to the rear of the legation for loading into automobiles.

ANTI-DRYS SEE REPEAL NEAR, LAUNCH GREATEST DRIVE

ORGANIZATIONS IN 48 STATES PLANNED

Fight Will Be Carried Into Every Community; Copy Methods of Dry League

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 13—Believing that repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment is nearer reality now than at any time since its adoption more than a decade ago, the major anti-prohibition groups of the nation are weaving organizations which will reach into every state and local community it was disclosed today.

They are preparing for the "big putsch," which may come in the national campaign of 1932 or in the congressional elections two years later.

This program is more far-reaching than has heretofore been attempted by anti-dry organizations. In it they are taking a leaf from the methods used by the Anti-Saloon League to "put over" national prohibition.

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, backed by a powerful group, is speeding the extension of its work into states, where divisions are formed. These divisions, through membership in local communities, are carrying the organized anti-dry effort home to the voters, officials say.

Somewhat akin to the W. C. T. U. is the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform, headed by the militant Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, of New York. Already this organization has formed branches in 31 states.

For some time the anti-dry cause was carried on largely by small groups of leaders. The plan of President Henry H. Curran, of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and Mrs. Sabin, it is disclosed, is an ambitious effort to enroll the rank and file in the nation in their fight.

HEARST ARTISTS SPUR FESTIVAL

CHICAGO, May 13.—(Universal.)—Meeting hundreds of their public in Loop department stores, three of the crack comic artists of the Hearst newspapers stimulated the festive spirit of the golden anniversary of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, celebrated in conjunction with the all-Chicago jubilee.

George McManus, at whose "Bringing Up Father" America has laughed for two decades, was the headliner at a fashion show in Mandel Brothers' tea room, aided by Rube Goldberg.

Senator Royal S. Copeland, health editor of the Herald and Examiner, was honored at a banquet attended by 175 leading Chicagoans at the Congress Hotel.

Climax of the Herald and Examiner anniversary celebration will occur at 6:25 p. m. tomorrow when President Hoover in Washington will press a button, setting in motion the presses of the Herald and Examiner, turning out copies of its golden anniversary number which will be a part of Thursday's paper.

Hamilton Fish Hits Debt Cancellation

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP.)—Representative Hamilton Fish, Jr. (Rep.), New York, today said cancellation of the French debt to the United States during the present depression "would to all practical purposes be subsidizing foreign labor in competition with our own." He asserted a high protective tariff is necessary and attacked the International Chamber of Commerce for its declaration on war debts and tariff walls.

TELL OF DEATH IN 'GIN PARTY'

VALPARAISO, Ind., May 13.—(AP.)—Testimony with which prosecutors said they hoped to send Virgil Kirkland to the electric chair for the death of Arlene Draves was laid before the jury today by physicians and coroner's aides.

Supplementing these witnesses were Gary police officers, who described the arrest of the five youths, indicted for killing Miss Draves. These youths are, in addition to Kirkland, David Thompson, at whose home the gin party was held; Paul Barton, Henry (Tony) Shirk and Leon Stanford.

Late yesterday, the jurors heard Chester Owen, chief deputy coroner of Lake County, describe 32 wounds he found on Arlene's body. Owen could not remember his first trial evidence and became confused over his description of a forehead bruise. This wound, the defense contends, was caused by a fall on the Thompson porch while Arlene was intoxicated, resulting in her death.

Former Pittsburgher, Chain Store Man, Dies

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—(AP.)—James Fitzsimmons, 43, owner of a chain of 30 grocery stores here and general manager of the Continental group of 138 grocery stores, died yesterday. He came to Los Angeles in 1928 from Pittsburgh, where he was vice president of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

CAR DITCHED, 2 MEN STABBED

Two McKeesport men, driving in the Boston Hollow road, Elizabeth Township, early today, were crowded into the ditch by an automobile going in the opposite direction. Thre occupants of the other car returned and attacked the two as they attempted to extricate their car from the mud, stabbing both of them.

The injured men, Wayne Simpson, 27, of 732½ Fifth avenue, and William Clements, 25, of 530½ Fifth avenue, drove five miles to the McKeesport Hospital.

BELGIAN QUEEN HONORS YSAYE

BRUSSELS, May 13.—(AP.)—Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians today paid a last visit to Eugene Ysaye, Belgian violinist, who died yesterday, going to his bier where she left a wreath. She was accompanied by a maid of honor. Intensely moved, the Queen expressed to the violinist's sobbing widow her deep sympathy and sorrow.

Ysaye's funeral will be held Friday. There will be a mass for him at Trinity Church, which will be sung by the students of the Brussels musical school, where Ysaye for the last 15 years acted as professor.

In accordance with Ysaye's wish, there will be no funeral address. He will be buried at Ixelles Cemetery.

Sewickley Inducts 2 New Councilmen

Two new councilmen were inducted into office at a meeting of Sewickley council last night. Thomas Taylor, was recently named to succeed J. A. Hutchinson, who has moved away, and F. E. Fickinger, was elected to succeed J. W. Arrott III, resigned. Resurfacing of Centennial avenue between Grimes and Nevin streets was authorized.

COLLEGE BLAZE CAPS UPRISING OF STUDENTS

Arson Charged in Burning of Heidelberg Ticket Office; 'Town Hoodlums' Blamed

TIFFIN, O., May 13.—(AP.)—Incendiarism was blamed by firemen for the burning here today of a small wooden athletic ticket office at Heidelberg College, where students have been in a mild uprising for the past week in a dispute with officials of the college.

No other buildings were threatened by the fire and the loss was small. Firemen and college officials agreed the blaze was started by an incendiary, but the college officials were inclined to blame "town hoodlums" rather than Heidelberg students.

The dispute between part of the students and the college officials began when President Charles E. Miller announced that Dr. Newell Sawyer, head of the Department of English, would not be reappointed for next year.

Shortly afterward someone threw stones through the president's office windows, posters were displayed on the campus reading, "Out with Miller," and an anonymous publication was issued accusing President Miller of personal reasons for the non-reappointment of Sawyer. A petition asking trustees of the college to reconsider Prof. Sawyer was signed by 275 students out of the college's approximate 400 enrollment.

GEM SALESMAN LOSES DIAMOND

Aaron Naftar, 55, of Brooklyn, who told police he was a traveling diamond salesman with a clientele at the race tracks and other places where the sporting element gather, was short one of his diamonds today.

In a bus station on Liberty avenue yesterday, Naftar displayed a diamond to two men.

One of them asked the price, then asked if he might take it across the street to a jewelry store to have it appraised. Naftar gave it to him.

Ten hours later, Naftar told police, he became worried because the man had not returned—his companion had grown tired of waiting and left in the meantime—so he reported the affair to the city detective bureau.

District Coal Rate To East Set Aside

MAN ENDS LIFE; $11,000 IN BANK

The coroner's office today was investigating the suicide of a McKees Rocks mill laborer who was reported to have deposited more than $11,000 in a McKees Rocks bank within the last four months, though he was working but three days a week.

The man, found hanging last night in an old passenger coach, near Robb street, McKees Rocks, by four boys, was identified as Imre Domiter, alias Lemmic Dommeto, 50, of 6 Martha street.

John Naslesnik, at whose home the man lived, told Deputy Coroner R. D. Newman of Domiter's bank deposits. Naslesnik said Domiter refused to tell where the money came from and complained that bank officials refused to accept any more money from him until they investigated his account, according to Newman.

Deputy coroners expressed belief that Domiter had been brooding over a recent charge preferred against him by a McKees Rocks shoemaker, that Domiter had stolen $7,000 from him.

12th District G.O.P. Hosts at Dinner

Weather Conditions.

A disturbance is centered off the North Carolina coast, covering the eastern half of the country, producing cloudiness as far west as Indiana and showers to Central Ohio. The rainfall for the last 24 hours was generally light, but heavy in many localities. The heaviest rain in the Pittsburgh river district was 1.70 inches, at Pittsburgh. At Lynchburg, Va., the fall was 1.18 inches and at Cincinnati 1.06. West of the Mississippi River the skies are clear, under the influence of relatively high pressure. The temperatures are rising slowly, the only place reporting frost was North Platte, Neb.

River Conditions.

There is a slight rise in the Allegheny River, but the Monongahela River is falling slowly. Stage at Franklin is 4.6 feet; Lock No. 7, 12.7; Pittsburgh, 14.0; Dam No. 4, 10.4; Dam No. 6, 11.4; Dam No. 10, 12.4, and Dam No. 13, 13.0. The Ohio River will rise slightly.

Prosecutors Confer Over Diamond Trial

NEW YORK, May 13.—(INS.)—Federal Attorney Medalie and Attorney General Bennett today made plans for an early conference to decide whether the federal government or the state will first try Jack "Legs" Diamond.

The New York racketeer, already under indictment by the state, yesterday was indicted by a Federal grand jury here on charges of violating the prohibition law.

RIOTERS SHOT BY SPANISH GUARDS

Many Killed and Injured in Cordova Fighting; Crowd Balked at Burning Convent

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service.

MADRID, May 13.—Blood flowed freely in strife-torn Spain today as civil guards met the onslaughts of anti-clerical vandals in Cordova with a hail of lead. Six were killed and 30 wounded in a pitched battle following an attempt to burn the convent of Saint Cayetano.

The shooting marked the stiffening of opposition by the provisional Republican government to the activities of the anti-clericals, who, it alleges, are being inspired to their destructive vandalism by former King Alfonso and his monarchical satellites.

The government immediately placed the city under martial law, a step taken previously in Madrid, Seville and other places where the depredations of the anti-clericals have destroyed 21 churches and religious buildings, driven 50,000 nuns and monks from convents and schools and caused property damage estimated at more than $30,000,0000.

Alfonso Waits Call To Save Country

PARIS, May 13.—(Universal.)—Alfonso De Bourbon, deposed monarch of Spain, was today confident of returning to Spain within two weeks to save his country from anarchy.

The former king has not slept since the riots and disorder and anti-church demonstrations broke out. The Duke of Miranda, cousin of the ex-king and chief of Alfonso's household, characterized as "ridiculous and preposterous" charges by Republican officials in Madrid that Alfonso has a hand in the "plot" to embarrass the republic by inciting disorders.

Pope Pius Blames Rioting On Reds

VATICAN CITY, May 13.—(INS.)—Pope Pius XI is "greatly distressed" over the anti-religious riots in Spain, but believes the provisional Republican government is taking all possible steps to prevent further disturbances, it was learned today.

The Pontiff believes Communist elements, acting in defiance of the government, are responsible for the outrages, and is hopeful the government will be able to gain the upper hand.

Princess of Thurn Upheld In Fight for Trust Funds

Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, in an opinion, ruled that the Princess of Thurn and Taxis, of Uniontown, Pa., may submit to the court an order for denying the motion to dismiss a bill of complaint she filed against the trustees of two trust funds of which she and her sons are beneficiaries.

In a bill of equity filed some months ago by the princess and her son, John Purcell Fitzgerald, of New York, they asked that Andrew A. Thompson, William W. Parshall and Robert J. Arnett, the trustees, be dismissed.

The bill averred that the funds set aside for the princess and her sons by Gerald Purcell Fitzgerald, have been mismanaged and used in unfit investments, and asked for an accounting.

Arguments on the motion of the trustee to dismiss the bill were heard March 11. Counsel for the trustees questioned the jurisdiction of the court in the matter involved and argued that Fitzgerald and the other two sons are parties to the action, and they have not joined the princess in seeking an accounting.

The two funds involved, one for $450,000 which was to provide allmony for the princess and the other of $300,000 for the sons, were set aside by Fitzgerald in December, 1906. They were divorced in 1907 in England.

The court was of the opinion that the accounting asked for can be granted without prejudicing any of the rights of other persons interested in the funds, according to the opinion.

Men Must Find Security In Selves, Coolidge Says

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., May 13.

To the Editor of The Sun-Telegraph:

All through the ages people have been seeking some material security outside themselves. It has not yet been found. There is a possibility that the quest is a delusion.

Mr. Coolidge

Great nation have arisen and sought safety in might armaments, great men have sought riches. Alliances among nations and combinations among men have striven for the same goal. Always some other nation, man, alliance or combination has arisen that was stronger. No temporal power, no riches can boast of much antiquity. Neither men nor nations have found permanent security in material power.

The nations of Europe are now attempting to apply this same system in their search for security. The same thought is working down among individuals the world over. They all want some assurance that no matter what happens some power outside themselves is to protect them from all evil consequences. A league is to be a guaranty for nations and some obligation of society is to furnish support for individuals. While much could be done the plans proposed appear very doubtful. In the end the security of nations and men must be sought within themselves by observing the command to do justice, love mercy and walk humbly.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

KQV'S RUSSIAN COUNT ANNOUNCER SEEKS PRINCE'S ESTATE

TITLED CHAPEL IN QUEST OF $500,000

Broadcaster Lays Claim to Fortune Left by Relative Dying as Exile in France

A radio announcer who is a Russian count is unusual. A radio announcer who is a Russian count and also heir apparent to half a million dollars is extraordinary, even in this land of golden opportunity.

SEEKS CASH FOR FAMILY

KQV'S titled announcer believes that he and his mother, Countess Josephine, now Mrs. Frank Keller, of Boston, and his two sisters, Jane and Ann, are the nearest of kin and will automatically inherit the $500,000 estate if no prior claims are filed in the next six months.

Count Chapel and his mother and sisters came to United States in 1912, upon the advice of Gen. Kuropatkin, who foresaw trouble as early as 1904, his memoirs disclose. The young count joined the regular army in 1919 and went to West Point, where he failed in mathematics.

WILL REMAIN CITIZEN

He then attended the University of Virginia at Charlottsville, and since has been a radio announcer at WCAH and WMAN, in Columbus, O., and at KQV, here. He is 26.

Of his anticipated fortune, he said:

"This money will make no difference in my mode of living. I have given up all hope of recovering my family estates in Russia. Sherhurina Castle, near Pskov, was confiscated by the Soviet government and is now used for military police records. I intend to remain a citizen of the United States."

COUNT JOHN J. K. CHAPEL

AUTO GUNMEN EVADE POLICE MANHUNT

Theories Fail to Reveal Cause For Machine Gun Killing In New York Street

International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Roy Howard Sloane, former Carnegie Tech and Columbia University student, was shot down by a gang, but why he was killed police were unable to say today.

The young man who talked his way out of Sing Sing prison had a passion for taking other people's automobiles, police said, and went around with a fake special officer's badge and a false mustache in his pockets, but his activities that led an underworld group to "bump him off" in front of a New York cafe yesterday, remained a mystery.

THEORIES STUDIED

Sloane, who studied law at Columbia and continued his legal reading while in Sing Sing on a car theft charge, finally winning his release when he acted as his own attorney, was free on bail when he was killed.

He had been arrested in a Fifth avenue robbery attempt, and some detectives thought he might have planned to become a state witness, but the prosecutor's office denied Sloane had offered to testify for the state. Another police theory was that he might have "muscled in" on other people's affairs and carried the special officer's badge to give him additional dignity and authority.

LICENSE PLATE STOLEN

A third theory was that Sloane was a member of a gang which stole automobiles and that he had quarreled with his pals. Supporting this theory was the fact that a taxi driver at the scene of Sloane's killing jotted down the number of the automobile in which the assasins rode. The number was one of three license plates stolen last fall before issuance by the State Vehicle Department.

Sloane's mother, Anna Bogenholm Sloane, who holds three college degrees, was unable to give the authorities any clue as to why her son was killed. She maintained he was "a good boy" sent to prison on "frame" charges.

Mother's Screams Save Child, 6, From Cougar

Louis, his mother and two younger children were walking on a highway near Buckley. The mother saw the animal crouched to spring, and screamed. The animal retreated, and later was killed. Two other cougars previously had been killed in the neighborhood.

Forest fires are believed to have driven the animals near the town.

U. S. TO HEAR POPE'S TALK FRIDAY

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP.)—Broadcast listeners in the United States will have an opportunity to hear Pope Pius speak via radio for a second time on Friday.

The National Broadcasting Company announced today it would carry an hour and a half program from HVJ, Vatican City station, starting at noon, Pittsburgh time, via the WEAF coast-to-coast chain.

The broadcast is to include the Pope's address in Italian to 10,000 representatives of labor organizations from all over the world together with translations, including that of Msgr. Francis J. Spellman, of Boston.

AUDITORS URGE WAREHOUSE FOR CITY

Excess Cost of Handling Purchases to Be Scored In Report to Controller

Establishment of a central warehouse by the Department of Supplies, it was learned today, will be among the recommendations included in the double audit of the department, when Price, Waterhouse & Co. submit the results of its investigation to Controller James P. Kerr.

It is claimed that under the existing system of making purchases, it costs the city $3 or $4 on even a small purchase for labor to make the numerous entries necessary. It is claimed that such a system is antiquated, due largely to the fact the city does not have a depot for supplies.

SYSTEM INEFFICIENT

There is one at Mayview, and that one, it is reported, will come in for more or less complaint. It is claimed that the storehouse at Mayview is conducted in an unsatisfactory manner.

Under proper management, with the establishment of a warehouse, it is claimed that requisitions can be made for supplies as they are needed, and the city can use a different and more economical system in making purchases.

GARBAGE AUDIT COSTS

City Council's finance committee today stood on record as having approved for final payment costs of the audit of former Controller Henry Oliver Evans against the American Reduction Company, following which the city collected $481,000 due on overcharges for refuse.

Approval was made of a resolution authorizing the Mayor and City Controller to countersign warrants in favor of the MacLean company, for $8,627.26 and for Collins & Co. for $10,582. The amounts represent full payment of the bills.

CLEARS PALMER IN SAND CASE

Public Works Director Edward G. Lang today exonerated I. Charles Palmer, city engineer, of any wrongdoing in connection with his former position as director in the West Penn Sand and Gravel Company, one of the enterprises of Mike Manella, a city sewer contractor. Director Lang described the Palmer hearing as "the biggest flop of the whole public works quiz," and said the charge was unwarranted and malicious.

BUTLER SWEARS IN AIR TALK

BALTIMORE, May 13.—(AP.)—Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler delivered an uncensored speech before the Scimeter Club here last night that was broadcast over the radio. Told in advance he could "damn" three times and "hell" twice every 10 minutes, the general scattered six of each over the hour and a half he was on the air.

In a recent speech in Philadelphia the Marine commander was cut off the air for the use of the word "hell," to which the manager of the radio station objected, declaring it was an improper word. Gen. Butler began his address with allusion to that incident, saying:

"I get into jams, I am an orthodox Quaker from Pennsylvania and given to mildness; I never lose my temper."

His speech dealt mainly with his experiences in China four years ago when he was sent to Tientsin to protect American lives and property.

ANOTHER JAIL BREAK FEARED

GREENSBURG, Pa., May 13.—(AP.)—James M. Keating, warden of the Westmoreland County Jail, said today he would ask state police to continue to guard the jail for several nights to prevent another jail break here.

The warden's precautions, he said, were occasioned by reports that noises within the jail were heard by a guard this morning. Two men escaped from their cells last week and another break was believed to have been frustrated early yesterday.

Several prisoners in the jail were regarded as dangerous. Keating urged the sheriff to remove George and Pete Vidonish and Frank Kenospki, all of Fayette County, to Western Penitentiary, and was assured they would be taken there. The three pleaded guilty to robbing Nick Yourno, of George's Station, and were given terms of 7½ to 15 years each in the penitentiary.

Robots as Steel Heaters Seen By Engineers

CHICAGO, May 13.—(AP.)—Robot operation of heating plants in manufacturing steel, replacing the open hearth man, was one of the subjects for discussion by a committee of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers at their two-day session which ends today.

Robot operation of heating in steel plants would be obtained through meters which automatically regulate the flow of fuel, usually oil or gas, to meet the temperature requirements of metal used in producing steel.

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP.)—A national membership of approximately 600,000 in the Women's Christian Temperance Union was revealed by Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president of the union, at the first session of the two-day conference of the Kings County union in Brooklyn.

MOTHER FOUND FOR FUNERAL

In a little country graveyard near Grove City, Mrs. Frank Miller this morning saw the coffin containing the body of her 18-month-old son, Frank, Jr., placed in its last resting place. The baby was drowned Monday at the home of its grandparents while the mother was in Pittsburgh seeking work.

While Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. Stanley Winkler was hanging up clothes on the Winkler farm on Monday the child wandered to a spring to get a drink. He was found drowned with a dipper clutched in his hand. Mrs. Winkler did not know the address of her daughter and a search was instituted for her by police. She was found here and returned home in time for the funeral.

Inverclyde Seeks To Enjoin Wife

EDINBURGH, May 13.—(INS.)—Lord Inverclyde, young Scottish peer, today filed an injunction action against his wife, the former June Howard-Tripp, internationally famous dancer.

The nature of the action was not disclosed. It will be tried during the June session of court. The action followed a suit for divorce filed in Reno, Nev., by Lady Inverclyde, known on the New York and London stage as "June."

CLARK SIFTING GRAFT CHARGE

Public Safety Director James M Clark started an investigation into the charges of E. E. Miller, 1212 Forbes street, that two city detectives threatened him with a lawsuit to collect a $200 reward for recovering a stolen ring.

The accused detectives, Frederick Gray and George Owens, according to Miller, demanded an additional $50 besides refusing to return part of the $150 he had advanced them for expenses in returning Robert Conn, an actor accused of the theft of a $1,500 diamond ring, from Indianapolis. Both men denied the charge.

PINCHOT PLANS NEW P. S. C. 'RIPPER'

Killing of Fair Rate Bills Stirs Governor; Special Session Threat Renewed

HARRISBURG, May 13.—Gov. Pinchot will have a new fair rate bill, limited to rip out the present Public Service Commission, it was predicted today.

Unless it is passed, a special session of the Legislature will be called in January, and the public utility issue will be injected into the local political arenas that will involve members of the Legislature, both Senate and House.

CONFERENCES HELD

That was the alternative given anti-Pinchot senators, it was learned, after conferences with the state executive yesterday. The meetings, reported to have been held individually in the Governor's office, followed the killing of the three fair rate bills of the forester in the Senate's Judiciary General Committee.

The secret session, at which the measures were "indefinitely postponed" by a vote of 14 to 11, prevented a final show of strength and a test vote on the floor. With the move, considered good politics, 25 senators were unofficially put on record as to their vote, but the second 25 can still maintain an "open mind" as far as their constituencies are concerned.

PINCHOT CAUSTIC

Gov. Pinchot commented briefly on the action of the committee, saying:

"That's what I call service. On Monday the public utilities come to Harrisburg and demand defeat of the fair rate bills. On Tuesday their servants in the Senate Committee on Judiciary General pickle the fair rate bills. Cause and effect, and no mistake."

Four senators whose territories the Governor invaded last week voted among the proponents of the fair rate bills. They were Williamson, of Huntingdon; Clippinger, of Franklin; Gelder, of Susquehanna, and Ealy, of Somerset.

AMEND P. S. C. CONTROL BILL

HARRISBURG, May 13.—The House Committee on Public Utilities today amended the bill of Senator Howell, Lackawanna, to give the Governor power to appoint and dismiss Public Service Commissioners. The bill as passed by the Senate provides that utility rates cannot be raised before receiving approval of the commission.

Under the terms of the amendment made today the Governor would be permitted to drop commissioners without obtaining consent of the Senate.

The amended Howell bill was reported out of committee to the House this morning and probably will be passed in that form. The House amendments are unlikely to be concurred in by the Senate when the bill goes back to that body in the changed form.

2400 and 2500 blocks of Spring Garden avenue were flooded when a six-foot storm sewer nearing completion became clogged with debris and overflowed.

Concrete forms, still in position inside the sewer, caused the clogging. Many houses were surrounded by water during the height of the storm and traffic was slowed by debris and earth which covered the streets.

Several gasoline pumps of the Downes' Auto Service Station, 1968 East Ohio street, was knocked down when earth loosened by the rain pushed over a small retaining wall.

According to weather bureau records the rain fall was 1.71 inches. Much damage was done to the newly landscaped terraces along the Ohio river boulevard, a county project, costing many thousands of dollars.

State Cancels Test Of Vote Machines

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 13.—(AP.)—Secretary of the Commonwealth Richard J. Beamish today said his proposed time test of a voting machine would not be held, as the Supreme Court has set May 25 as the date for the hearing of the Philadelphia voting machine case. He said that he believes nothing should be done to becloud further the issue in this case.

He said that if after the Supreme Court has decided the case there still is insistence by reputable parties that the voting machine designated in Philadelphia be given a time test, he will make it as heretofore planned.

ESTEN ASPREY FLETCHER — DR. THOMAS M. HERD

SHRINERS' HEAD IN CITY

The national head of the Shriners, Esten Asprey Fletcher, imperial potentate, arrived in Pittsburgh today on his annual pilgrimage to Shrine temples throughout the United States, confident that business is on the upward grade.

Mr. Fletcher, who will be honored by a reception and dance tonight in William Penn Hotel by Syria Temple, said:

"There has been too much pessism and idle money in this country. Some people have been hoarding their money when they should be spending it. But now I feel certain we have started upward."

The imperial potentate said that one of the Shrine's activities which give him the greatest satisfaction is its work for crippled children.

He said:

"The Shrine is maintaining 15 hospitals for crippled children in this country at an annual cost of $1,250,000."

Mr. Fletcher was accompanied by several members of Damascus Temple, his home temple in Rochester, N. Y. He was to preside at ceremonials this afternoon in Syria Temple.

Garnishee Measure Killed in Committee

HARRISBURG, May 13.—(AP.)—The Senate Judiciary General Committee today postponed indefinitely action on the Frazier garnishee bill sponsored by the Commonwealth Protective Association. This action is tantamount to "killing" the bill for the remainder of the session.

The measure was attacked by labor and business representatives at a hearing yesterday and members of the committee said there was considerable opposition to the bill.

Slain Trooper

SERGT. TIM M'CARTHY

Sergt. McCarthy, the state trooper slain by a deranged gunman near McConnellsburg, Pa. He was 35, had served the police since his World War discharge. Another also was shot.

PINCHOT TRADE PLAN PASSES

HARRISBURG, May 13.—The Senate today approved Gov. Pinchot's plan to create a "Greater Pennsylvania Council" to act as official agency to develop the state's commerce, industry and agriculture. Besides the old age pension proposal, it is the only important administration legislation to pass the Senate thus far.

It contains an appropriation of $225,000 for expenses in its activities as a trade promotion body.

TROOPER KILLER LOSES ARM

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., May 13.—(AP.)—A charge of murder will be placed against Marshall Lodge, 31, who yesterday shot and killed Sergt. T. G. McCarthy, of the state police, as troopers went to his home in Crystal Springs, Fulton County, to serve a warrant.

State police here said a murder warrant would be served as soon as Lodge is discharged from the hospital. Lodge's right arm was shattered by a bullet during the three-hour siege of his home. His arm was amputated early today. Pvt. Russell Knies, of the state police, who was wounded by Lodge, today reported he was "all right."

Another casualty of the fighting also was reported to be recovering. Omar, the police dog which McCarthy trained, was shot by Lodge because the animal trailed him from room to room and by barking constantly, revealed the man's position to officers on the outside. The dog was brought to a veterinarian here.

Grape Concentrate Banned by Druggists

WASHINGTON, May 13.—(INS.)—Believing public sentiment is hostile to the sale of grape concentrate, the product which is said to develop into a very potent drink after being given a little attention and permitted to "age," members of the District of Columbia Retail Druggists Association today adopted a resolution "deeming it advisable that the article not be sold in District drug stores."

Committee Beats Chiropractor Bill

HARRISBURG, May 13.—(AP.)—The House Committee on Public Health and Sanitation yesterday defeated by a vote of 9 to 8 an effort to report for passage the bill of Representative Talbot, Delaware, providing for regulation and licensing of chiropractors by a separate board under the Department of Public Instruction.

Pinchot Sets Date For Execution of 2

HARRISBURG, May 13.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot has fixed the execution of Danny Day Del Giorno and Frank Del Vaccio, convicted of first degree murder in Philadelphia County and sentenced to be electrocuted, for the week beginning Monday, June 15, 1931.

Man Held in Theft Of Auto Fan Belt

Accused of the theft of a fan belt from a garage of J. G. Farquhar, of 1545 Beechwood boulevard, George Geminehart, 25, of 1028 Welfer street, today was held for court on a charge of larceny and entering a building, in East End Police Court.

PINCHOT HERE FOR SPEECH TOMORROW

Governor Will Talk Before Allied Boards of Trade At Anniversary Banquet

Gov. Gifford Pinchot will speak on "What Happened and Why" at the twenty-fifth anniversary banquet of the Allied Boards of Trade tomorrow night in William Penn Hotel. Harry Bastow, president, and William G. Negley, vice president, will discuss the boards' activities.

Preceding the banquet, Gov. Pinchot will make a radio address at 6:15 p. m. over KDKA.

On his speaking itinerary, Gov. Pinchot addresses a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the Central Hose House, Greensburg. Tomorrow he speaks at the Washington (Pa.) Courthouse at 2:30 p. m., followed by a radio address. Friday he speaks on Butler Courthouse steps at 1 p. m.; in Meadville at 5 p. m., and Sharon Junior High School at 9 p. m. He will attend a meeting in Dubois Saturday at 3:30 p. m.

HOUSE PASSES BUDGET BILL

HARRISBURG, May 13.—The general appropriation bill to provide for the expenses of running the state government for the two years beginning June 1 was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate. It carries appropriations of $150,973,200.62.

More than a third of the money provided for in the bill will be expended for the state's share of maintaining the public school system. The appropriation for public schools is $56,000,000. Other items for education include: Handicapped children, $1,250,000; training of blind and deaf, $1,160,000; normal schools, $10,500,000.

The state appropriations for Penn State College, University of Pennsylvania, University of Pittsburgh, Temple University and other institutions of higher learning are carried in separate bills.

Maintenance of welfare institutions also require large appropriations. They include: Pennsylvania Training School, Morganza, $810,000; Western Penitentiary, $1,250,000; Connellsville State Hospital, $1,750,000.

ARSON SUSPECT SURRENDERS

Samuel Frishman, 27, of 1136 Illinois avenue, Dormont, wanted on an arson charge, walked into the City Detective Bureau today and surrendered. Asked for $2,500 bail, he took a bond for that amount from his pocket and was released.

Frishman and his partner, Harry I. Rosenberg, 36, of 2337 Eldridge avenue, are accused, detectives said, in connection with a fire in their store at 1327 Fifth avenue on May 3.

According to members of the detective bomb and arson squad, the store room and its contents were damaged approximating $500. Frishman and Rosenberg, the detectives said, filed insurance claims totaling $8,339.

An arson warrant also has been issued for Rosenberg, police said.

Governor's Code Passed by Housee

HARRISBURG, May 13.—(AP.)—The Wilson administrative code, providing for the proposed fair rate board and other administration changes in the 1929 code, was passed by a vote of 168 to 3 in the House last night.

The measure probably will be amended in the Senate to eliminate the fair rate board, the enabling bills for which were killed in a Senate committee yesterday.

Urge War on Stray Dogs to Save Gardens

Aid in ridding the borough of stray dogs which, it was declared, make "war gardens" in North Braddock impossible, was asked of the Police Department at a meeting of Council last night.

Unemployment relief for at least 20 men was suggested by Burgess G. F. Mitchell in the improvement of three streets. Council sanctioned renovation for No. 2 fire station, by which the unemployed will benefit.

House Passes Bill Limiting Child Work

HARRISBURG, May 13.—(AP.)—The House yesterday passed the bill of Representative Sterling, Philadelphia, prohibiting employment in factories, canneries or in berry, fruit and vegetable raising, of children under 16 years of age at periods when the law requires them to attend school.

Declares Morals Improve in Bad Times

WAYCROSS, Ga., May 13.—(AP.)—When business goes down the morals of youth go up, according to Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott College. He told the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, in convention here, last night:

"The depression brought less spending money for youth, and less opportunity to youth to gratify reckless desires. As a consequence, youth, for the past three years, has been more serious, more sober-minded. At many colleges it has been found that the depression has brought higher grades, better and more constant study, and an evident desire to make full use of college training."

SCORES COUNCIL IN M'KEESPORT

McKeesport City Council's action in tabling a petition of the McKeesport Law Enforcement League demanding that control of the police department be taken from Mayor George H. Lysle, because of alleged laxity and inefficiency in curbing bootlegging and gambling, does not relieve them of the responsibility of seeing that the laws are enforced, said Dr. Andrew H. Hunter, league president, today. He added:

"We expect Council to take more interest in our demands."

The league's petition is not an attack upon Mayor Lysle or the police department, but is aimed at "higher-ups" who apparently have obtained control of the law enforcement agencies, according to Dr. Hunter. The police department is merely doing as it is told, he said. The league has a membership of more than 1,600.

Hospital Proves Poor Haven for Knife Suspect

Arrested by New York and county detectives at West Penn Hospital, where he was said to have gone to evade capture, Don Dilnardo, of New York, was in the county jail today and will be returned to New York this week in connection with the stabbing of his wife, detectives said.

Dilnardo was pronounced in good health at the hospital, where he had been a patient for several days, and at the county jail when examined after his arrest. He waived extradition.

2ND PENSION BILL PASSES

HARRISBURG, May 13.—The Senate today passed the companion bill to the Pinchot administration old age pension measure. The vote was unanimous.

Like the proposal to legalize the pensions, it is an amendment to the Constitution to permit counties or municipalities to make appropriations for old age pensions or assistance of widowed mothers.

Both measures are sponsored by Senator Frank J. Harris, Allegheny. His bill to legalize the pensions passed both houses some weeks ago, but must receive approval by the 1933 Legislature also before being submitted to voters for ratification.

Student Loyalty Oath Proposed In New York

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP.)—James F. Kiernan, city alderman, would dismiss from the city's public schools all students who participate "in any way in any demonstration by a Communist group."

He introduced a resolution at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen asking that the Board of Education require of each student "an oath of allegiance to the United States and a renunciation of all and any allegiance to any other nation, flag, party or group."

Rabbis End Work On Revised Hymnal

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP.)—Ten rabbis, appointed five years ago to revise the "Union Hymnal for Jewish Worship," which is used in 400 reformed congregations, today were through with their task. They will submit the new hymnal for adoption at the central conference of American rabbis in Wawasee, Ind., June 6.

The rabbis reported that 177 hymns by non-Jewish poets had been removed, and that 200 new hymns had been inserted. The new hymnal is to be known as "Songs and Prayers of Jewish Worship."

Japanese Actor Returning to Films

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 13.—(AP.)—The only Oriental male star of film history, Sessue Hayakawa, will return to Hollywood soon to resume his motion picture which he left 12 years ago for vaudeville. On June 3 he will arrive by steamer in San Francisco from his home in Japan. His first picture will be with Anna May Wong, Chinese actress.

KELSO TO SPEAK AT SWIFT RITES

The Rev. Dr. James A. Kelso, president of the Western Theological Seminary, was appointed to represent the Pittsburgh presbytery of the Presbyterian church at services at the grave of the late Rev. Elisha P. Swift, one of the founders of the Foreign Missionary Society, on Memorial Day, at a meeting held yesterday in the First Presbyterian Church, Sixth avenue. The one hundredth anniversary of the society will be celebrated in connection with the general assembly to open here May 28.

The installation of the Rev. Elder D. Crawford at the Glenshaw Valley Presbyterian Church was set for May 19, and the ordination of the Rev. R. K. Fogal in the Cross Roads Presbyterian Church for May 23. Eight ministers and eight elders were appointed to represent the presbytery at the Pennsylvania synod in Lafayette College in June.

PLAN ASYLUM COSTS ON KIN

Judge George von B. Moore's recommendation that the county seek help in paying the maintenance costs of persons found to be insane while awaiting trial for criminal offenses has been approved by the County Commissioners.

On motion of Commissioner C. C. McGovern, the county solicitor was asked to report on the possibility of having the costs paid by guardians or relatives of the accused.

Judge Moore, in a letter to the commissioners, said neither Woodville nor Mayview receives criminal insane, so the county is forced to send them to Farview, which is now overcrowded, or Dixmont. Dixmont charges half the $6 weekly maintenance costs to the county and half to the state, Judge Moore said.

ROAD BLOCKED, SUIT CHARGES

Elsie M. Walker, owner of three lots in Greenwald road, Brookside Farms, Bethel Township, alleged in a bill in equity in Common Pleas Court that Eleanor A. O'Brien, owner of two lots on the opposite side of the road, maliciously erected a dangerous obstruction across the road and on the Walker property. The complainant seeks an injunction for removal of the obstruction.

The road is a 40-foot public thoroughfare laid out by the St. Clair Land Company and the obstruction prevents access to the Walker property, according to the suit.

EXTRA BRIDGE COST GRANTED

On motion of Edward V. Babcock, County Commissioners have approved payment of $26,620 to Janssen & Cocken for extra architectural services in designing and supervising the erection of Washington Crossing Bridge across the Allegheny River at Fortieth street.

Two changes in the design of the bridge were ordered by a previous board of County Commissioners to remove curves, and the architects were forced to keep a number of draftsmen for two and one-half years longer than had been estimated, according to a letter from Benno Janssen.

Lang to Welcome Laundry Convention

W. G. Conover, of Philadelphia, president of the Pennsylvania Laundry Owners Association, will preside at the twenty-fourth annual convention of the organization which will open tomorrow in the Hotel Schenley. The convention will be in session two days. The delegates will be welcomed by Director Edward G. Lang, of the Department of Public Works, in behalf of Mayor Charles H. Kline.

Locke Named Head Of Monaca Schools

MONACA, Pa., May 13.—David C. Locke, former superintendent of Beaver County public schools, was elected supervising principal of Monaca schools for three years, by the board of education. He will succeed L. C. French, who tendered his resignation several weeks ago, effective at the close of the school year.

Asks Appointment As 8th Ward Deputy

Walter J. John has filed a petition in Quarter Sessions Court asking that he be appointed deputy constable for the Eighth Ward. He will be heard tomorrow. Alderman John F. Kenna and Constable C. H. Steward joined in the petition, saying pressure of business required appointment of a deputy.

THE BEST PLACE TO SHOP, AFTER ALL

UTILITY DEALS ASSAILED BY FATHER COX

Priest Observer at Probe Criticizes the Financing Methods in Radio Talk

Methods used by public utilities in financing their corporations and organizations were criticized by the Rev. James R. Cox, pastor of Old St. Patrick's Church, and one of the observers on Gov. Gifford Pinchot's public utility investigating committee in a radio address over WJAS yesterday.

After reviewing the growth of municipal ownership of public utilities, he dwelt on regulations being enacted in various states to safeguard the public. He declared some of the commissions created are useful only to the corporations for exacting tribute from their customers. He said the public must be brought to realize that it has only itself to blame for these conditions and must apply the remedy.

REVIEWS METHODS

He recited methods by which utility corporations and their associations seek to further their interest by mergers and control of holding companies and interlocking directorates. Beginning with the war period, he said, there was an orgy of spending with an attendant increase in rates.

About that time, he said, public utility corporations, to raise funds to finance activities, hit upon the scheme of customer ownership and since then have improved upon it to the extent that they have built up large organizations.

"ULTERIOR MOTIVES"

He asked and answered the question, "What, then, are the ulterior motives behind customer ownership?" saying:

"Where the utilities have a large number of stockholders—if we assume the truth of the claims advanced by the interests for customer ownership, that is, that as soon as consumers own a share of company stock, they see a new light and become a part of the company and are anxious for its prosperity and growth, that they may participate in the dividends—what chance will the general public, the majority of consumers, have to combat any reasonable demands which these utilities may impose?

"When these utilities succeed in securing a large number of stockholders in every community, then will all rate controversies disappear.

"When that time comes, these holders of one or two shares of preferred stock which have no voice in the control of these utilities, will pay more than their dividends amount to in excessive rates, and will have brought these excessive rates upon their neighbors, and the holders of the common stock will have their pockets filled."

FORKER JOINS N. Y. AMERICAN

NEW YORK, May 13.—(Universal)—William Randolph Hearst, Jr., president of the New York American, announces the appointment of Eugene Forker as publisher of the New York American. The selection of Mr. Forker brings into the metropolitan newspaper field a Hearst-trained executive of broad and continuously successful experience.

Mr. Forker, who last January was appointed advertising director of the International Magazine Company, Inc., joined the Hearst organization in 1917 as a member of the staff of Harper's Bazaar. He became business manager of that magazine and in 1925 was appointed general manager of Cosmopolitan.

In his early career he was connected with the Hearst newspapers and with the Associated Press.

Ukrainian Student Shot Dead in Poland

LVOV, Poland, May 13.—(AP.)—A 20-year-old Ukranian, who has been attending a Polish high school despite a letter warning him to stay away, was shot dead last night as he was leaving his home.

Polish officials expressed the view that the Ukranian revolutionists were trying to attract world attention to the situation in Galicia.

Mariner, Carnegie Hero Medalist, Dies

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—(AP.)—Capt. Thomas Boyd, Carnegie medalist and veteran Pacific Coast mariner, is dead. He succumbed Monday to pneumonia.

He received the Carnegie medal in 1923 while he was master of the oil tanker Solana. During a terrific storm off Cape Hatteras he rescued a crew of seven from a sinking schooner.

Lincoln Tragedy Witness, 82, Dies

OMAHA, Neb., May 13.—(AP.)—Mrs. Mary Marrow, 82, who as a girl of 16 saw Abraham Lincoln fatally wounded and carried from the Ford Theater at Washington into the home where she was visiting, died last night at the home of her son, F. W. Marrow.

Elect Pittsburgher At Mining Meet

CINCINNATI, May 13.—(AP.)—Charles C. Whaley, of Knoxville, Tenn., was elected chairman of the board of governors at a meeting of members of the manufacturers' division of the American Mining Congress in convention here.

Retiring Chairman F. J. Maple, of Trenton, N. J., was made honorary chairman. Ralph C. Becker, of New York; J. T. Ryan, of Pittsburgh, and George R. Delamater, of Cleveland, were elected vice chairmen.

King Hears Wales' Address on Radio

LONDON, May 13.—(AP.)—The advice of the Prince of Wales at Manchester yesterday to use American methods to regain lost British markets has won widespread public applause.

It is regarded as a valuable effort toward inducing manufacturers to adapt themselves to customers' requirements. Interest in the speech was so keen that at the last moment arrangements were made to broadcast it, and the King listened in.

Murder Charged In Store Shooting

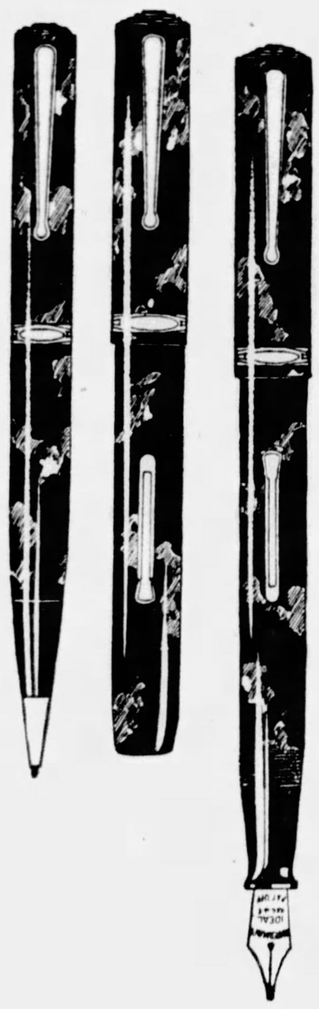
COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., May 13.—(AP.)—John M. Meikle, district attorney, said today he would file charges of murder against L. Vance Shriver, who shot and killed G. A. Gunn, former resident of Louisville.

Shriver and Gunn were employes in the radio department of a music store, where the shooting occurred. Meikle said Shriver admitted drinking and claimed he did not remember events leading up to the slaying.

THE FINEST $5.00'S WORTH IN A WRITING INSTRUMENT

The finest $5.00's worth is a Waterman's No. 94—with five features that make you want to own it:

1. You can select this modern goodlooking pen in any one of Waterman's pen points to suit your style of writing.
2. It has a much larger ink capacity than you usually find in a pen of this price.
3. It fits easily in your hand—because of precise balance—right diameter, and weight.
4. It fits low in your pocket and doesn't crowd any other pocket necessities.
5. It comes in blue, grey, and brown—shades that men wear and like.



There's a pencil to match perfectly, at $3.00. It propels, repels, expels,—with a good supply of leads and eraser.

Your Waterman's dealer also has a splendid $5.00 pen for women—LADY PATRICIA. Ask to see it.

Every Waterman's is guaranteed forever against defects. Service Stations are maintained at the addresses below for the purpose of making good our guarantee and for servicing our pens as required.

LOANS TO VETS $42,530,519 IN STATE

Amount Is One-Tenth of Total Payments; Believed Aid to Trade Recovery

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Loans amounting to $42,530,519 have been issued to 107,765 World War veterans in Pennsylvania under the new bonus legislation passed by Congress at the last session.

The figures, obtained from the United States Veterans' Bureau today, are complete for the week ending May 2 and represent more than 10 per cent of the total veterans' loans issued by the government since the passage of the new act.

Approximately $400,000,000 has been placed in circulation throughout the country since the provisions of the bonus act were carried out.

Some economists feel that this new buying power was largely responsible for the slight business recovery in the latter part of February. Just how far it will continue, however, remains a matter of speculation, as is the question of how the veterans are spending their money.

Up through the week of May 2 the figures show that a total of 1,785,593 have borrowed the full 50 per cent permitted by the new act.

The amount borrowed by the veterans since the loans became available several years ago is $1,024,502,000, some 4,065,299 applications being involved.

JEWISH PARLEY OPENS MAY 31

The National Conference for Jewish Education will open in the Morris Kaufmann Memorial Auditorium of the Y. M. and Y. W. H. A., Bellefield avenue, Sunday morning, May 31. Dr. Alexander Dushkin, of Chicago, president of the conference, will open the convention.

Public meetings will be held in the Rodef Shalom Temple Sunday night, and in the convention headquarters Monday night. Speakers will be Dr. Solomon Lowenstein, New York; Dr. Jacob S. Golub, Cincinnati; Rabbi M. Brickner, Cleveland, and Dr. Emanuel Gameron, Cincinnati. A dinner will be held Tuesday night at the Y. M. and Y. W. H. A.

Charles J. Rosenbloom is general chairman of the committee on arrangements and Mrs. Chester Bandman is chairman of the hospitality committee.

Kenmar Residents Ask New School

Residents of the Kenmar Plan of Mifflin Township have asked the township school board to erect a grade school in the new community. The request was made at the board's meeting last night, at which time George F. Lloyd was elected treasurer and the Monongahela Trust company of Homestead the depository. Commencement exercises are to be held May 25.

Homestead Schools Observe Open House

Several hundred mothers and fathers of Homestead school children visited the borough schools last night when open house was observed in all the schools. Parents visited the five ward schools, the Homestead High School and the Schwab Training School. Teachers were present to explain and exhibit the work of the children.

U. S. Will Inspect Guardsmen Friday

Irene Urges New Deal for Dogs In Chicago

CHICAGO, May 13.—(AP.)—A board of directors to look out after Chicago dogs was sought today.

Details of the proposed plan were being worked out by the Chicago Humane Education Society, with the aid of Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, the former famous dancer.

Mrs. Charlotte Hunt, president of the society, announced that establishment of the board was asked in a petition to Mayor Anton J. Cermak, signed by 10,000 taxpayers, asking for a new deal at the city dog pound.

Abandonment of the practice of catching dogs with wire nooses was among the objects of the program.

IN congratulating the winners in the great Camel contest we want at the same time to thank most cordially the approximately million men and women who displayed their friendly interest by sending in an entry.

We wish also to thank the millions of smokers throughout the country for the appreciation they are showing for our new Humidor Pack as is evidenced by the notable increase in the sale of Camel cigarettes.

By means of this dust-proof, germ-proof, moisture-proof Cellophane wrapping the rich aroma and full flavor of choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos have been air-sealed in Camels for your enjoyment.

If you have not tried Camels in the Humidor Pack all we ask is that you switch over to this brand for one day.

After you have learned how much milder, how much cooler, how much more enjoyable it is to smoke a perfectly conditioned fresh cigarette, go back to the harsh hotness of stale cigarettes if you can.

JURIST TALKS ON CHILD AID

Judge D. Paulson Foster, of Common Pleas Court, made two addresses on the local court system and child delinquency yesterday. At noon he addressed the South Hills Kiwanos Club at the United Lutheran Church, discussing the jury system. Judge Foster spoke before the Kiwanis Club of Coraopolis last night in the Y. M. C. A. Building. He declared the public schools and juvenile courts have a common interest with truancy and delinquency and said he believed probation and truant officers could, by holding occasional conferences to discuss mutual problems, take a step toward real assistance for delinquent children.

Man Pleads Guilty In Wife's Murder

ASHVILLE, Pa., May 13.—Joseph Roma, 39, pleaded guilty to murder yesterday when he was arraigned before Justice F. H. Beers here. Roma, sought by the police since last Thursday, when he was alleged to have shot and killed his 21-year-old wife and mother of his three children, was captured near Tyrone Monday night by Justice Beers.

RADIO DAMAGE PLEA HELD UP

Heavy blasting in constructing Steubenville Pike, North Fayette Township, caused $13,750 damage to the WJAS broadcasting station, operated by the Pittsburgh Radio Supply House, according to a claim submitted to County Commissioners yesterday by H. J. Brennan, secretary of the concern.

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern examined photographs showing the condition of the buildings and observed:

The claim was held over for further consideration. County real estate appraisers said they had placed the damage at $2,000.

Air Rifle Causes Loss of Boy's Eye

OIL CITY, Pa., May 13.—Playing with an air rifle cost Curtis Fitzpatrick, 14, the sight of one eye. The shot jammed, the boy pounded the rifle on the sidewalk, peering down the barrel. Then the trigger snapped, the lead penetrating the eyeball, which was removed at Oil City Hospital.

NOTICE

Of Special Election for Increase of Indebtedness of the School District of the Borough of Springdale, Allegheny County.

INCREASE OF BONDED INDEBTEDNESS

Notice is hereby given to the Electors of the several Election Districts of the School District of the Borough of Springdale, County of Allegheny, that in accordance with the provisions of the Acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, relating thereto and pursuant to a Resolution of the Board of Directors of the School District of the Borough of Springdale, County of Allegheny and Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, duly passed at an adjourned meeting held Saturday, April 4th, 1931, a special public election will be held in the said School District on Tuesday, the 19th Day of May, 1931,

Between the Hours of 7 O'Clock A. M. and 7 O'Clock P. M.

(eastern standard time) for the purpose of obtaining the assent of the qualified Electors to an increase of Bonded Indebtedness of said School District in the amount of $150,000.00

STATEMENT.

1. The amount of the last assessed valuation of the taxable property in said School District is $5,625,120,090.
2. The total amount of the existing debt in said School District is $81,115.85.
3. The amount of the proposed increase of indebtedness in said School District is $150,000.00.
4. The percentage of the proposed increase of indebtedness in said School District is 4.134 plus per centum of the last assessed valuation of the taxable property in said School District for school purposes, and together with the existing indebtedness would make a total indebtedness of 6.369 plus per centum of said last assessed valuation.
5. The purpose for which the indebtedness is to be increased is for the paying of balance on land heretofore purchased and the erecting, equipping and furnishing of a high school building thereon, which land is located on the east side of Colfax avenue in said Borough.

By order of the School Board of the School District of the Borough of Springdale, County of Allegheny, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

W. A. HAAS,

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

Unsung New Yorkers

NEW YORK, May 13.

IF EVER A man was an unsung New Yorker, Bill the Bum was that man. He was just another of those West Side characters about whom I write so frequently. Just another of the very many in this town who are born for no good reason, exist for no good reason, and die as the supporters heave a sigh of relief. Like some race horses I might mention.

They gave Bill his title when he was going to public school. A lazy lad without much harm in his soul, he was always seeking the easiest way out. He would borrow anything at any time—and that included matches, marbles, pennies and lessons. So they called him Bill the Bum, and Bill the Bum he remained.

The boy lived with his mother and three older brothers. The father had departed from this earth years before after a vigorous battle with the bottles in the corner saloon. None of the family expected to attain any riches—and none of them ever did. A salary of $50 a week, a faithful wife and three or four children was their idea of a complete existence. And they were working toward that end.

With everyone but his mother, Bill the Bum was always the patsy of the family. His brothers gave him verbal and physical tossings every day in the year. They told him he was nothing but a nuisance, and he accepted their verdict without the slightest argument.

His mother was different. Perhaps it was because he was the youngest or perhaps it was because she sensed the fact that he was weaker than the rest. At any rate, she comforted him continually. And nothing the older boys could say or do would make her change her attitude.

When he was 19 years of age, Bill the Bum was earning $22 a week as an assistant shipping clerk. For no good reason that anyone could determine, he suddenly fell in love.

As you might suspect, the girl he picked hadn't been any good as far back as the neighbors could remember. And the neighbors had very good memories.

The brothers told Bill that if he married this woman they'd never have anything to do with Bill again as long as they lived. Bill shrugged his shoulders. His mother was not so harsh. She tried to talk to him.

"They say," she said, 'that when a man falls in love, all the mothers and brothers in the world can't change his mind. I'm not going to tell you not to marry that girl—and that I'll not talk to you again if you do. That wouldn't be true, because I'll always love you, no matter what you do.

"All I ask you, son, is to think of what you're doing. Think of the girl herself and see if she's the woman who will be a kind mother to your children. I don't think so, Bill—but I'll not say more than that. It's all up to you."

So Bill married the girl the next afternoon . . .

* * *

The result was just as everyone had anticipated. The woman made life even more miserable than before for Bill the Bum. She had an idea that marriage gave her a cloak of respectability—even though the cloak was transparent. So she ran riot. Always the joke of the neighborhood, Bill was certainly living up to his reputation.

But the boy kept playing his part in the comedy. For almost four years, he stood for her taunts and her gin-guzzling and her other men. Then came the one blow he couldn't stand.

He caught her attempting to borrow on his life insurance policy. The policy called for $5,000, and his mother had toiled and skimped in order to get it for him. Something in his nature rebelled when he discovered what his wife had in mind. For the first time in his life he displayed a little spark. And after the quarrel, his wife left him.

"You can keep your rotten policy," she cried as she tossed her clothes into a moth-eaten bag.

"It means just about as much to me as you do. And you know what you mean."

And that was the end of that . . .

From that day on, Bill the Bum lived up to his name. He became the prize lush of the district. He lost his job in short order and merely did odd chores anywhere in order to earn the price of a drink. He borrowed wherever he could and never returned a cent. But that was okay with the neighbors. As the years drifted by they accepted him for what he was. And if they wanted to slip him a dollar now and then, that was their business.

Only his mother refused to give up hope. She would meet him on the street, shudder at his condition and beg him to come home.

"No, mom," he would reply, "it's no use askin' me. I'd only cause you the miseries. I ain't goin' home to you like I am now.

"Maybe I'll straighten out some day. If I do, that'll be different. When I come home, I want to come home a man."

That was always his answer to her pleadings. And he stuck to his decision. . . .

* * *

In time, all of Bill's brothers married and the mother was left alone. She met Bill less and less frequently now—and Bill went along as he always had. One day, after he hadn't seen her for a month, they came and told Bill she was very ill. They chipped in and made him half-way presentable, and Bill went to see her.

His mother told him she hadn't long to live—but the doctor had different ideas. The woman's illness, said the medico, was extreme loneliness. If she could live with one of her sons or get into a good home for elderly women, she would undoubtedly live for a long time. Was there anything Bill could do?

What could such a character as Bill the Bum do? He was too far gone to do anything of consequence. So he went to his brothers and asked their aid. But none of them could help. They had families of their own now, and times were hard. They were sorry about mamma, of course, but what could they do?

* * *

The man racked his warped brain. He wanted his mother to live. She had been the only decent thing in his life. And now, because he was unable to provide her with a few dollars to enter a home, that one decent thing would have to go.

Into his mind crept an idea. He considered it carefully. Then he nodded to himself.

That night, Bill the Bum went to the neighbors once again. He was given a dime here and a quarter there. Soon he had enough to carry out his idea. He visited two stores and then sat down in a hallway.

They found Bill the next morning. Beside him were two bottles. One had contained liquor. It was empty. The other had contained poison. That was empty, too. Pinned to his coat was a note:

"My insurance policy is in my pocket," it read. "Mom gets it all."

Bill the Bum had kept his word. He went home a man . . .

COX TO SPEAK TO JOBLESS

The Rev. Father James R. Cox, of old St. Patrick's church, will be a speaker at a mass meeting in Moose Temple, Sunday, announced as a demonstration against continued failure of industrial and business leaders to relieve unemployment. The meeting is sponsored by 75 labor unions, fraternal organizations and branches of the Socialist party. It has been indorsed by the Pittsburgh Central Labor Union.

Representative Darlington Hoopes, of Reading, author of the unemployment indemnity bill in the state legislature also will speak.

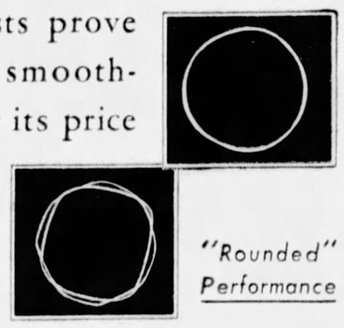
Amazing Torsiographic tests prove that The Dictator's satin smoothness has no equal at or near its price



"Rounded" Performance

YOUR own "car sense" will tell you in a mile of travel that here is power of extraordinary smoothness. And the unerring Torsiograph record will bear out your judgment.

The Dictator's 9-bearing crankshaft is balanced, not only statically but dynamically, on machines that are marvels of precision. A vibration damper of the most effective design is used. Costlier dual carburetion and manifolding, by feeding exactly proportional amounts of fuel to each cylinder, avoid "starving" of end cylinders and assure smooth and even power impulses.

Efficient carburetor silencing, plus Studebaker's full power exhaust muffling (which eliminates practically all back pressure) results in absolute quiet such as characterizes the most costly cars.

And this background of luxurious smoothness throws into bold relief the most brilliant of all The Dictator's advantages—Free Wheeling. Borne on the wings of momentum, you glide in silence, able to shift easily, quietly and without touching the clutch, saving 15% to 20% on gas and oil.

The Torsiograph, one of the most nearly infallible of automotive laboratory instruments, records accurately the vibration of any rotating shaft. The closer the record chart approaches a true circle, the more nearly perfect the balance of the crankshaft. Above are shown the Torsiographic records of The Dictator Eight nine (9) bearing crankshaft and those of two other eights of double the Dictator's price. Notice the smooth roundness of The Dictator graph contrasted with the irregularity, or "humpiness" of the other two.

V.F.W. TO HONOR DEAD SUNDAY

Memorial services for deceased members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be held in the Davis Theater Sunday. A parade preceding the services will form on West and East Montgomery avenues at Federal street. The line of march will be down Federal to Sixth street, Liberty avenue, Fifth avenue and Smithfield street.

James J. Pirt, chief marshal, has named these assistants:

William J. Gumbert, adjutant general; J. J. Madden, chief of staff; Thomas Fitzgerald, John Kroll, Oliver W. Graham, John T. Ryan and J. N. Calvert, aides; Robert G. Woodside, George Metzer, William E. Ralston, Charles W. Campbell, J. L. Bingham, R. O. Robinson, James Heger, James E. Linhart, Kenneth Buffington, Joseph M. Stack, C. E. Dailey, P. D. Seybold and A. E. Schwenke.

TRADE COUNCILS SELECTED

T. C. Foley, acting general manager of the Chamber of Commerce, has announced election of eight trade councils of the chamber to serve until next spring. The new chairmen are: Automotive, C. A. Rehtmeyer; building and loan, Hubbs Weimer; foreign trade, H. F. Griffith; merchant tailors, C. C. Beach; radio, James A. Simpson; real estate, J. F. McClurg; architects, Raymond Marlier, and shippers, J. H. Huggan.

Foley also announced the annual election of the chamber will be held tomorrow, when 12 directors will be chosen. Ten voting machines are to be used. The annual organization meeting of the board will be held Friday, when a president, three vice presidents and a treasurer will be named.

RULING DECIDES CHURCH FIGHT

A three-year factional dispute in the congregation of the First Slavish Roman Catholic Greek Rite Church of Clairton was decided by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, in an opinion of Chief Justice Robert S. Frazer received here from Philadelphia, upholding the appointment of the Rev. Molchany as pastor by the bishop.

Trustees of the church contended they had a right to select the pastor and sought to prevent installation of the Rev. Molchany. The Supreme Court decision affirmed that in Common Pleas Court.

Rochester Hospital Graduates Nurses

ROCHESTER, Pa., May 13.—Eleven nurses were graduated from the training school for nurses of the Rochester General Hospital at commencement exercises held last night. The principal speaker was the Rev. Dr. Gordon MacLennan, pastor of the Shadyside United Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh. The Rev. Dr. W. B. Smiley, pastor of the Rochester First United Presbyterian Church, offered the invocation.

HOLLYWOOD AND BROADWAY COMMENT; LOCAL AMUSEMENT NOTES

Fay Wray to Be Leading Woman in Colman's New Picture

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, May 13.

Hollywood is due for a surprise about Ronald Colman's new leading woman. She will be Fay Wray.

Samuel Goldwyn has just arranged to borrow her from Paramount to play in "The Unholy Garden," the story Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur have written for Colman. As George Fitzmaurice expects to start production this week, rehearsals must get under way immediately.

Everyone had expected Joan Bennett to get this lead. Colman asked for her and Joan told me herself she was eager to play the part. As she is under contract to divide her time between United Artists and Fox, there seemed small chance of a slip-up.

Ronald Colman.

Nevertheless, Fay Wray gets the part.

It seems that during a recent Hollywood party Jo asked Mrs. Lawrence Tibbett if she had read Dostoievsky's "Poor People."

That clever woman smiled slightly. "No," she said, "but I Love it."

SWIFT RETRIBUTION

Then there's Eddie Quillan's story about the studio writer who surprised two burglars in his home. They seized and trussed him up securely.

"How about a gag?" muttered one.

A smile broke on the writer's face. "Great!" he cried. "Have you heard the one about the . . ."

Then the lead pipe fell.

LATEST GOSSIP

Despite all denials, the delegates at the Paramount convention were given to understand that Ruth Chatterton will not go to Warners. Her contract there is said to have been torn up. What price harmony? . . . One of the things I can't get over is that Lew Cody was born in Waterville, Me. On Washington's Birthday, too. . . . At the local N. V. A. benefit, Charles Murray told a story so funny they were laughing about it backstage. One of Hollywood's best known male stars hurried in late, was told the gag and, in all innocence, repeated it when his turn came. He went off puzzled why the audience roared before he got to the point and gave him the fishy eye at the finish. . . . A modernistic dressing room suite is being prepared for Marlene Dietrich at Paramount. It will have electric refrigeration, a kitchenette, etc. Of late, even the portable dressing rooms are equipped with ice-making machines. In case you haven't heard, Frau Dietrich's bringing her baby girl back from Germany. The child is named Maria Seiber. Her father, Rudi Seiber, remains abroad. . . . Tomorrow will be Junior Laemmle's twenty-third birthday. He's been a film executive for more than two years now.

Lew Cody

LOOK OUT, FOOTLIGHTS!

With no pictures planned for the moment, Fifi Dorsay has wheedled Fox into letting her go on the stage.

She will appear on the coast for Henry Duffy in "Little Miss Bluebeard." Rehearsals start in a week, and then the company goes to San Francisco for a run. Few of the film people like to open a show here. They fear the critical eyes of their friends and the appraising glances of the producers.

Fifi, of course, is an old hand at footlight entertainment. She has done a number of seasons of vaudeville.

"Little Miss Bluebeard" was an Ina Claire stage vehicle and Bebe Daniels once made it on the screen.

Nicholson's Drama Keeps First Title

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's picturization of Kenyon Nicholson's play, "Torch Song," will retain the title of the original drama in its screen transcription, instead of being known as "Complete Surrender," according to word from the coast. Harry Beaumont is the director of "Torch Song," which is a Joan Crawford starring film. The cast includes Neil Hamilton, Marjorie Rambeau, Clark Gable, Roscoe Karns and George Marion.

Jungle Love

Duncan Renaldo and Edwina Booth put the love interest in "Trader Horn," jungle drama, which comes to the Penn screen Friday.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

At high noon today, or even higher, those attending a luncheon in the Hotel William Penn will be given the low-down on the Professional Players of Pittsburgh. Frederick Donaghey, of Chi, ex-drama critic, is expected to be the explainer. Similar groups, which are organized for attending plays and not for producing them, exist in Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago.

* * *

Sweet nothings cost daddy a lot of sugar when they are whispered by a chorus girl.

* * *

The George Sharp Players will flirt with "Coquette" in the Alvin next week. Gladys George to be seen in the role of the heart-trifler originated by Helen Hayes. Paul McGrath, who used to strut the Alvin boards as a touring juvenile, will be the owner of one of the hearts.

* * *

Small Timer says that when he tries to compliment his wife by telling her he picked a pippin, she responds by saying she plucked a goose.

* * *

"Dirigible," which flies out of the Pitt Saturday night, was written by Lieut. Commander Frank Wilber Wead, U. S. N., and was produced with the co-operation of the bureau of aeronautics, Navy Department.

* * *

The stage comic says he is convinced that circumstances alter cases after discovering what he got in an order for a case of "pre-war."

* * *

After the close of the present week the Pitt will be marking time. Another movie may come along May 25. Are you yawning, Mr. Bonneville?

LA BRONSON COMES BACK TO PICTURES

Following a personal appearance tour, which kept her from pictures for several months, Betty Bronson returns to the screen in "Lover Come Back." The film, adapted from a magazine story by Helen Topping Miller, will also mark Miss Bronson's first appearance as a "heavy vamp." Jack Mulhall and Constance Cummings featured in the leading roles.

Miss Bronson launched her film career in 1923. She first came into prominence in the title role of "Peter Pan."

Walter Winchell on Broadway

(Copyright, 1931, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

To Sir Don Wahn

I didn't know that men could feel as you do,
Intent on sorrow—harboring regret.
I always thought that men were heartless beings,
And when we women go—they soon forget.

To think that you have written all these sonnets
To one fair lass who caused you so much woe.
And that you still can think sweet things about her,

To think that after all these years of living,
You don't forget her even for a day—
I tell you, Sir Don Wahn, you are a wonder,
A most unusual man, if I may say.
Are all those sonnets written just for Winchell,
Or do you really feel that tragic way?

—G. R.

Oop!

"And so far as I'm concerned," shouts R. Heimlich, "you're just a gagalo!"

Heheheh

"I see by the papers," writes Mr. I. Elinson (Izzy to you!) "that Jimmy Durante is signed for the movies. With that nose how will the camera get near enough to get a close-up???"

Incidentally

Such as "schnozzle," "beak," "smeller," etc. That is, all the slang terms but "beezark."

Tee, Hee

The newspaper reports in part:

"Thomas A. Edison, scientist and inventor, led by a wide margin, receiving 15 of the 22 votes of the boys. Sinstein received three, Lindbergh two and Walter Winchell one."

Well, anyway, it is nice for the losers to know that the News Leader had to explain what the winner does for a living!

Origin

Lou Phillips slays us with this:

"I wonder," he writes, "if you recall the original 'rhumba' number—to wit: 'R-r-r-r-rhumba the night—the night you said I Love You—R-r-r-rrrr-rhumba?"

Flaw

One of the local newspaper publishers is considering a plan to "relieve" the unemployment sitch-ee-ay-shun by slicing wages 10 per cent and staggering the huge staff on a five-day week. This, it is alleged, will permit hiring 800 extra persons.

Which reminds us of the time Heywood Broun, in his column, offered a suggestion on how to relieve the difficult problem of unemployment. Broun suggested that the government announce to all unemployed that they gather in Central Park.

Then when they all had collected there, soldiers should mow them down with machine gun bullets.

Capsule Critique

A new show trying its wings in the suburbs was greeted by the town critic with this pungent poke:

". . . it seems to us that the new production is all work and no Play."

And——

Then there was George Jean Nathan's flippancy about a playwright who ought to get the Pulitzer Prize for Persistent Mediocrity.

Nathan said:

Absolutely

"What do you think is most important?" asked one fellow, "the words or the music?"

"The words," replied another, "in case you have to write home for money."

By Way of Report

When he was recently here a group of admirers gathered about Will Rogers and they discussed his sharp tongue.

"They are saying of you," said one lad, "that if one gives Will Rogers enough rope he will hang anybody!"

"Somebody once asked me," replied Rogers, "how I get away with kidding big men. That question answers itself. I only kid BIG men!"

By All Means!

The sports commentators are discussing a new "makeup" for baseball umpires. One of the sports chroniclers asks his readers for suggestions on what the umpires ought to wear.

How about spectacles?

"Know Your Own Home Town"

WIN YOUR SHARE OF $1,000.00 IN CASH PRIZES

Read These Rules:

(1) Under the title, "Know Your Own Home Town," the daily and Sunday Sun-Telegraph will publish a series of cartoons to run consecutively for 40 days starting Sunday, April 5th. All of these cartoons will represent a city, town or borough in the reading area of the Sun-Telegraph and prizes will be awarded to readers who submit the neatest and most nearly correct set of answers.

(2) A total of $1,000 in cash prizes will be awarded, divided as indicated in another part of this announcement.

(3) This offer is open to all except employes of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and their families. You pay nothing. Files of the Sun-Telegraph are available at the Public Library or at the office of the Sun-Telegraph and you may make tracings of the cartoons if you desire.

(4) Answers in the contest are not to be submitted until the entire set of 40 has been printed. After the last (No. 40), cartoon has appeared, entrants will be allowed 15 days to submit their sets of answers. They are to be addressed to the "Know Your Own Home Town" Contest Editor, Postoffice Box 230, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

(5) All Answers submitted become the property of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and none will be returned. The judges will be appointed by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and their decision will be final. In case of ties, a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

Do not submit the answers to the cartoons until the end of the contest.

FINAL INSTRUCTIONS

The final cartoon—No. 40—in the "Know Your Own Home Town" contest will appear in the Sun-Telegraph tomorrow. Complete sets of answers must be in the mails before midnight, Friday, May 29, or, if you deliver by hand, they must be in the Sun-Telegraph office before midnight on the same date. All mailed entries must be addressed to the

"KNOW YOUR OWN HOME TOWN" CONTEST EDITOR,
POSTOFFICE BOX 230, SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

Be sure that there is sufficient postage on your entry; be sure that your name and address appears on both the envelope and the sets of answers.

Answers will be judged from the list of cities and towns AS IT APPEARS above in the Sun-Telegraph.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

If you have missed any of the cartoons in the "Know Your Own Home Town" contest they will be mailed to you upon receipt of three cents in stamps for each picture—with the exception of No. 8, 15, 22 and 29 (Sundays). The Sunday pictures will be furnished to you at 10 cents each. Mail your request, with remittance, to the "Know Your Own Home Town" Contest Editor (Dept. A), Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. Contest pictures will not be mailed to you unless a remittance is made to cover the number of pictures you require.

SUN-TELEGRAPH

ORPHANS' HOME CELEBRATES

The Protestant Orphan Asylum, Perrysville and University avenues, North Side, yesterday celebrated its ninety-eighth anniversary, with former inmates from all parts of the country present. One man came from California to see his former playmates.

The celebration, attended by 105 inmates, and more than 300 visitors, was in charge of Mrs. Sophie D. Cochran, for 21 years superintendent of the orphanage.

Exercises consisted of entertainment and drill by the children, followed by open house for the visitors. The Rev. Benjamin F. Crawford, pastor of the Perrysville Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, was the principal speaker.

The home, endowed and self-supporting, cares for children from the ages of three weeks to 18 years old.

SIX TO RECEIVE SAFETY PRIZES

Two Pittsburgh men and four from Western Pennsylvania will be awarded safety trophies for conducting mill operation during 1930 without loss of time to any worker from accident, at the spring meeting of the Portland Cement Association in New York today.

J. J. O'Malley, general foreman, and Fred Smith, of the Universal Atlas Cement Company, Pittsburgh; John Brommer, general mill foreman, and F. M. Miles, of the Crescent Portland Cement Company, Wampum; and Wesley Davy and Charles H. Schlicher, of the Lehigh Portland Cement Company, New Castle, will receive awards, on behalf of their respective plants.

Truck Association Will Hold Dinner

John A. Harrison, local chapter president, will preside at the May meeting of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association tomorrow evening. A dinner will precede the meeting. Speakers are Benjamin G. Eynon, registrar of motor vehicles, Harrisburg, and Judge William H. McNaugher.

Jewish Home Plans Benefit Film Show

A benefit movie and entertainment will be held by the Jewish Home for Babies and Children on Sunday evening, May 24 in the Fulton Theater. There will be two performances. Mrs. M. A. Goodstone is general chairman; Mrs. Alexander Englander, associate chairman; and Mrs. A. H. Wietzman, ticket chairman.

MILKMAN WINS LETTER PRIZE

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., May 13.—James Thomas Sharkey, 32, a milkman in Boston, was awarded the $25,000 first prize in the $50,000 nation-wide contest for the best letter setting forth the advantages to smokers of the new moisture-proof cellophane wrapper on Camel cigaret packages, officials of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company and the contest judges announced today. Sharkey lives at 101 Train street, Dorchester, Mass., a suburb of Boston.

Mrs. Walter Sweet, mother of three children and wife of a Marine Corps captain now stationed at the Brooklyn (N. Y.) Navy Yard, won the second prize of $10,000. Third prize of $5,000 went to Julius M. Nolte, real estate dealer of Duluth, Minn., and former secretary of the Duluth Commercial Club.

In all 38 prizes were warded, of which five were for $1,000 each, five were for $500 each, and 25 were for $100 each. Barbara Lawless, of Ardmore, who receives $500, and C. S. Graybill, of Paxtonville, and David C. Hill, of York, $100 each, were the Pennsylvania winners.

Judges of the contest were Roy Howard, chairman of the board of the Scripps-Howard League of newspapers; Charles Dana Gibson, famous artist and publisher of Life Magazine, and Ray Long, president of the International Magazine Company and editor of Cosmopolitan.

When FEET hurt

Reliefin30seconds

Poor sore, swollen feet—burning and aching all day! The minute you put them in a TIZ bath you can just feel glorious comfort soaking in as all the ache is drawn out. TIZ draws out the acids and poisons that cause feet to swell, burn and smell. Takes the sting out of corns, callouses and bunions, too. To enjoy sweet, fresh, comfortable feet get a package of TIZ from any druggist.

P. R. R. TO LOAD STEEL ON CARS

The Pennsylvania Railroad expects this week to begin daily movement of 10 carloads of steel from the Canonsburg plant of the Fort Pitt Bridge Company to New York City for construction of an elevated West Side highway. The shipments total nearly 20,000 tons and will be completed in midsummer.

The steel is being loaded in new 65-foot gondolas being built at Pitcairn. This week 1,700 of the new type car, constructed especially to handle extra long lengths of steel, will be completed. A savings of 50 cents per ton in loading charges is reported by shippers using the new cars.

Senior at Tech Will Give Song Recital

Paul F. Brautigam, senior in the music department at Carnegie Tech, who sang the Mikado role in the recent production of the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, will give a song recital Friday evening at 8:15 in the Theater of the College of Fine Arts. The recital is open to the public.

McBaer's Golf Column

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Any golfer looking into the Grand Canyon gets a good lesson on what happens when a duffer doesn't replace his divots.

It's the first shot in golf that counts. That's because few golfers count the sevehth and eighth.

In order to avoid a sunstroke while playing winter rules it is best to have a cabbage leaf under your hat.

The cabbage leaf not only refracts the rays of the sun but you have something to nibble on while in the bunkers.

Always yell "Fore" before slicing yourself some caked earth. Don't get mad if you get lowbridged with a sharp drive on a public links on Saturday afternoon. Somebody has to get hurt in a stone fight.

If you are a 140-man it's all right to gamble on your game. If you think that's gambling.

Breaking a niblick across your knee is not a sign of bad temper. Not if it's a borrowed club.

Every golf club has a fairway. If you can't find it ask an old native of the district.

Paste this advice on the 200-yard stake. Read it between your fifth and sixth shots.

You can tell a golfer's game by looking at the back of his neck. If it's a rich brown he is a divot-replacer, a weed-bender and a drive-a-year-man.

That means he is a stooping golfer who requires a chiropractic to straighten him out so that he can go home.

Golf is a splendid game for the beginner. It keeps you out in the sunshine, the fresh air and the flowers, trees and shrubs. The greens committee can always buy new grass.

This is the first of a one-article series on golf by Sandy McBaer. There will be no others by popular demand.

KHEDIVE YIELDS TO EGYPT'S KING

CAIRO, May 13.—(AP.)—A political sensation was caused by the announcement of Adbas Hilmi, deposed Khedive of Egypt, that he had renounced all claims to the Egyptian throne and formally recognized King Fuad.

Kilmi ruled Egypt for 22 years. He has spent the last 17 years in exile, in Constantinople and Switzerland.

The renunciation was due to negotiations conducted by Premier Sidky Pasha, who said he had explained to the former Khedive how much to Egypt's interest it would be if he would recognize the present regime.

AWARDS ASKED FOR INJURIES

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Hare, of the North Side, seeking $20,000 damages for injuries to their son, Patrick O'Hare, 20, filed suit against the M. O'Herron Company, contractor, in Common Pleas Court. On April 10, the suit charges, the company parked a concrete mixer adjacent to a pathway in West Park, North Side, near Monterey street, and O'Hare, walking on the path, struck his head against a steel boom which projected over the pathway. It alleged he suffered concussion of the brain and other injuries.

Harris Edgar Sisley, McKeesport, asked $25,000 damages for injuries in a fall, in his suit against the Borough of Braddock, filed in Common Pleas Court. He averred he stepped into a hole in the curbing at Seventh avenue and Wood street, Braddock, November 17, 1930.

Real Estate

L. W. Monteverde, vice president of the Real Estate Company of Pittsburgh, and a former president of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, has been appointed a member of the Committee on City Planning and Zoning of President Hoover's Conference of Home Building and Ownership.

TO SUBMIT PLAN

The committee on which Monteverde has been appointed will meet next month and submit to the federal government a plan whereby home building and ownership will be stimulated. The committee will also attempt to find means to aid those in moderate circumstances to secure a home. No definite date has been selected for the meeting.

Monteverde, recognized as an authority on city planning and zoning, is also chairman of the Planning and Zoning Committee of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and chairman of the Pittsburgh Planning Commission.

CITY JOINS AUTO SIGNAL DRIVE

Pittsburgh's traffic officers will co-operate with the State Highway Patrol in its campaign to bring about better observance of the motor code governing signaling by drivers of their intention to stop, start or turn, Assistant Police Supt. Ben R. Marshall said today, following announcement by the Automobile Club of Pittsburgh that plans for a more rigid enforcement of the rules were being launched. Marshall said:

"Our traffic officers have for months been pointing out to offending motorists the proper way to make right and left turns, and in cautioning those who neglect to signal so that others may avoid collision.

"Since the state patrol is going to stress these points on the open highway, however, I have asked Traffic Inspector J. F. Dorsey to tell our officers to pay more attention to the way in which motorists give hand signals."

Three Men Hurt In Auto Crashes

Matthew Ballenbacker, 23, of 1108 North avenue, Millvale, and John Foley, of Butler street, were hurt early today when their auto crashed into a safety zone in Penn avenue, near St. Clair street, according to a police report. They are in the Pittsburgh Hospital.

Ralph Miller, 34, of 713 Gearing street, was hurt when his car skidded in Forbes street, near Albermarle street, and struck a tree. He is in the Homeopathic Hospital.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

You folks that think a desert country is terrible should see Arizona and New Mexico now. The whole states are covered with hundreds of the most beautiful kinds of flowers. Saw the petrified forest again. What are these people that think the whole world started with Noah going to say about a thing like that? Just another miracle, I reckon. Wild Buffalo fed the early traveler in the West and for doing so they put his picture on a nickel. Well, Fred Harvey took up where the buffalo left off and for what he has done for the traveler the picture of one of his waitresses (with an arm load of delicious ham and eggs) should be placed on both sides of every dime. He has kept the West in food and wives.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

John G. Rarick has made millions as a chain store operator. His wife, Jenny, shortly after their marriage, lent him $2,500, all she had, when he was near failure, and out of this money he built riches. But Jenny resents his far-from-imposing appearance and no longer feels real love for him. She plans the social education of their children, Jennifer and Avery. The thought is always in her mind that without her $2,500 Rarick would have achieved nothing. Her goading results in Rarick's agreeing to go East and to buy a magnificent home, but, secretly, he finds himself hating her. This is accentuated by his own temperamental inability to get close to his children. All their appeals to him are made through their mother. Rarick meets an odd genius, Dr. Felix Gerkes, an authority on art and gems, and installs him in his house. Jenny objects to his presence and a bitter scene follows, but Rarick insists that Gerkes remain. He sends a message to Jennifer to see him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VI.

The very modern young Jennifer, who wore her docked head like Jeanne d'Arc, and whose metallic frock clicked, slouched in on slim, inelegant legs.

Her smartness, even back in the St. Louis days when she had first begun to drift from him, had always been a source of her father's deep admiration. Not her indubitable smartness in the worldly sense, but the brand of it that was indicated in the intelligent bright dark eyes, set into a head that stood so erect and right between its slim shoulders. She could have been anything, except the thing she was. And the thing she was, without his being able to define the exact why, was anathema to her father.

It was not that she carried her cocktails vulgarly, or said gross things with what passed for the new frankness. She was no more and no less than any girl of her upbringing. Or her mother's upbringing. If anything, a little more. She drank rather less, smoked not at all, and, in her own phraseology, had remained a virgin chiefly because she had never let her curiosity get the better of her.

To Rarick, this young woman of his flesh, his board, his keep, who stood there on the hearthrug before him, glittering in her gown of fake armor, was as strange as if she had just stepped full grown from the life-size silver-and-chalcedony Zeus that stood on a credenza against the wall. Everything he felt about this illuminated edition of himself was imbedded in disapproval.

He despised what she had become, chiefly in terms of what she might have been.

Baby Installment System Used Here Many Years

Chicago's new claim to fame, that its Presbyterian Hospital will permit parents literally to buy their babies on the installment plan, and at a total cost of $45, was dissipated today.

The Elizabeth Steele Magee Maternity Hospital, in Oakland, has been operating a similar plan for years, with the cost of hospital care of the child and mother, in some cases, as low as $40.

In Chicago the $45 charge includes pre-natal care of the mother and 10 days in the hospital. Here $40 will give the mother regular pre-natal treatment and two full weeks in the hospital. There are no additional charges or expenses unless private room or service or the attendance of a family or favored physician is demanded.

Officials of the Chicago hospital announced yesterday they were inaugurating—for the first time in history, they thought—a system whereby the prospective mother might pay so much weekly or monthly until, when ready for hospital attention, her bill would be fully paid in advance.

SURETY FIRM OFFICIAL SUED BY STATE

Insurance Commissioner Seeks to Collect $50,000 Due On Promissory Note

State Insurance Commissioner Charles F. Armstrong has filed suit in Common Pleas Court against Edwin M. Love for $50,000. Love is a director of the Pennsylvania Surety Corporation, which is being liquidated by the State Insurance Department. He is also a coal operator and banker.

While a director of the company he signed a promissory note payable to the Pennsylvania Surety Corporation for $50,000, it is stated. The note matured March 4, the suit declares, and as it is considered part of the assets of the corporation, Armstrong is seeking to collect.

The suit was filed yesterday by Attorney W. Clyde Grubbs.

The Pennsylvania Surety Corporation is a reorganization of the Republic Casualty Company. It has offices in the Wabash Building.

THEFT SUSPECT HUNTED, 2 HELD

A man and woman, alleged members of a bandit trio, frustrated in an attempt to rob a McKees Rocks confectionery yesterday, were held in the county jail today while police sought a third companion who fled amid a hail of bullets.

Lottie Apple, 32, of 612 North Canal street, who, police say, was the "lookout," and Albert Wertheimer, 29, of 211 Goodrich street, were captured by Policeman Saul Roth, of McKees Rocks, who frustrated the burglary.

The woman was arrested, according to Officer Roth, in an automobile in front of the confectionery of George Simchacks, at Helen and Catherine streets, after she had sounded the horn in warning of the officer's approach. Wertheimer was captured after a short chase.

Thieves yesterday entered the office of the Johns Lumber Company, at West Liberty avenue and Sawmill Run boulevard, and looted the safe of $224 in cash and $1,600 in checks, according to a police report.

A gunman who stopped Jacob Tascalle, of 7631 Monticello street, in front of 7030 Frankstown avenue early today, fled without taking anything, police said, when several pedestrians approached from a side street.

Aged Woman Hurt When Hit By Trolley

Mrs. Anna Connelly, 68, of 1207 Evans avenue, McKeesport, was in McKeesport Hospital today recovering from injuries received when she stepped from between two parked automobiles into the path of a street car near her home late yesterday. She is the wife of Thomas Connelly, turnkey at the McKeesport police station.

RABBI ASHINSKY HERE SUNDAY

Rabbi A. M. Ashinsky, for 25 years a leader among Orthodox Jews here, will return from Detroit Sunday to assume his former place as head of several local congregations. He will be met by a large reception committee upon his return. Rabbi Ashinsky is to reside at 5840 Hobart street. Sunday night there will be a public reception in the Beth Hamedrash Hagadol Congregation, Washington street, at which time Rabbi Ashinsky will deliver his first official message.

Rabbi Ashinsky is founder of the Jewish Home for Aged, the Hebrew Institute and the House of Shelter. He also helped organize the Hebrew Free Loan, Free Burial Society, the Montefiore Hospital and the Jewish Home for Babies. He is a leading Zionist.

The reception committee will include more than 50 of the most prominent Jewish leaders in the city.

SEEKS TO INDICT BANK SUSPECTS

District Attorney Andrew T. Park today was expected to ask the grand jury to return indictments against members of an alleged bandit gang being held in New York. Two of the men, police say, have been identified as members of a gang who held up the Manchester Savings and Trust Company and escaped with $52,000 several months ago.

After conferring with City Detectives Thomas Morgan and Walter Monaghan yesterday, Park announced that he was prepared to ask for indictments against the men. Although only Joseph Flynn and Samuel Ruben, so far have been identified, Park said he would seek to have all five returned to Pittsburgh, believing the others will be identified later.

RIIS CENSURED IN LINKS DELAY

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern today is preparing a questionnaire for County Park Director Paul B. Riis in an effort to determine what use had been made of $1,679,000 spent on North and South parks in the last three years.

McGovern expressed disappointment at the lack of progress in the construction of the golf courses. He said:

"The golf course in North Park will not be completed by June 15 or any other time this year. There is something wrong. Too much money is being spent for such little return. After three years, all we have is a mudhole."

Commissioner Edward V. Babcock defended Riis and asked that the director be given consideration for what he has done at the parks. Babcock insisted that the South Park's golf course would be ready for use May 15 and that nine holes of North Park's course would be ready June 15. Babcock explained that the North Park course was delayed by lack of water.

Previous to the questionnaire discussion, Riis turned over $1,115 that had been collected for golf permits and locker rentals. On Armstrong's motion, the commissioners ordered that no annual permits be given free to county employes or officials.

THREE IN FLIGHT HIT CAR AT CROSSING

Officers Fired on in Park Give Chase; Victim Caught Under Overturned Auto

A man was killed and another seriously hurt in a triple automobile crash at Stanton and Highland avenues early today, caused, police said, by three men in a machine who drove madly through a stop light in an effort to escape from officers in a police scout car, following a pistol battle in Highland Park.

Martin Ambrose, 22, of 3429 Denny street, was killed beneath the car that police were chasing when it collided with an automobile driven by Edward Rodgers, 36, of 500 Paulson avenue. Rodgers is in the Pittsburgh Hospital with a skull fracture.

Patrolmen John O'Connor and Leon Dayton, assigned to a new radio-equipped scout car, in their report to homicide detectives, said the accident occurred while they were chasing three men who fled in a machine after exchanging a dozen shots with the officers near the boathouse in Highland Park.

POLICE RETURN FIRE

O'Connor said he and Dayton were driving through the park when they noticed a machine without lights. O'Connor jumped out and approached the other car, when its occupants opened fire on him, according to his statement.

He and Dayton returned the fire, and the machine sped to Stanton avenue, where the driver disregarded a red light at Highland avenue, and crashed into Rodgers' machine. Automobiles driven by Jack Smith, 5914 Marguerite street, and J. W. Guthen, of 101 Berkshire avenue, were also wrecked when the pursued car overturned, it was said.

Ambrose was a passenger in the machine they were chasing, O'Connor and Dayton said. The other two men escaped after the collision. Patrolmen Martin Cochran and Martin McIntyre, attached to another car, were dispatched to the Ambrose home to watch for the other two men. Approaching the house from the rear, they said, they saw two men fleeing. Cochran fired several shots at them.

CAR STOLEN

The car police were chasing was reported stolen an hour after the crash. Earl Gibson, 1707 Locust street, said it was owned by his sister, Mrs. Cora Allen, also of Locust street.

Police said investigation showed all bullets fired in the Highland Park battle went wild, neither their car nor the Allen machine bearing bullet marks.

MARKET COSTS CUT BY LANG

Reductions in personnel and elimination of refrigeration and electric current free of charge to stall owners at the three city markets—an estimated saving of $50,000 yearly—were announced today by Public Works Director Edward G. Lang.

The new policy was decided upon by Lang following a conference with Councilman Harry Little and Robert Alderdice, members of a special committee on market house improvements.

Elimination of free refrigeration and current will start June 1. Savings on light will be approximately $20,000, elimination of refrigeration $4,000 and reduction in personnel $20,000, Lang said.

Stowitts Gives Up Fame To Paint in India

By PENELOPE REDD

He comes not armed with the vedas for religious converts, but with a bible of Indian portraits which he has painted during his last three years' residence there.

Penelope Redd

Prior this, Stowitts had already fled from a promising success in the motion pictures and in the theater as designer of magnificent decors.

Preceding that, he had discarded fame as one of the few celebrated dancers America has ever produced. He toured South and Central America with Pavlowa as her premier dancer.

Originally, he commenced as a brilliant student of economics in the University of California and as a star athlete.

Stowitts, driven by a versatility one finds incredible, has lived rapidly through multiple careers to rest, perhaps, in painting.

Quickly exhausting the limitations of the standardized cosmopolite world of Europe, he went to Java.

There he lived as the guest of a major prince. Glamorous creatures portrayed against gold backgrounds, the fruit of his Javanese year, are now an important part of the official Dutch contribution to the Colonial Exhibit in Paris.

Passing on to India, he traveled from the court of one native prince to another. First the princes and their entourages posed, thus the common folk were persuaded that the painted canvas would not steal the soul.

Rich man, poor man, beggar man, artificer of every craft, and women of all classes of society, will be included in the 160 paintings that embody Stowitts' bible of India.

The exhibition will open at Carnegie Institute on May 19.

COUNTY TO PAY ROAD COST

Castle Shannon Borough has been relieved of paying its share of $2,400 for the construction of Roberts road. The amount will be assumed by the county, under a ruling yesterday of the Commissioners.

Edwin Graff and Ralph W. Hoffman, president and secretary of the borough Council, told the Commissioners yesterday the borough has paid $100,000 property damages caused by road construction in the last few years and has no funds to spare. Roberts road was improved recently by employes of the county road department.

USE OF POWER DEVICE SHOWN

The grid glow tube, evolved from the radio tube, which makes noiseless power stations possible, was demonstrated last night by S. P. Sashoff, Westinghouse research expert, before the local branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

The new tubes are capable of changing alternating current to direct current at relatively high voltages for transmission to a distance and at the receiving end again transform the direct current to alternating current for local distribution.

Sashoff said that the tubes may be placed in power houses, instead of regular motor-generator sets with their whirr and moving parts. He believes that these tubes may be placed in direct current districts to permit use of ordinary radio sets, refrigerators and other electrical equipment.

Cruelty Charge Wins Ex-Teacher Divorce

Mrs. Anna M. Walters, 28, 89 Frazier avenue, McKees Rocks, formerly a teacher in the Stowe Township School, was granted a divorce from Richard L. Walters, 28, of Little Rock, Ark., by Judge W. Heber Dithrich in Common Pleas Court on the grounds of cruelty and indignities.

She testified he broke her nose when he was drunk. They eloped to New Cumberland, W. Va., October 5, 1929, and parted August 20, 1930, when her mother ordered him from their home because of his conduct, according to the testimony.

Compromise Ordinance Sets License Fee for Dealers And Puts Curb on Use

What councilmen and dealers hope will be the final discussion of Pittsburgh's fireworks problem, will occupy attention of Council today when an open hearing is held on a proposed ordinance providing licenses for dealers and regulations for use of pyrotechnics.

A compromise ordinace has been introduced in Council, embodying certain features of previous legislation presented both by the Public Safety Department and Councilman Robert Garland. The new bill is said to have the sanction of organized fireworks dealers in the Pittsburgh city limits. They charged those drafted previously were too drastic and opened the way to "bootlegging" of fireworks.

Torpedoes over four inches in length, balloons carrying inflammable materials, cannons using gun powder and sky rockets and Roman candles over one pound are banned by provisions of the proposed legislation. Dealers must be licensed by the Department of Public Safety. Permits must be obtained to hold displays by organizations.

5 HELD IN CAR HOLDUP FREED

Four men, held as suspects in the holdup of Charles Schafer, 76, treasurer of the Lyman Building and Loan Association, on a street car a week ago today, and a woman with whom they were arrested, were discharged in North Side Police Court today.

Magistrate Ray E. Schneider said no evidence had been produced to connect any of the five with the crime. Partial identification of two of the men was not substantiated, he said.

Those released are H. J. Cooke, 31, of West Diamond street; Daniel W. Cox, 29, of Emlin street; Joseph Conley, 22, of 1117 McCandless avenue; James Conroy, 32, of 213 McCandless avenue, and Dolly Rhader, 35, of 910 West Diamond street, in whose home they were arrested.

COUNTY TO BORROW $2,000,000 TO MEET EXPENSES

SHORTAGE LAID TO RECALL OF BOND ISSUE

McGovern Scores System as Colleagues Put Through Plan for Big Bank Loan

County expenses between May 15 and August 1 will be financed by a $2,000,000 bank loan authorized yesterday by the votes of Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong and Edward V. Babcock. Commissioner C. C. McGovern declined to vote after criticizing the county's financial policy. After the meeting Armstrong declared the banks had offered the money at 3¾ per cent.

The county is short of funds temporarily because of the recall of a recent bond issue authorization. The issue was for $7,000,000, including $1,500,000 for the purchase of a Town Hall site.

ACCOUNTS EXHAUSTED

The courts have been enjoined to restrain the purchase of the Town Hall property and the County Commissioners have readvertised the sale of $5,500,000 bonds for various major road and bridge improvements. If the original bond sale had been consumated the county could have borrowed part of the funds until 1931 tax revenue begins to arrive. McGovern remarked:

"This is the stage I knew was going to arrive. Why don't you apply the famous transfer system that I have been objecting to for years?"

Babcock replied:

ARMSTRONG EXPLAINS

Armstrong observed that the temporary loan was not an unusual procedure. He said:

"In earlier days this was the regular routine. We made a budget with expenses starting January 1 but had no tax revenue to speak of until July 15. Up to 1927 we always borrowed to pay current expenses the first few months of the year. Since then we have been able to carry a big enough surplus from the end of one year to carry us along until the taxes of the current year began to come in.

"This was an exceptional year. We took $600,000 from various accounts to keep men at work and thereby ate into our surplus. We have to get money now and the only way is to borrow it from the banks."

RIDALL FUNERAL RITES HELD

Funeral services were to be held today for Charles Hanson Ridall, 57, of 1422 North Highland avenue, who died Sunday night in the West Penn Hospital. The services were set for 3 p. m. in the Moreland Funeral Home. Burial will be private.

Injuries suffered in an automobile accident May 4 caused Mr. Ridall's death. He was born in Pittsburgh and had resided here all his life. For the last 16 years he had been president of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company and also was president of the Tech Food Products Company since its organization 10 years ago.

Mr. Ridall was also president of the Pennsylvania State Brewers' Association and a trustee of the United States Brewers' Association. Also a director of the Associated Producers of Cereal Beverages and a director of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association.

Business associates will act as honorary pallbearers. Mr. Ridall was a member of numerous Masonic organizations and of the Pittsburgh Athletic Association. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Nettie Wainwright Ridall; three sons, Edmund W., Joseph Z. and Charles L. Ridall; two brothers, John E. and Samuel F. Ridall; a sister, Mrs. William Rafferty, and four grandchildren.

ACT TO REPEAL PARK AUTOBAN

Declaration was made in City Council yesterday that members favor repeal of an ordinance, passed in 1904, prohibiting automobiles from Riverview Park.

The Finance Committee approved a repealing ordinance presented by Councilman Harry A. Little, which is scheduled for passage at next Monday's meeting.

The old ordinance, passed by Allegheny before it consolidated with the city, provided a fine or imprisonment to offenders who speeded their "horseless carriages" into and around the park site.

HISTORIC SOHO BEER VAULTS EXPLORED

Boy Adventurers Discover Storage Caves of Famous White Brew of Olden Days

The spirit of exploration of two Soho lads in long abandoned beer vaults beneath the tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad along Second avenue near the Twenty-second Street Bridge yesterday afternoon, gave railroad engineers cause to wonder and a job to do today.

The vaults, extending 48 feet back from Second avenue, were uncovered by Harry Shmitko, 10, of 2115 Watson street, and John Holieb, 10, of 2213 Tustin street, while playing along the hillside. They found loose stones in the soft earth and, removing them, decided to explore further. They found a deep, dark recess beyond, but, undaunted, they dug deeper and with the aid of other boys soon had uncovered an opening big enough to enter.

They found old crocks, bits of strange odds and ends of former years, but nothing of real value. Railroad officials and police were notified.

Older residents of the district recalled former days when the "Vaults of Soho" were famous for a brew known as "white beer." A large establishment at one time flourished on the spot, they said.

Baltimore Railroad officials said the caves would be filled in and sealed.

KEEP KISSABLE

. . . WITH OLD GOLDS

OLD GOLDS were created to give you THROAT-EASE . . . as well as a more delightful tasting cigarette. But the makers also considered your breath, your lips, your teeth, as well as your THROAT.

They created a pure-tobacco cigarette . . . free of coriander and other greasy artificial flavorings* that burn into clinging, staining, breath-tainting vapors.

To avoid unpleasant aftermaths, smoke pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS. Their clean, sun-ripened, natural-flavored tobaccos will be like honey to your THROAT. And they leave no objectionable odors either on your breath or clothing, or in the room.

HERE'S THE PROOF*

Open up a pack of OLD GOLDS and smell the tobacco. Do the same with any other cigarette. Judge for yourself which has the natural, pleasant, all-tobacco aroma. It's a favor to your family and friends, as well as to yourself, to smoke NATURAL-FLAVORED, pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Society Sees Stage Group Plays

A gala event last night was the final performance of the season of the Stage and Play Society, given in the Twentieth Century Club. And after the plays were over the members of the society had a supper party at the Pittsburgh Golf Club and later re-elected officers.

Carroll Fitzhugh was re-elected president; Mrs. John H. K. Burgwin, Harold Geoghegan, James W. Macfarlane and Mrs. Elizabeth Vermorcken, vice presidents; Fielder Clarke, secretary and treasurer, assisted by Mrs. Wilmer M. Jacoby.

And the actors last night were Mrs. Edward J. House, Howard Schleiter, Howard Wilbert, Mrs. William S. Moorhead, Alan Donnelly, George P. Bassett III, Marjorie Kimball, Harold Geoghegan, Virginia Drake, William R. Scott, Mrs. Jacob S. Payton, Mrs. Bennett Oliver, Madeleine McClintock and William J. Miller.

* * *

There were ever so many smart folks in smart gowns to compose a gay audience. One of the most interesting costumes was that of vibrant Mrs. J. Hilliard. Her gown was of yellow crepe printed in black and her wrap was of black velvet and had brief sleeves banded deeply in white fox.

Gowns Of Note

Among the social leaders I noticed Mrs. James Verner Scaife in black and white satin, Mrs. Samuel Harden Church in black and Mrs. Mortimer Miller in blue lace. Mrs. John P. Penney chose a gown of sapphire blue lace with a matching jacket of lace. And Miss Neil Stewart was in black.

And I believe I had a glimpse of Mrs. A. K. Oliver in printed chiffon. Chatting with Mrs. T. M. Jones III, in black and white chiffon, were Fielder Clarke and George S. Oliver.

Young Mrs. John E. McKelvey was there with her sister, Mrs. George A. Kelly III. Mrs. W. Terrell Johnson wore dull red lace and a wrap of cloth of silver with a deep collar and cuffs of sable. Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh was in red chiffon, and Mrs. Marsh's daughter, Mrs. Jacob S. Payton, chose black chiffon.

* * *

Rainbow Hues Seen

* * *

Younger Set Noted

Betty Childs, a deb of the past winter, wore flowered chiffon in many shades of blue. Georgia Pearson, black lace. Mary Carroll, white chiffon. Virginia Doyle, ruffled brown lace, and Mrs. Alex Logan Wilson, formerly Helen West, black chiffon.

Others I noticed were Mrs. Herbert A. May, Helen McCance, Mrs. Jack Bissell, Mrs. William Zang in dark blue satin and her daughter, Neil Margaret Zang, in flowered crepe, and Miss Alice Gray, black satin.

Mrs. H. Allen Machesney, Jr., one of the late arrivals, was in black lace. Mrs. Arthur A. Little, yellow chiffon, and Mrs. Joseph Dilworth, printed chiffon. Louise Bausman wore flowered crepe. Also attending the Stage and Play were Mrs. William McK. Reed, Mrs. Carey Williams and Mrs. William J. Powell. Mrs. Charles S. Shoemaker was there, Mrs. David Jackman, Jr., Mrs. Carl Collins, Mrs. J. Frank Drake, Mrs. Walter C. Carroll and Mrs. William Rice Jarvis.

* * *

Betty Hemingway, who's the daughter of the Lee D. Hemingways, of Crafton, who will wed Moseley Littlepage Putney, son of the A. Moseley Putneys, of Charleston, W. Va., on Saturday, May 23, has named her bridal party. And I want to mention that she will be married in the Episcopal Church of the Nativity, Crafton, at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, with the Rev. John S. Taylor officiating. There will be a reception in the Hemingway home later.

Bridal Details

Betty's sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward Dwight Hemingway, is to be her matron of honor, and the maid of honor, Frances Herendeen, of Geneva, N. Y. The four bridesmaids are Hulda Taylor, of Crafton; Alice Marsh, of Thornburg; Katherine Bullard and Frances Hutchison, of Fairfield, Conn.

Serving as best man will be Julius A. Simms, of Charleston, and the ushers will be Edward Dwight Hemingway, brother of the bride-elect; John C. Morrison, William D. Ohly and Nathan S. Poffenbarger, of Charleston, and Philip Pfleger, of Pittsburgh.

1,500 Club Women Gather As Heinz Guests to Hear Food Talks

What was probably the largest gathering of clubwomen ever held in Pittsburgh assembled yesterday in the H. J. Heinz new Service Building. More than 1,500 women from 44 clubs met as guests of the Heinz company. While they were assembling they were entertained by a program of organ music and pictures showing the various departments of the plant at work. They then proceeded to the main dining room, where a generous luncheon was served, and later went back to the auditorium for the featured program, which was both entertaining and informative.

Franklin Bell, representing the company, voiced a gracious welcome and Mrs. Ralph W. Johnston, Congress of Clubs president, responded in behalf of the club women. There were two numbers by the Ingram Woman's Club Choral under the direction of Mrs. Frank C. Rex and two by the Crafton Woman's Club String Trio, Mildred Hertzler Hissom directing.

Two speakers, Miss Alice Blinn, executive director of the Delineator's Home Institute, and Miss Josephine Gibson, of the Heinz company, added the only features necessary to complete a profitable and pleasant afternoon.

Miss Blinn, talking on "Modern Trends in Food," touched also on other subjects of interest to the homemaker and commented on the foods that now come to the market regardless of season. Miss Gibson, with the aid of stereopticon slides, discussed menus and menu planning, and gave some new and original recipes. At the close of her talk, the women were shown these same meals spread on a long curved table in the orchestra pit.

Talk On Foods

Yesterday's conference is the first of three. Today the program, with Mr. Bell again presiding, is: Greetings, Mrs. Johnston; music by the Mt. Lebanon Woman's Club and the Avalon Woman's Club Chorals, "Menu Planning," by Miss Gibson, and a talk on "Aesthetic Foods," by Florence Fisher Parry.

The whole matter of fireworks on the Fourth of July has become a question of "what price children?" Councilman Robert Garland said in discussing the proposed city fireworks ordinance before the legislative department of the Congress of Clubs this morning. In recounting fireworks casualties of last year, Mr. Garland said they had included one death, loss of eye and fingers, permanent deformities and scars, as well as minor tolls.

Fireworks Ban Urged

The spirit of the day, he emphasized, should be one of reverent rejoicing and thanksgiving and such sacrifices as the country has suffered through the use of fireworks suggest the pagan god Moloch rather than the Goddess of Liberty.

Although some dealers claim sparklers are harmless, a prominent physician reports burns to his own small daughter, whose clothing had ignited from a sparkler, and several years ago a death resulted from burns caused by sparklers.

Of the 47 larger cities which have a fireworks ordinance such as is before Pittsburgh Council now, 32 have not had a single fatality for three years, the speaker pointed out, adding that there is no question that accidents and death decline sharply where restrictions are placed.

* * *

With two exceptions, the officers of the Keystone Association for Historical Research, headed by Mrs. Eugene S. Gaskill, were re-elected at the annual meeting held yesterday at the Congress. The two new officers are Mrs. Harry J. Newman, recording secretary, and Mrs. W. E. Ferree, corresponding secretary. The program consisted of a burlesque pantomime called "The Lamp Went Out" in which Mrs. Charles Hannan was the narrator and Mrs. Roy L. Norris, Mrs. Newman, Mrs. W. G. Rial and Mrs. W. L. Kinsey enacted the roles.

CUTS SILK HOSE BILLS IN TWO

A New York fashion expert has found a simple, easy method to double the wear of silk hose and undergarments. These articles, worn next to the skin, wear out doubly fast because of the perspiration and other body excretions which soften and rot the silk.

This expert found that soap and water were inadequate for washing such articles. She recommends when washing silks to add a tablespoonful of Energine to every quart of lukewarm, soapy water. Wash and rinse as usual. This method not only cleans thoroughly and quickly but makes silks like new with revived colors and pleasing freshness. With Energine the results over soap and water alone will amaze you. It means longer life—real economy.

Energine is unexcelled also for quickly removing all dirt and grease spots from dresses, hats, gloves and ties. Large can 35 cents at any drug store.

WHITE SATIN RETAINS ITS ELEGANCE FOR SUMMER

Sketched in Paris

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, May 13.—The evening news isn't at all dull just now. Plenty of novelties in the evening clothes line, as well as more subdued models that are exceedingly smart, even if they are not in any way startling. White is tremendously important as an evening color and this of course means satin. The elegance of white satin has never been denied. It looks like a white satin summer, with clever touches of color splashed across the snowy expanse of the nicest frocks.

White with black, white with red and white with green, these are three of the most attractive and popular color alliances for evening. The off-shades of white are also good, while it matters not whether the satin itself be peau d'ange or of a lustrous weave.

* * *

ATTRACTING much attention are the various variations of the evening pajamas with the trousered section discreetly disguised and hidden, but none the less very much present. Whether or not the formal evening pajama is to be accepted as a true daughter of the mode, or whether it is a novelty taken more seriously by the designers than by their clients, we do not yet know. All we know is that many of the new collections are featuring these models.

* * *

WE HAVE COMBINED in one drawing sketches of two new evening models from the house of Worth. The first has pajama tendencies, even if the sketch doesn't reveal 'em. The model is of ivory peau d'ange satin. The bodice fits snugly and there is a slightly circular peplum flaring from the waistline. The paneled skirt opens at the sides over long and very wide pajamas, cut apparently with the skirt after the manner of the old-time divided skirt for riding. Black is introduced in the form of a black satin scarf which serves as shoulder straps and is caught at each side with strass buckles.

* * *

HOST OF STARS ON RADIO TONIGHT

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

"Our reach should exceed our grasp, or what's a heaven for," said somebody . . . we think it was Browning . . . but it only emphasizes the situation that exists in our radio heaven tonight . . . lots of stars but impossible to catch them all because of conflicting times and stations . . . Any radio program that bills Billie Burke, Gladys Rice, Frances Alda, Tampa, Edmund Lowe, Boswell Sisters, Olive Palmer and the Revelers in one night is going beyond the usual caliber of entertainment . . . and we haven't even mentioned the old reliables like the "First Nighter," "Fast Freight," "Buddy Boys," "Arabesque," "Polishers" and "Riggs and Moke." It's a big evening . . . make the most of it.

FANFARE: Jane Gibson introduces and announces the "Marketeers," WJAS at 7:30 . . . Pittsburgh's first woman announcer on a regular night time feature.

* * *

Cleveland's operatic season reaches its peak tomorrow night at 7:30 when "Lena" of "Gene and Glenn" makes her eagerly awaited debut over WTAM in Bizet's "Carmen." Lena as "Carmen" will be supported by "Jake" as "Escamillo," the lord of her affections. "Jake" singing the "Toreador Song" should be a riot!

* * *

Joe Sartory (long time ago on WCAE) and Haven Haas are to be the voices of "double-u, double-u, s, double-u" in Hotel Schenley. Talk about tricky call letters—we suggest a gargle morning, noon and night for anyone who expects to complete the day without jumbling "WWSW."

* * *

Helen Rodgers, of Washington, Pa., whose versatility extends to shorthand notes as well as violin notes, is to be John C. Drummond's secretary. The transmitter is to remain on Frankstown road with Arthur A. Lewis, chief engineer. Preliminary tests are scheduled for tomorrow morning from 1 until 6; these will continue for a week or 10 days. The official opening is set for June 1.

QUESTION A DAY:

Is it true that police whistles are barred from radio?—Alice A., Zelienople.

Answer—Yes, at NBC and CBS. Once a radio copper almost caused a riot in St. Louis by tooting a policeman's whistle all in fun at New York studios. The St. Louis arm of the law, patrolling the street on a summer night, heard the whistle emanating from a citizen's window, thought it was a fellow officer in distress and broke down the door, 'tis said.

STUDIO LIGHTS

Marcella Shields and Helene Handin, better known as "The Two Troupers," have landed a commercial contract for a comedy series to start on WJZ Saturday night at 7:30 . . . that's good news.

Ted Husing and Graham McNamee are to pass through Pittsburgh late tonight and early tomorrow on their way to the Kentucky "Derby" . . . on different trains, of course. . . .

Earle Sande is to supplement McNamee's description for WEAF-WCAE listeners Saturday at 6:45. . . .

"Cy" King, new press relations man at KQV, was inducted into radio service by this department in 1925 as announcer for WJAS-Gazette-Tele. . . .

Two of man's tallest structures—the Empire State Building and the Eiffel Tower, Paris—are to be linked in a special fashion broadcast by the CBS network on Sunday, May 24. . . .

Automobiles are barred within a five-mile area of the transoceanic radio receivers at Long Island, that handle international broadcasts for the networks . . . automobile ignition causes interference commonly known as "background noise" . . . a horse and wagon are used for transportation to and from the transmitters . . .

Gov. Pinchot is to speak on KDKA tomorrow night at 6:15 . . .

Here's a great big "hoorah" for Paul Gannon whose singing on WCAE lately has rhapsodized these ears . . . stick to the ballads, Paul, and bowl 'em over!

Louis Abel got out of bed yesterday to avoid disappointing kiddies who were expecting their "Uncle Henry" at KQV. It was strawberries, not razzberries, that laid Lou low.

The LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, May 13.—Diagnosticians have formed an imposing part of the radio parade—experts in determining not only the ills of man, but of the world in general. We have heard them often, heard them prescribe for everything from adenoids to economic heebie-jeebies.

Comes now an honest-to-Hippocrates medicine man with a diagnosis of what's wrong with radio. He judges broadcasting from the standpoint of the listener. His examination is painstaking—so painstaking as to suspect a clea rlydefined case of pernicious anemia. Ladies and gentlemen, Dr. Donald M. Gildersleeve, of 2518 Webb avenue, the Bronx:

"Some of your correspondents have taken exception to many of the sopranos. To this we voice a hearty amen! But how about the alleged pianoforte players? Not more than once in a half-dozen times do we hear a 'piano recital' without noting actual mistakes therein (striking of wrong notes, omission of notes that the composer had put in his manuscript for a purpose, etc.), and, worst of all, I believe, either the abandonment of any effort to interpret the composition of 'interpretations' that are beyond the pale.

"The bands: Perhaps most of us will agree to place the U. S. Marine Band and the Goldman Band far ahead of the field. Next, we may be justified in placing the Navy Band and the Army Band—both good. But have you not found—have not many of your readers found—a rather striking inclination merely to play the notes without conspicuous attention to a true interpretation of the numbers (with a favorable exception in the case of many of the military marches)?

"The idiotic theme songs of some of the advertisers require, I trust, no further mention. How about the more or less lengthy speech used by one advertiser to explain how few words we are going to hear in the ensuing advertising remarks? In a 'Nut Club' party this sort of thing might rest more suitably, I am inclined to suspect.

* * *

"Relative to genuine electrical transcriptions I beg to favor their more widespread use—at least to the partial or nearly total exclusion of submediocre 'talent.' At times we hear, via some of the vest-pocket stations, some really good records, but damn the interspersion of so many details about sundry beauty shoppes, restaurants, radio services and what not.

"Spain used to have a very good law restricting within reasonable limits the number of advertising words per hour. Let us hope, for the sake of those within its coverage that the new republican government continue in force such restrictions.

"Great musical numbers are—happily — often introduced with accurate, valuable and important remarks by some of our best-informed announcers. There is a tendency on the part of many announcers, however, to give us too many words."

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

Continuous Squabbles Can Ruin Any Romance

But whenever they're together

The instant they're separated they begin to count the seconds until they can meet again . . .

But the moment they meet —

Always Arguing

Ever know of a case like that? Dozens of 'em, probably. And what's the answer? Listen.

"Dear Sally:

"I'm so puzzled that I don't seem to be able to see things straight, so I thought I'd ask you about my problem because you're far enough away from it to see it more plainly than Jim and I can. You see we're engaged, and we're really mad about each other. We're miserable apart.

"But the funny part of it is that, when we're together, we almost always get into a big argument about some silly thing . . . and neither one of us will give in, I guess. So we just have a regular fight. We both have 'quick tempers,' and I guess we're both stubborn. And so it goes.

"Although it would break my heart to give Jim up, I just can't bear the thought of never seeing him again. I am beginning to wonder what it's all about.

"Can two people love each other with a real true love and still fight like we do?

Both Unhappy

"Our arguments usually start over some silly thing that one of us thinks the other shouldn't do. We're both terribly sensitive, I guess, and although we've told each other we wouldn't neither of us seems able to bear having the other one act or speak as if we're not just perfect.

"Do you think that we should go ahead and get married, when we seem to get on each other's nerves the way we do?

"Please help us, won't you? We need it so much. We're neither of us happy now . . . and I know we'll never be happy apart, either. Do you think we really do love each other, or is it just infatuation? 'LOTTA'

It isn't love that's bothering you, youngster; it's life . . . life and your own cussedness.

This trouble isn't coming because you and Jim are involved in Romance; it's coming because you're involved in growing up. You're new to this world and this human race. You don't know how to manage yourselves, and as a consequence, every little thing gets your goat.

Must Learn Life

You think this happens because you're "in love." It doesn't. It would happen under any circumstances. Neither of you has ever learned of self-control, and as a consequence, every new situation which you may meet during your work life or your play life or your love life, makes you run amuck. Of course, you blame the other fellow.

You blame it on Jim—

He blames it on you—

You both blame it on love—

Stop it!

Instead of lamenting about love, dig in and learn life. Learn that life is always a matter of give and take . . . that the other fellow always has as much right to his opinion as you have to yours . . . that no one can ever have his way entirely, and you wouldn't like it if you could . . . that there is no such thing as Perfect Happiness or a Perfect Lover. Learn that life is what you make it, and love is as you take it. And that it's all up to you—in marriage or in business or any other human relationship.

In short—grow up.

He gets your goat?

Grown people's goats should not be so easily gotten!

The Quiet Life

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

Along about this time of the year the breast—where the heart is—and the head—where the mind-world is—struggle with a strange unrest, vague longings, acute yearnings. In autumn, too, most of us wrestle with this painful, yet strangely sweet because of its source, fever of heart and mind.

The matter is JOY. We've lost it—the joy bird that sings that beauty and joy are undying. It's been too long since we have been made deeply happy by his song, those of us who cannot be really happy with it totally out of our lives. And it does not sing in the city.

The poetic, the mighty, the beautiful, the appealing, the stirring city has its excitements, its thrills, its artistic lights and shades, but the golden bird that the Princes sought in a thousand fairy-tales, and that you and I must hear sometimes to feed soul and heart and body, the city hasn't!

A great part of its life the modern heart and body must live in a supreme unadorned, high-pitched, loud civilization. Must buzz busily away in a very plain hive, amused now and then by a "movie," a very poor "dining out" as to true atmosphere and food, "parties" that are strangely poor amusement and barren fun. Where is the moon, a tree, the sound of a river, true gayety and romance, the world of reality, in ALL OF THAT?

For the average soul and heart too long a time of the hive and its poor diversions is starvation. So it works up a violent fever—and cannot understand what's the matter. A long, long draught of the QUIET PLACES is what the pagan in the city needs now and then to regain Joy. To cool his fever, to refresh his spirit. And a Spirit grows tired and dusty and bedraggled just as your jacket does!

It took me quite a few words to tell the city man and girl that they need a day in the country now and then, if they want to be really happy—but you see what I mean. —NELL BRINKLEY.

CORRECT MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Dinner Hints

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

First of all, I want to tell you how thankful I am that there is such a person as you to whom I can write for advice concerning a few things which have been giving me trouble. The best part comes when I receive your reply because I know that it will be advice that I can depend on.

1. A short while ago in this city I was served the following as a dinner meal. Steak, new peas, new potatoes (creamed), clam chowder, celery and olives on ice in the same dish, and a fruit cocktail. Should the olives be eaten with the fingers when there was no olive fork?

2. Should the celery be eaten with chowder or meat course?

3. Two knives and two forks were at my service plate and I did not know what the second pair were for? L. S.

1. Olives are always eaten in the fingers. Olive spoons (the pierced kind), or olive forks, may be placed with the serving dish of olives for us to use when we serve ourselves to the olives from the serving dish. But when we eat them, we use our fingers. We nibble the olives, holding them in our fingers. We don't, in other words, put the whole olive into our mouths and suck it, as we see some people do, most unattractively.

2. The celery is usually eaten before the dinner, as we wait for the service of the first course. And, if we wish, is continued with the first course.

3. I don't know what use the second knife and fork were supposed to be for. If the dinner was in a restaurant, the placing of the extra silver can probably be accounted for by the fact that most restaurant waiters nowadays place an extra supply of silver and we are supposed to take our choice!

Refer to Him by His First Name

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My fiance is about 53 years of age, and I am 25. I have become accustomed to speak of him as "Mr. So-and-So," and have been criticized for doing this. My reason for doing this is, he is a professional man and very dignified, and of course considerably older than most of my acquaintances. And, I feel sure, he would not care to be called by his first name, even though some of the young people may be considered friends of mine. What do you think?

M. K.

I am sorry that I cannot agree with you about this. To your friends both your close friends and your not-so-close friends, it is rude of you to speak of your finance as Mr. ———. Refer to him by his first name, as you will also, to your friends, after you are married.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Don't Blame All Ills of Baby on "Teething"

There is a popular belief that the teeth are to blame for every complaint the baby may have. If the baby cries or does not take his nourishment or runs a temperature, it is a common thing to blame it on "teething."

Dr. Copeland

This is an unfortunate belief. It is unfounded and dangerous. Many a severe illness could have been cut short if in the beginning it had not been attributed to teething. Valuable time is lost.

Teething should never make a child sick. A healthy child will seldom know when his teeth come through. He does not show any signs of disturbance in health. Very rarely a child may have abnormally difficult eruption of teeth. In these cases there is great pain, but fortunately they are rare.

The two central "cutting teeth," or "incisors" of the lower jaw, are the first teeth to show. These usually appear between the fourth and sixth months.

The upper four central teeth come next, arriving between the eighth and twelfth months. Next to appear are the other two lower central teeth. These give the child eight cutting teeth or incisors at the age of one year.

The grinding teeth, or "molars," appear between the ages of 12 and 15 months. There is one such tooth on each side, both in the upper and lower jaw.

Between 18 months and 2 years of age, the "eye-teeth," or upper "canines," appear. About the same time, the "stomach teeth," or lower canines, arrive.

The remaining four molars, or grinding teeth, appear between the twenty-fourth and the thirtieth months. With their arrival the baby is usually about 2½ years of age and now has 20 temporary, or "milk teeth."

During the fifth and sixth years the first permanent teeth appear. These are the last molars. These teeth are extremely important and should receive proper care. If any of these teeth are lost, the shape of the jaw will be changed. In that case, the upper and lower teeth will never fit together as they should.

The next set of permanent teeth come through at about the age of 12. They are the permanent molars. The wisdom teeth are the last set of permanent teeth.

The temporary teeth, 20 in number, are usually lost between the ages of 6 and 12 years. The permanent teeth are 32 in number.

The teeth, even the baby teeth, should never be neglected. The old-fashioned idea of not caring for the milk teeth is rapidly disappearing. If cavities form in the temporary teeth, they should be filled. Decay in the temporary teeth should never be permitted to go untreated.

Do not think that milk teeth can be neglected because they will fall out pretty soon. It is a well-known fact that many of the serious diseases of later life are caused by the neglect of the temporary as well as of the permanent teeth.

Household Hints

If the parchment shades have been shellacked and varnished they may be washed with white soap and water. Brighten with a little furniture polish.

Have next winter's supply of coal stored in a dry, airy place in the cellar and it will burn far better and waste less than if kept in a close, poorly ventilated cellar.

When windows are inclined to stick when efforts are made to raise them rub their cords with soap and then run them up and down a few times. That will solve the problem.

Love's Reawakening

Continuation of Love's Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Is Congratulated by Husband

I looked in astonishment at Dicky's nephew, Henry, as he said explosively that I "didn't do any such thing" when Dicky had complained that I had piled a lot of boxes on the "Star of Bethlehem," the most necessary part of the Christmas tree lights. Henry's face was red. His state of mind was plain. He was furiously angry at his uncle for his accusation and had rushed to my defense with awkward but genuine boyish chivalry.

I could not help a grateful, prideful little feeling at the boy's warm championship. Henry was the greatest problem of the three boys and the least appealing. I was guiltily conscious that I had liked Roderick and William much better than I had this trying boy, who had been into mischief of one sort or another ever since he had come to the farmhouse. I had not dreamed that he had any particular liking for me either. But no one could help reading real affection in the boy's eyes as he faced his uncle.

How would Dicky react to the boy's criticism of him? He is never petty this Peter Pan of mine, but his temper is set upon a hair trigger, and he never is more irritable than when he is engaged in any particular piece of work, such as the arrangement of the Christmas tree lights. I quaked as he stared at the boy for a second or two after his explosive denial of the accusation Dicky had made.

Then I saw amusement creep into his eyes, and, looking past the boy, he grinned at me amicably.

"Congratulations," he said, and I knew that he meant more than a gibe. knew he reasoned with me that I probably could "manage" Henry and lead him away from some of the spiritual and mental rubbish he seemed to have collected if he had formed the attachment for me which his championship of me would indicate.

"Probably you're right, Hank," he said smiling down at the boy. "And it's mighty good of you to stick up for your Aunt Madge. She's about the best friend you boys have around here, as you'll find out tomorrow."

I put my finger on my lips, fearful that Dicky's irresponsible garrulity would drop some more direct hint of the surprise we had prepared for the four boys. And Dicky winked at me for answer, while Henry's eyes opened wide and William looked at us as if trying to piece together an intricate picture puzzle.

"Hand up that Star of Bethlehem thing, Bill," Dicky directed, wisely diverting their attention. "And, Hank, stand over here and hold this cord this way, while I try to get a connection here. If you have any more boxes of Christmas get 'em down. These lights ought to be ready in a few minutes."

"There are some more," I told him, "and we're getting them down. Behold——" And I waved toward Noel and Mary who had just come in with arms piled high with the light but awkward boxes of fragile trimmings. I had not dared to entrust this transportation to the boys. There would be individual trimmings smashed. I knew from long experience in trimming trees, but if the boxes were once safely deposited in the living room there would be little danger of wholesale smashing.

"About three more trips will do it, Auntie Madge," Mary caroled. "When is the trimming going to begin?"

"Not until Junior and Roderick are safely upstairs with Aunt Katherine," I told her. "And I've promised them an extra hour this evening. Father's reading them the Christmas Carol. Then we'll sing the carols, a few of them which Junior knows. Roderick does, too, doesn't he, Mary?"

"I don't think so," Mary said, and I wondered if I imagined the note of bitterness in her voice. "Mother thought carols didn't strike a modern note."

I had a sudden vision of Elizabeth Harrison, the dead mother of these children, with her queer ideas of child psychology and her self-indulgent, half-cruel treatment of her daughter and her three sons, and the tragedy of her and her brood gripped my heart. Not the tragedy of the children's being motherless, but that of their not having tender and beautiful memories of her.

"Well, we can soon teach him," I said cheerfully, "and I'm sure he'll like them as well as Junior does. Now I'll open these boxes and arrange them in the order of their size on these various tables. Then they'll be handy when you start trimming and yet they won't be displayed where the youngsters can see them."

It was a good 10 minutes later, when the lights had decided to behave themselves and Dicky had snapped them all on, giving a grunt of approval, and snapped them all off again, that he asked abruptly:

"Aren't Lil and Harry and Marion coming over to sing carols with Junior?"

There was pique in his voice, and I realized that he was as childish as Junior could have been in his resentment that our old friends should be spending Christmas Eve with the Brixtons.

-:- The Beauty Box -:-

By HELEN FOLLETT

The lemon rinse is not for blondes only. It is useful to the girl with oily hair who finds difficulty in rinsing away soapsuds after a shampoo. Add the juice of two lemons to a quart of tepid water, and pour over the head. Follow immediately with a tepid rinsing with a bath spray. The brain blanket will have fluff and softness.

Green soap, sometimes recommended by scalp specialists for shampooing the hair, is not green, but yellow. It is made with a foundation of linseed oil and cuts grease out of the tresses. But it is strong and must not be frictioned too vigorously into the scalp. Tincture of green soap is a combination of the soap and alcohol, which forms a liquid.

If a pretty dolly is to keep strictly up to beauty par she must take inventory now and then. How's the old glory-mop looking? Is the complexion proud of its ivory surface or does it flake like a biscuit? Watch out that the hands don't take on an appearance of age. Keep finger nails a bright, shining, healthy pink, with cuticle detached from the nail base. Half an hour of beautifying at bedtime will defy Popper Time's worst efforts.

Spiked heels can cause backaches for the reason that they interfere with the normal actions of the muscles. They throw the upper part of the body forward, bring a bend in the shoulders where shoulders should be straight; send the spinal column into wrong curves. By relaxing the abdominal muscles, they send inner organs out of kilter. Bad things, spiked heels. What's more, few regally dressed, fashionable women wear 'em.

To Farm Buc Southpaw. Cards Win 53 in 67. Beaten Only by Braves. Brandt's Improvement. Derby Speculation. Pitt Giant Reduces.

PIRATES TO RETURN WOOD TO MINORS

HORSERACING ISN'T THE only game in which developments sometimes prove that the future books were all wrong in their estimates of the probabilities. Often they slip up on baseball, too. The case of Charley Wood is the latest example. Last September, when the young Pirate left-hander was standing the big league batters on their heads, the odds were about 10 to 1 that he would not only be a regular starting pitcher for the Buccaneers this season, but that he would also be one of the sensations of the majors. Now the odds are even greater than 10 to 1 that he'll soon be back in the minors, temporarily, at least.

Charley Wood

Wood was left at home when the Pirates went East Saturday night, and President Barney Dreyfuss does not deny that this action on the part of the management probably was the first step in a plan to send the southpaw back to the sticks. It will not be surprising if an early date brings the announcement that Charley has been returned to Wichita or placed with some other minor league club for further development and experience.

WHETHER WOOD WAS brought up before he was wholly ripe for service in the fast set, or took too much for granted on the strength of his success last fall and did not buckle down sufficiently hard to make the most of his opportunity this spring, is a matter for conjecture, but there is no doubt that his work has fallen short of expectations. He has been one of the keenest disappointments in the upper circuits.

Starting three games in three different cities—Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis—Wood failed to go the distance on any occasion. He was woefully lacking in control, and without command of the ball he was unable to approach the effectiveness he showed at the tail-end of the 1930 campaign. Regular work is the only thing that will restore his control, so he is likely soon to be placed where he can get it.

THE SHOWING MADE by the Cardinals this spring in winning 14 of their first 18 games is impressive enough in itself, but at that it is only an added chapter to the start of a great drive that had its beginning early last August. When Phil Collins and his Quaker mates stopped them on Monday after they had won eight in a row the defeat was only the fourteenth suffered by the Redbirds in their last 67 National League games.

On August 9, last year, the Cards barely had their noses ahead of the .500 line, having won 53 and lost 52 contests. Then they found themselves and at the end of the race they had won 92 and lost 62, so that of their last 49 games in 1930 they captured 39.

WITH 14 VICTORIES to their credit against four defeats up to date this season, it follows that, with the world series omitted, the Cards have won no fewer than 53 of their last 67 games, a percentage of .691. Stepping some, it must be admitted. Yet it isn't a record. A similar feat has been achieved within a single season, the Boston Braves having hung up exactly the same figures for their last 67 games in 1914. And the Braves went even further, for they bagged 61 of their last 77 games that year in the National League, and then drove on to four consecutive wins in the world series. So, the Cards will have to win eight of their next 10 games to equal what the Braves did in a straight stretch of 77 National League contests 17 years ago.

Ed Brandt

WHEN THE YEAR'S most improved pitchers are being discussed, Ed Brandt, Brave southpaw, who won his fifth straight victory in the first game of yesterday's double-header with the Reds, cannot be overlooked. He has followed up a drab record in 1930 with one of the most brilliant of the present season.

Brandt has been the only pitcher in the majors to win five games in five starts. Wes Ferrell lost a game and was lifted twice in piling up his five wins, and Fred Fitzsimmons, the only other man to win five, also has been lifted twice. Brandt went the full nine-inning distance every time, beating the Robins twice, and the Giants, Phillies and Reds once each. He has allowed only 14 runs and 29 hits.

THE HUB LEFTHANDER already has more victories and more complete games to his credit for 1931 than he was able to register during all of last season, when he hurled only four complete contests and won only four decisions while losing 11.

Brandt says his improvement is due to an operation for something in the nature of antrum or sinus trouble, which last year gave him much illness and kept him almost constantly in pain from headache. The operation freed him from the ailment, he says, and he is 15 pounds heavier than in 1930.

MANY HORSEMEN STILL refuse to accept Mate's victory in the Preakness as proof of superiority and look for his defeat in the Derby. They admit that if Twenty Grand and Equipoise were truly great colts they would have overcome the interference suffered when they bumped each other, and would have finished one-two in such a field, but while not rating those two as the best ever they insist that they are at least equal and possibly superior to Mate. One veteran holds that the three are so equally matched that if the Preakness were run three times there probably would be three different winners, with racing luck the determining factor.

WITH THE APPROACH of the Derby, the horse that will carry this city's name in the big event next Saturday is attracting increased attention. Theodore E. Mueller's Pittsburgher was sent against a field of Derby eligibles at Churchill Downs yesterday for the fourth time in 19 days, and for the third time he came home in front. In the sixth race, at a mile and a sixteenth, he defeated such prospective Derby starters as Spanish Play, Sweep All, Major Lanphier, Prince D'Amour and The Mongol, in 1:47 3-5.

Derby books have quoted odds of 25 to 1 against Pittsburgher, but he has won considerable new respect by his recent performances. A dry track on Saturday is the hope of his owner. Pittsburgher won in mud yesterday, but as a general rule he doesn't go well on a heavy course. The Mueller stable scored another victory at the same track yesterday when Cayuga, a 6-year-old, defeated Barrido and Brown Wisdom in the fourth race at six furlongs, which had only three starters.

CUTTING DOWN FROM 287 to 229 pounds within the course of a single school year sounds like a pretty big job, and one involving a lot of hard work, but that is the task completed by John Valenti, Pitt freshman.

John Valenti

Valenti reported at Camp Hamilton last fall weighing no less than 287 pounds, but this avoirdupois, instead of helping him to make Skip Gougler's frosh football outfit, only forced him to sit on the bench, as he had to give up job after job to men who could get around faster.

FIRST, JOHN WAS adjudged too bulky for a Sutherland guard, as Jock prefers 170-pounders. Next he was beaten out for the center position by Howard Gelini, a 165-pound converted fullback, and then he failed also to win a tackle berth. Valenti then took stock and started to reduce in earnest. He lost quite a few pounds during the football campaign, held his own during the off-season, mainly by indulging in boxing, and afterward came out for spring football practice. When he weighed in after the final session he saw the indicator point to 229 pounds. As a result of his serious work, Valenti won a chance to play a first-string tackle position on the varsity for quite a spell during the spring drills. If determination counts for anything he may yet get somewhere.

Sports Editor.

Willie Davies, of Charleroi, vs. Jimmy Thomas, of the Hill.

Manager John L. Hernon and Matchmaker W. F. Dummer came up with that bout today as the windup attraction of their opening show in the Hickey Park open-air arena in Millvale one week from tomorrow night.

Willie Davies

It's a local "natural." Davies for some years has been the leading local flyweight and bantamweight, and Thomas, a young Negro star, is the newest rage. He has been fighting only about two years, but has been coming with a rush in recent months. Last Monday night he knocked out Georgie Sotak, of Warren, O., with a clean left hook to the jaw in the fourth round of one of the closing bouts at Motor Square Garden.

They will meet at 118 pounds.

BOUT A "NATURAL"

The bout is so attractive that it's a wonder the club didn't think of it in the first place while angling about for a feature battle for its opening show. Tony Herrera was the original inaugural card. Some difficulty was encountered in lining up a suitable opponent for him and then came word that Tony suffered a badly cut nose and smashed right hand in his bout with Jack (Kid) Berg in Madison Square Garden, New York, last Friday night and would not be able to appear here at this time. The club then sought to make a match between Ted Yarcsz, promising young welterweight, of Monaca, and Bucky Lawless, of Syracuse, but Lawless has been booked for a half dozen bouts around the country following his victory over Young Jack Thompson, the welterweight champion, at Chicago, last Friday night. An attempt to land Sammy Mandell, former lightweight champion, as an opponent for Yarosz also failed and then came the inspiration to match Thomas and Davies.

CHANCE FOR THOMAS

Thomas is in a good spot in this battle. If he wins he will be established as a main-bouter hereabouts and the promoters will have to bring in the better class of opponents for him from out of town. It will mean the end of $50 and $100 bouts for him and a chance to make some real money. He is managed by Abie Witz and is a stablemate of Battling Gizzy, the Donora whirlwind lightweight, who also figures to get some good money shots around here this year.

With Hickey Park set, the Meyers Bowl also is going ahead with arrangements for its open-

SKETCHED IN MARRAKECH 1931

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: KAHENA HAD A HAREM OF 400 HUSBANDS—When Hassan the Conqueror, at the head of his Mohammedan cohorts, overthrew the government of Queen Kahena of the Aures Mountain (the present Timgad), he terminated the last Amazon kingdom in history, ninth century. This last Berber queen is a figure at once glamorous, warlike and ferocious, and the present-day inhabitants of the country she once ruled spoke to me of her with awe and pride. The story of her household containing a harem of 400 men is in perfect keeping with the matriarchal system formerly prevailing in the country. (See: En Noveiri's "History of the Berber Kingdom.") THE HATCHET HAMATCHAS OF RABAT—The Hamatchas constitute one of the two great Mohammedan religious orders of North America. They are the followers of the saintly Sidi Ali ben Hamdush and are noted for their public dancing performances, during which they chop their heads with a small battle ax and manifest a singular appetite for cactus leaves, scorpions, nails and other incongruous objects. As I watched this gruesome performance amidst the rumble of drums, I realized that, as their brothers in India, they must have mastered the art of drawing a maximum of blood from their own heads with a minimum of pain, while their perverted appetite is a matter of long habit. THE MONOGRAM OF CHRIST—Algeria formerly was a Roman colony, settled by veterans of the Roman Legions. Under the influence of the spreading wave of the new Christian religion, the country adopted Christianity at an early date. While I was browsing among the Roman ruins of Tipaza, a delightful little port on the Mediterranean coast, I found this votive stone inscribed with the monogram of Christ. It probably was the votive offering of some early Christian seeker of divine favor, in the days before the country was overrun by its Mohammedan conquerors.

TOMORROW—THE TOWN WHERE RIPLEY COULDN'T STAY.

U. S. GOLFERS NEAR LEAD

SOUTHPORT, England, May 13.—(AP.)—The four Americans competing in the $7,500 Southport professional golf tournament finished their first round today well up among the leaders. Horton Smith, the Missouri youngster, led the Americans with a 71, followed by Joe Kirkwood, with a 72, and Tony Manero and Joe Turnesa, with 75's.

First place among the early players, however, went to Henry Cotton, the young British professional who raised such a rumpus over the rules of the Ryder Cup team and refused to try out for the squad, with a card of 70.

Syd Esterbrook, another British pro, had a 71. W. H. Davies, one of the British Ryder team, had a 75, but George Duncan, who has been playing off his usual form all spring, could do no better than an 80.

Bill Tilden Repeats Win Over Richards

BOSTON, May 13.—(AP.)—Bill Tilden's aggressive play gave him his second victory over Vincent Richards in their professional title series last night before 9,000 spectators at the Boston Garden. Richards forced his former Davis Cup partner to the five-set limit before Tilden gained the match by scores of 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, 1-6, 6-3.

BOWLERS HEAR JUDGE

Members of the Corpus Christi Lyceum Bowling League were addressed by Judge Foster of County Court at their annual banquet at the Penn-Shady Hotel last night. Roland B. Murray was awarded high individual and three-game prizes.

Hafey Ordered To Join Cards In Boston

ST. LOUIS, May 13.—(AP.)—Chick Hafey, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, has been ordered to leave Danville, Ill., for Boston to join the Cardinals, Vice President Branch Rickey announced. Hafey was sent to Danville, a Card farm, by President Sam Breadon when he reported here and signed his contract after a holdout which lasted until the season was under way.

Rickey said club officials were convinced Hafey was in condition for regular work.

PITTSBURGHER HOPE OF WEST

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13.—(AP.)—The western candidates for the Derby had a trial race at a mile and one-sixteenth at Churchill yesterday and Pittsburgher again established himself as the West's Derby hope to defeat the East. The eastern contingent, including the favorites, Twenty Grand, Mate, and Equipoise, having arrived only Monday, did not enter.

Pittsburgher, in turning in a victory, not only defeated such likely Derby candidates as Spanish Play, which was second and Sweep All, third, but showed he can run on a soft track.

BOXING PROBE LIKELY

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 13.—(INS.)—Investigation of boxing and wrestling as conducted in California seemed likely today after a resolution introduced in the Assembly yesterday. The resolution followed a constitutional amendment to place regulation of boxing under control of the Legislature. The amendment, adopted by the Senate, will be placed on the next general election ballot.

Section I

Allderdice	1—Schenley	0
Other games postponed — rain, wet grounds.

Peabody High School's baseball nine rules the Section I roost in the City League today, and didn't have to turn a hand yesterday to do so.

Thanks to superb hurling on the part of Chuck Hayes, of Taylor Allderdice, Schenley High was beaten, 1-0, in the only City League game played, and the Bellefielders knocked out of a tie with Peabody for the top rung.

Schenley outhit Allderdice, 9 to 4, but Hayes' double and Miller's single in the sixth inning brought the triumph. Stratton pitched a good game, but his mates were unable to bunch their hits. The victory was the first of the season for Allderdice.

Rain and wet grounds forced the postponement of all other league frays.

In independent tussles, McKeesport and Turtle Creek finished out in front, McKeesport defeated Duquesne, 17 to 4, in a free hitting tussle, and Turtle Creek matched Rankin's four-run rally in the last inning to gain an 8-to-6 win.

GAINS STOPS VAN GOOLE

LEICESTER, England, May 12.—(AP.)—Larry Gains, Negro, holder of the Canadian heavyweight championship, stopped Van Goole, Belgian titleholder, in the fourth round of their scheduled 10-round match here last night. Van Goole had absorbed a bad beating when the referee halted hostilities.

Fight Results

AMATEUR BOUTS DRAW 50,000

CHICAGO, May 13.—(AP.)—Before 50,000 shivering, teeth-chattering spectators, the biggest crowd in the history of amateur boxing, sturdy fighting sons of America, conquered their French opponents in an international tournament fought last night at Soldier Field, where three years ago Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney drew the greatest crowd that ever saw a ring battle.

The Americans triumphed over the youths from overseas by a score of five victories to three.

Robert Sina, 43, of Kankakee, Ill., dropped dead, supposedly from heart disease, during the bouts. Sina was watching an exciting bout when he suddenly rose from his seat, then fell forward, dead. The summary:

118 pounds—Leo Rodak, Chicago, defeated Andre Perrier, France, decision, 3 rounds; Nick Scialaba of Chicago, defeated Henri Bruyere, France, decision, 3 rounds.

OPENING GAME WITH GIANTS CALLED OFF

By CHARLES J. DOYLE
Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Indefinite suspension of Catcher Ralston Hemsley, of the Pirates, was announced today by Manager Jewel Ens, of the Pittsburgh outfit. Upon receipt of a telegram from Hemsley informing Ens the catcher was ready to join his club, Ens decided to suspend the player. Hemsley was given permission to spend last Tuesday at his home in Syracuse, O. He failed to show up in the remaining days of the week and Owner Dreyfuss and Manager Ens were incensed.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph was in touch with Hemsley's home to get the first-hand information on him. It was said at his home that Rolly was suffering from influenza. Dreyfuss and Ens, however, were indignant because Rolly did not notify them and when the Pittsburgh owner put it up to Ens to handle the case, the pilot decided to suspend the player.

"I have given orders for him to remain in Pittsburgh until I send for him," said Ens. "Meantime he is under suspension. Hemsley should have notified us at once if he was sick and unable to report to his club. We must maintain discipline."

MAY BE TRADED

It would not be surprising if a trade should be effected which would carry Hemsley to another National League Club. Hemsley reported to President Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pirates, in Pittsburgh yesterday, and was told his fate was in the hands of Manager Ens.

The Pirates failed to make their bow to Polo Grounds patrons this afternoon; in fact, they did not put in an appearance at the home of McGraw's Giants.

Shortly before noon, as dark clouds threatened, the New York management called off the day's sport program. The local officials waited for a report from the weather man before they made their move. The Weather Bureau advised them more rain was on the way and, in view of the cold and the general damp conditions all over the section, the Giant directors decided it would be unwise to attempt a game.

It was the third successive postponement for the Giants and the second in a row for the Buccos. The big change in the elements came Sunday night, a few hours after the Pirates had trimmed the Robins in the first game of the Pirates' invasion.

BEAT DAZZY VANCE

Ebbets Field was a bit muddy on the following day, but the Flatbush people elected to stage a contest, and the Freebooters downed the flock with Ol' Dazzy up.

The Giants and Cubs remained idle on that day. The idle spell will hardly hurt the Buccos as they have several players who are in need of rest. Gus Suhr is at home nursing an injured right knee, while Steve Swetonic and Ervin Brame are long-time casualties. Brame, however, is just about ready to do his stuff again. The Ensmen are slated to take on the Giants tomorrow and Friday before they depart for Boston. They will battle the Braves in three games. This series to be followed by a similar setto in Philadelphia.

Pittsburgh will not see the home team again until May 29. After finishing up in the East Thursday of next week, the Freebooters will hustle to Chicago, although they will tarry at Huntington, Ind., on the Friday for the purpose of staging an exhibition game. Three games with the Cubs will get under way on the following day. From Chicago the Pirates will invade St. Louis before returning to Forbes Field to take on the Bears.

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

CLEVELAND, May 13.—When they switched the stuffing recipe of this year's baseball, they certainly did a big favor for the pitchers. Poor old Babe Ruth is just tottering along with a batting average of only about .425 and all the other sluggers are just lifting up little four-base pop flies beyond the flagpole. Yes, sir, that new ball has tamed the heavy hitters so much that when a pitcher steps onto the rubber he is just as safe as Daniel in the lions' den. If this is all the raised stitches on the baseball have done to this season's clouting, then next year they better knit a woolen jacket for the baseballs or else make 'em square.

Rain and cold weather threatened to wipe out the local sandlot baseball schedule for today. The North Side Civics and Dormont game in the City League was postponed shortly after noon, and indications were that many other contests on the slate would follow the City loop fray into the postponed list.

In the event that the weather "takes a turn for the better" by evening, the St. Joachim nine, new West Penn League entry, will play its first game at Moultrie Park, meeting Swissvale Community. The Saints are fighting for a place in the sandlot limelight, and Manager Mike Kudra is confident that his entry will make all of the teams hustle.

A big battle looms in the Commercial and Industrial circuit with Reliance Life, last season champion, scheduled to meet Pittsburgh Coal. It seems a sure bet that Gormley or Spencer will clash with Hale, the former Middle Atlantic League star. This game is worth going a long way to see.

BRODERICKS FACE TEST

In the Steel City loop, Snee Dairy goes to Lawrenceville to meet the D. J. Brodericks. In the same league the Mifflin club travels to the Homewood playgrounds and clashes with the East End Cardinals.

Four big games loom ahead in the Westmoreland County circuit. Whitney goes to North Side, Hostetter travels to Snydertown and Bradenville meets Derry Township.

Crafton-Ingram Church League is still trying to get that opening game under way, and the weather man is putting the damper on many other games in the district. Games are beginning to pile up in the postponed list.

WHITAKER LOSES

The cold weather played havoc with last evening's semi-pro and sandlot card, only a few games being played. In the Greater Pittsburgh League, the Smiths defeated the Whitaker nine, 8 to 6, Voight, Whitaker first sacker, slammed a home run.

In the North Side League, St. Anthonys defeated North Pole, 3 to 0, Lacher turning the losers back with two safe hits.

In the Monon Valley League, Daisytown slugged out a 12-to-7 win over California at Daisytown. The game was played before a large crowd. California went scoreless until the seventh inning.

At Fairhope, the home team nosed out Smithton, 4 to 2, a three-run rally in the fifth inning bringing the triumph.

The D. J. Brodericks added another victory to the list by taking the Mifflin club in a Steel City League tussle, 5 to 2, on the Mifflin diamond. Pete Lewandowski, hurling for the Brodericks, was in fine form, being touched for only four hits.

Europe Ring Union Names Champs

BRUSSELS, May 13.—(AP.)—The European International Boxing Union, meeting here, has recognized Max Schmeling, of Germany, as the world heavyweight champion and voted to recognize the projected bout between him and Young Stribling, the American heavyweight, as for the championship.

They rejected the projected match between Jack Sharkey and Primo Carnera as for any championship.

The union listed its other champions as: light-heavyweight, Maxie Rosenbloom; middleweight, vacant; welterweight, Jack Thompson; lightweight, Tony Canzoneri; featherweight, Bat Battalino; bantamweight, Al Brown; flyweight, Frankie Genaro. All are Americans.

SPORT SHORTS

DETROIT.—(AP.)—Stanley (Bucky) Harris, manager of the Detroit Tigers, has announced that Elon Hogsett, Detroit left-hander, had been released to the Toronto club of the International League, subject to recall on 24 hours' notice.

BOSTON.—A radical change has been made in the athletic policy of Boston University. The university has created a deanship of student health and physical education for the control of all athletic activities.

WIGGINS BEATEN

INDIANAPOLIS, May 13.—(AP.)—Ross Rossles, Cleveland heavyweight, defeated Chuck Wiggins, of Indianapolis all the way in a 10-round boxing contest here last night. Wiggins showed little of his old-time form and was an easy target.

HICKEY PARK CARDS OPENER

ing show of the outdoor season in North Braddock, next Monday night, when Jack (Kid) Berg, of England, former junior-welterweight champion, will meet Ray Kiser, of Tulsa, Okla., in the 10-round windup. It means that both local outdoor arenas will open the season with a splash and a bang, provided they get any sort of a break in the weather.

ENGLAND FOLLOWS BERG

Incidentally, arrangements are being made to cable the Berg fight by rounds to England, where the natives are all keyed up over his exploits in this country. A ringside wire will carry the bulletins to New York, from which point they will be relayed overseas. Thus Pittsburgh's first outdoor show of the year will bring it international advertising, and the name of the Meyers Bowl will become generally known in King George's domain for the first time.

Between Rounds

The prices at Hickey Park this year will be $1, $2 and $3. Only the ringside section will sell for $3, and 3,500 of the 5,000 seats will be available at $1.

The outdoor promoters of the district are keenly interested in the outcome of Jimmy Belmont's battle with Tiger Joe Randall, which will ring down the curtain on the indoor season in McKeesport tomorrow night. Randall holds a victory over Belmont which the latter must erase to qualify for big matches during the summer. One of these is a "natural" with Buck McTiernan, for which both clubs are bidding.

Max Schmeling, the heavyweight champion, will referee a bout between Frankie Palmo and Billy Thomas in Louisville tonight. Earl Mastro and Ward Sparks are in the main bout of this show, one of the Derby Week features of the city.

SENATORS SINK STOGIES TWICE

The first doubleheader of the season in the Middle Atlantic League resulted disastrously to the Wheeling Stogies, but enabled the Charleston Senators to gain a tie for the lead with Johnstown.

Yesterday, the Senators nosed out the Stogies twice, winning an afternoon game, 5 to 4, in 11 innings and taking a night affair, 8 to 7. The two defeats pushed the Stogies down into eleventh place, the only thing that keeps them out of the cellar being that Jeannette has so far been unable to win a single one of its five starts.

All other Mid-Atlantic tussles yesterday were rained out.

Mrs. Hill Wins Low Medal Honor

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 13.—(AP.)—A British-American playoff for first honors in the Mountain Brook Country Club's women's invitation golf tournament appeared possible following low qualifying rounds by Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, and Miss Betty Dix Perkins, England, yesterday.

Mrs. Hill, fourth ranking woman player of the United States, scored an 84 for the 18 holes to take low medal honors, while Miss Perkins came in six strokes behind after running into trouble on the incoming nine. Par for the course is 79.

Horse Pays $249.60 At Kansas City Track

TECH NETTERS HEAD FOR EAST TONIGHT

By JESS CARVER

Carnegie Tech's varsity tennis squad will hop a choo choo tonight and head for the East, where tomorrow it will open a three-day and three-match tour by crossing racquets with Bucknell University's Bisons at Lewisburg.

But before the Tartan representatives leave, they must go through some intra-squad challenge matches to determine the makeup of the squad that will take the trip. Tennis competition at Tech this year has been so tough that Coach Hoover was forced to schedule the test duels on the very afternoon of departure.

The squad will be selected from Capt. Morris, Stuart Dueger, the football quarterback; Berghane, McCloskey, Gesling, Groves, Red Fergus, the basketball star, and one or two others.

So there will be a lot of last minute tossing in of collars and swiping of clean shirts from roommates and other eleventh-hour scurring about in various Carnegie fraternity houses and dormitories this evening. It is a rule, you know, in all fraternity houses, that the first guy up in the morning always is the best dressed. The same goes for a brother who is going away. If he is left alone in a dressing room. Oops, too bad!

After meeting Bucknell tomorrow, the Skibos will take on Temple in Philadelphia on Friday and Georgetown in Washington Saturday.

WATCH THE RECORDS

Only two records were toppled last year in the W. P. I. A. L. championships and the chances are that not many more will be set this Saturday as the boys battle for 1931 honors.

A year ago, Mitter Markovich, of Aliquippa, heaved the shot 45 feet 5 inches for a new standard and Milligan, of Peabody, ran the century in 10 flat. Unless Pryor, of Ford City, who was right on Milligan's heels in that race, can get under 10 seconds this year, there does not seem to be a dash man capable of lowering Milligan's mark.

Muscavich, another Aliquippa hefty, has been threatening to crack 45 feet all spring. If he has a good day Saturday he may take over the record holding in the event. Muscavich, provided he has knuckled down to work since last week, when he made a disappointing showing in the Pitt meet, after cracking a discus record at Geneva the week previous, stands a pip of a chance to establish a new W. P. I. A. L. discus mark.

The Tipoff

Yesterday's practice football game between two picked elevens at Duquesne was called off on account of rain and cold and a too soggy field. An attempt will be made to play the game today.

Connellsville High has a just squawk coming regarding its scoring in the annual Pitt interscholastic meet last Saturday. The Connellsvillians were credited with having tallied eight points and were placed in a four-way tie for fifth place, when they should have been tied for fourth with Peabody.

Smith, of Connellsville, took fourth place in the 440, which was overlooked and the point given to Beaver Falls.

Wash-Jeff's tennis invasion of the East, which was to have opened yesterday with a match with George Washington at Washington, D. C., was rained out. Today, the Presidents engage Navy at Annapolis.

Carnegie Tech's freshmen netters have Shady Side Academy's volleyers to get past at Shady Side today. Yesterday, the Tartan Plebe trackmen defeated Peabody's squad, 62 1-3 to 36 2-3. West Virginia and St. Vincent's have a varsity baseball date at Morgantown this afternoon, weather permitting.

Andy Kerr, the football coach who is always mixed up with a dicker for a new job, will speak at the annual banquet of the Downtown Y. M. C. A. tomorrow evening. Kerr, now at Colgate, has been training about the country speaking before Colgate alumni associations.

Ollie Harris, former Geneva College fullback (and what a fullbacker) is managing and instructing at a driving range in Ambridge. Ollie played pro football for the Ambridge eleven last fall and will be back with the Bridgers next season, provided the town has a club.

Penn State, or any other college, for that matter, never boasted a finer athlete than Frank Didrich, who yesterday was selected as the most valuable athlete for the 1930-31 seasons at the Mt. Nittany institution. And a swell feller, too. He plays football and baseball, and how he plays 'em!

Reed Top Speaker At Slippery Rock

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., May 13.—Johnny Reed, coach of the championship Scott High quintet, was the main speaker at the Slippery Rock High School athletic banquet held here last evening. Other speakers included Chick Davies, Duquesne coach; Bill Campbell, Homestead, and Capt. Eddie Baker, of the University of Pittsburgh.

Nineteen football players, eight members of the men's basketball squad and 10 members of the girls' basketball team received certificates and letters. Neenie Campbell, Homestead, was the men's coach in both football and basketball. He will graduate from Slippery Rock this spring, and next fall take the position of physical director and basketball coach at Ford City High School.

Farrell, Sarazen Go Abroad Tonight

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP.)—Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen, both former holders of the United States open golf championship, sail tonight for England on the Berengaria in quest of the British open title, to be contested over the Carnoustie links in Scotland, starting June 1.

MATMEN BACK TONIGHT

Ivan Vacturoff meets Jim McMillen and Hans Steinke opposes Jim Clinstock.

POLICE HALT BOUT

BALTIMORE, May 13.—(AP.)—A detail of policemen entered the ring here last night to put an end to a wrestling bout between Jim McMillen and Dick Daviscourt when it appeared to them the combantants were getting rough and the crowd was calling "foul."

Oh Susanna Brings $19,000 at Sale

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 13.—(AP.)—John Hay Whitney, son of Mrs. Payne Whitney, owner of the Greentree Stable, paid $19,000, top price in the dispersal sale of former United States Senator Johnson N. Camden's horse-breeding stock at Spring Hill Farm yesterday for Oh Susanna. A total of 83 head sold for $221,220, an average of $2,665.

Oh Susanna is a 9-year-old chestnut mare by the imported Light Brigade, out of Satin, and had won both the Latonia and Illinois handicaps. She had earned 41,967 on the track before retirement. She was sold with a black colt foal by Pocunal.

It's Hospitality Day at the Shannopin Country Club. Hospitality Day at Shannopin marks the formal opening of its competitive season, and members and their guests are playing golf and making merry today, with the club playing the role of host. Following the golf tilts, a big dinner and entertainment are slated for this evening.

Members of the Fox Chapel Golf Club are visiting Allegheny Country Club today for a big team match. The event is similar to the Grogan Cup competition between Highland and Shannopin and the annual meeting between Chartiers Heights and St. Clair.

A dinner match is slated tomorrow at the Greensburg Country Club, individual competition being match play against par under full handicap.

WOMEN START PLAY

Yesterday, Allegheny Country Club defeated Pittsburgh Field Club, 4 to 3; Oakmont set down Edgewood Country Club, 6 to 3, and Stanton Heights nosed out Fox Chapel, 4 to 3, in Section I of the Women's Team League of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania.

The next tilts, with matches in Sections I and II, will be held next Tuesday at the Pittsburgh Field Club and Alcoma Country Club. Yesterday's results:

SCHOOL TEAMS MEET

Both seeking their first triumphs of the season, the golf teams of Taylor Allderdice and Langley High schools will meet in an Interscholastic Golf Conference match this afternoon over the Schenley course.

The Pennsylvania Golf Association has announced that its first one-day medal play event will be staged at the South Hills Country Club instead of at the Pittsburgh Field Club. It is to be played Wednesday of next week, and entries are to be made at 1101 Farmers Bank Building, Atlantic 0519. Handicap cards must be secured by all entrants before noon, May 19. The entry fee is $2.

Chartiers Heights Country Club will celebrate its sixth anniversary with a dinner dance Saturday.

Jimmy O'Donnell, Edgewood pro, has announced that starting times for play at Edgewood Saturday would be taken beginning at 7 o'clock tonight. The regular tees and greens at Edgewood will be opened Saturday.

SEC. I TENNIS PROGRAM SET

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

The Pittsburgh Tennis Association Inter-Club League upper division race for 1931 should prove torrid to the very last, according to the program of play officially released at the annual P. T. A. "tennis night smoker" at the P. A. A. last evening. The freshly announced card calls for Frank Smith's champion Edgewood host to encounter the powerful Winged Head contingent of Dr. Dave O'Loughlin on the suburbanite courts on Saturday, August 1, the windup date for the top group, and inasmuch as these ancient foes seem invariably to battle it out for honors in the stretch, the fact that the schedule and sanction committee has slated them to keep apart until the very last may mean that the titular issue for the new "Davis Keg," emblematic of inter-club net supremacy, will hinge on the verdict of a final tussle bringing together the two favored contenders. Loop jousting will be begun a week from next Saturday.

PERPETUAL SYMBOL

A gathering of several scores of district racquet fans marked the "tennis night," affair and crowned it among the most successful in the annals. Assurance that the eight squads that fought it out for Section I laurels a year ago—Edgewood, P. A. A., College Hill, Stanton Heights, University Club, South Hills, Mt. Lebanon and Westinghouse—will again pursue championship distinction, and this time with added strength and ambition, was greeted with acclaim. The hit of the soiree was President J. Phillips Davis' presentation of the lately-purchased "Davis Keg" to the association as perpetual symbol of the Section I title.

Other features of the entertainment included musical numbers by Southpaw Bob Schmertz' erstwhile Collegiate Imps, of Carnegie Tech, and by Gregorio Scalzo's P. A. A. Salon Trio, vocal selections by L. S. Sander, piano hits by F. K. Freehafer, and readings by W. P. Gifford. The usual excellent luncheon, needless to remark, came in for keen attention.

SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

American Horse Newmarket Winner

NEWMARKET, England, May 13.—(AP.)—The American bred, Sir Andrew, owned by W. Woodward, today won the Newmarket Stakes for 3-year-olds, $5,000 added.

W. Singer's Linkboy was second, and Sir G. Bullough's Reveillon third.

TORONTO GETS PITCHER

TORONTO, May 13.—(AP.)—Glenn Liebhardt, 20-year-old righthander, recently released by the Philadelphia Athletics, has been signed by the Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League, the club officials announced today.

MACKS LEAD IN AMERICAN

Associated Press.

If the 1931 baseball season follows the pattern set by two previous years, the Philadelphia Athletics are due to win their third straight American League pennant. Twice in succession the A's started badly and then breezed through to the championship. This year they were off to a bad start again.

In 1929, Philadelphia required five weeks to get into first place but never was ousted. Last year, the A's dropped as low as fourth early in the season, climbed back to the top in May, dropped out again to regain the post on June 1 for all but two days of the remainder of the season.

GROVE HURLS WELL

It took Bob Grove's pitching and all the slugging the A's are accustomed to give him to win first place and some wet weather in St. Louis came as an added aid. While the New York Yankees were idle in St. Louis, Grove pitched a four-hit game and Simmons, Foxx & Co. batted out a 5-to-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox to give the A's the lead by a few percentage points.

Grove was not the only pitching hero of yesterday's games, however, for every contest which escaped the weather brought forth a good mound performance. Vic Sorrell did the work in the second American League game, pitching Detroit to a 2-to-0 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

BRANDT WINS FIFTH

Ed Brandt, of the Boston Braves, won his fifth straight victory by beating the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 2, in the first game of a doubleheader, then Silas Johnson reversed the decision by a 3-to-2 count in a fine mound duel with Bruce Cunningham.

Brandt's victory, gained through a three-run rally in the first inning, was notable because it gave him one more game this year than he was able to win all last season.

SHOOT TOMORROW

The second regular tourney shoot of the Western Pennsylvania Trapshooters' League will be held tomorrow at the traps of the South Hills Sportsmen's Association. One 100-bird contest and one handicap shoot of 50 birds will be on the program.

YOUNG STARS CHOICES FOR ZONE FINAL

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP.)—Four American youngsters of the tennis courts have been named to carry the colors of the United States against Canada in the final round of the North American zone Davis Cup play.

Gregory Mangin, of Orange, N. J., the graybeard of the quartet, is 23, but he has never played for the United States in Davis Cup competition. The other three are 20-year-olds—Frank L. Shields and Sidney B. Wood, Jr., of New York, and Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans.

In selecting them to meet Canada at Montreal May 21, 22 and 23, the United States Lawn Tennis Association pursued its policy of giving the youngsters a chance and also followed closely the national ranking. Shields is No. 2 on the 1930 ranking list, Wood No. 4, Sutter No. 5 and Mangin No. 6.

John Hope Doeg, national champion and No. 1, was not a candidate because of business, and Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., the No. 3, who played against Mexico, was not available.

On the basis of their play against Mexico, Shields and Wood probably will play doubles against the Canadians, leaving the singles assignments to Shields and either Mangin or Sutter, according to which one shows the best form.

BOBBY JONES' Lessons in Golf

American Open, British Open, American Amateur and British Amateur Champion.

During those occasional periods when a golfer is able to play every kind of stroke automatically, without giving a thought to any detail of method, golf is the simplest and easiest game imaginable. It is in this happy state that the player finds himself when he makes his best scores, and because he has to think only of where he wants the ball to go, and not of how he is going to hit it the best scores are always the easiest to make. But no man, no matter how well he knows what he ought to do, has ever been able to achieve a style into which imperfections cannot creep. Suddenly when the "touch" or the "feel" departs, shots which formerly were played subconsciously and without effort, become problems of the first magniture. To even the best players golf presents a cycle of form which is inexorable—and no man can hold the peak of his game for very long.

Bobby Jones

It is difficult to play golf well when the stroke is not automatic or subconscious, because in giving attention to the manner of swinging the club, some amount of concentration must be distracted from results.

PUTTER MISBEHAVES

Just now, my chief worry is on the putting green, and, although I know perfectly well how I ought to swing the club to get the best results, when I have to think about the stroke, I am forced to remove my attention from distance and direction. No one can play golf well without a sound knowledge of the fundamentals of the stroke, but it is not the ideal situation to be thinking of those fundamentals while tyring to execute a shot.

It is strange how one's confidence and effectiveness, in certain circumstances can be gradually undetermined. When I first arrived at California my putting was all right—at least I was hitting the ball well enough. But I had my usual trouble seeing the line and slopes on the California greens—and the surfaces were slower than I like. For a while—a very short while indeed—I continued to hit the ball well and kept on missing a lot of putts; then I began to study the line more carefully and to try to guide the ball into the hole; then my stroke broke down and I could get neither distance nor direction. On the slow greens, with my uncertain state of mind, I found it impossible to swing smoothly. It seemed that I would always realize that I had not gone back far enough and attempt to make up for it by smacking the putt with my right hand.

RIGHT HAND BLAMED

I nearly always blame my right hand when my putting goes off. When I am putting well the whole thing is practically a left-hand affair. Decidedly I take the club back with the left hand to keep the head close to the ground and inside the line to hole. And then when I hit the ball, the stroke is mostly back-hand and I see to it that the left wrist and forearm move forward with the club so that the finish of the stroke will likewise be low.

The maddening thing is to know these things—if not the perfect way—certainly the best way for me—and not be able to do it. It's the same old story, we have the touch for a while, and then it vanishes for one reason or another, and we grope around for it until we get it back, and, so it goes, over and over again. Maybe it's good that we lose it for a while that we may enjoy the visitor when he returns.

U. S. Boxers Face Italians Tonight

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP.)—Italy's championship amateur boxing team faces a picked American squad in Madison Square Garden tonight. The Italians have won 11 straight team matches on the other side.

McLarnin, Thompson May Box in Detroit

CHICAGO, May 13.—(INS.)—Floyd Fitzsimmrons, one-time partner of Jack Dempsey and now a Detroit promoter, is trying to match Jack Thompson, Negro champion, and Jimmy McLarnin for a welterweight title bout, he has announced.

Ray Alvis, Thompson's manager, revealed that Fitzsimmons had guaranteed $50,000 for the champion's end. The bout probably would be held in Detroit, it was indicated.

COHEN, GOODMAN DRAW

DENVER, May 13.—(AP.)—Mickey Cohen, Denver, and Joey Goodman, Cleveland, fought a 10-round draw here last night. One judge voted for Cohen, the other for Goodman and the referee called it a draw.

OCTANE RATING

59 — BLUE SUNOCO

Average Octane Rating of Regular Price Gasolines

We welcome

OCTANE RATING

the absolute measure of Anti-Knock quality

Automotive engineers agree that gasoline over 70 octane rating is essential for modern motors. Premium priced fuels substantiate this fact by having an average octane rating of 73 7/10 (U. S. Bureau of Mines Report, March, 1931).

BLUE SUNOCO (by the same method of testing) 72+

This premium rating of BLUE SUNOCO, which in and around this city has advisedly been held at 72+, proves it is a high powered, knockless, quality motor fuel . . . yet it sells at regular gas price. You save at least 3c per gallon.

Octane rating has been adopted by the Society of Automotive Engineers as the method for measuring anti-knock value of motor fuels.

BLUE SUNOCO THE ONLY TRUE BLUE

OCTANE

The knockless quality of any gasoline can be duplicated by mixing various proportions of octane and heptane.

"Octane rating" represents the percentage of octane required in the mixture of octane and heptane to duplicate the knockless quality of the gasoline being tested.

HEPTANE—A similar substance but of lower anti-knock quality than any gasoline.

BLUE SUNOCO will not make gum deposits in any motor . . . neither will any other good gasoline

. . . THE PREMIUM MOTOR FUEL AT REGULAR GAS PRICE . . .

TERRIFIC TOLL LEVIED BY IDLENESS

Managerial Failure to Provide Work Narrows All Domestic Markets

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The modern industrial world is paying a terrific price for keeping large numbers of willing toilers idle.

Reference is made not only to the current acute emergency unemployment incidental to the depression, but also to the fact that leading authorities estimate that through the years the average volume of unemployment runs between 8 and 10 per cent. This managerial failure to provide employment for all who are able and willing to work narrows the domestic market for all classes of goods. It makes a vast gap between the desire for the good things of life and the collective ability to purchase them.

Mr. Rukeyser

LOSS HEAVY

Paul H. Douglas and Aaron Director, economists of the University of Chicago, in their stimulating new volume on "The Problem of Unemployment," estimate that in average years—not in years of severe depression like the present—there is a loss in potential earnings of the unemployed amounting in the aggregate to 4.2 billion dollars a year.

Moreover, they estimate that the irregularity in production, which causes unemployment, results also in at least a minimum annual additional loss of $250,000,000 in idle overhead for manufacturing alone.

Unemployment also lays a toll on industry in causing gainfully employed workers to fear that maximum efficiency may cause them to lose their jobs.

Accordingly, in the search for new markets to absorb the potential output of present day industry, it is important to remember that they lie at our door.

WORK SOLUTION

The unemployed could be returned to work through a plan for maintaining economic balance, the vast surpluses, which plague business executives, would tend to disappear.

Until business leaders fully comprehend the economic consequences of unemployment, they will fall short of attaining greater stability in trade.

In spite of prevailing blueness, the statistical indicators emphasize that production in the aggregate for months has ceased to go down. With some phases of the readjustment still uncompleted, the time schedule for a decisive upturn remains uncertain. In the circumstances, the job of business leadership should be less that of watchful waiting than that of courageous planning.

Big Coal Company Plans to Reorganize

NEW YORK, May 13.—Reorganization of Burns Brothers, wholesale and retail dealers in coal and fuel oil, will be undertaken immediately as a result of the denial of a receivership for the company in chancery court in New Jersey, it was said at the offices of the company. No public financing is to be involved in the reorganization.

Canadians Plan To Bolster Silver

WASHINGTON, May 13.—As a means of relieving the silver decline phase of the current world depression, former Prime Minister of Canada Arthur Meigan has recommended an extension of Canadian silver coinage to include $1 and $2 pieces and an increase in the silver content of subsidiary coins.

Stock Exchange Topics

Many Firms Prepared To Take Advantage Of Trade Upturn.

Officials of many of the leading industrial companies of the country have been preparing for the future, but this has been overlooked in the storm of pessimism. Plans have been adopted and in some instances carried out, which will result in a material reduction in costs. Old plants and equipment are being scrapped, which will be reflected later when business is nearer normal. Eventually, it will be realized that the strong concerns did much to strengthen their position during the business depression.

Various commission houses report that their customers have not been entering the market on the upturns. This is a logical result of experiences earlier in the year. Several times since January 1, periods of outside buying have resulted from the belief that a good advance would get under way. The purchasers were compelled to dispose of their holdings at a loss, however, and this has created greater caution. As a result, the operations of the various pools in individual shares and the general rallies recently have had little attraction for the public.

General Electric has been acting better at times recently. Interests who have purchased the stock on recessions suggest that earnings for the first half of this year may not be as unfavorable as the bears have predicted. Sales of refrigerators have been growing steadily, and other lines of products not "strictly electrical" have recorded some gains, they say. This improvement should help offset decreases in other lines. Holders of record of the stock now show a gain of more than 90 per cent over last year.

There is little likelihood that directors of Southern Railway will declare any further common dividends at the June meeting. The board will review the situation at the June meeting and determine to what extent it is proper to supplement dividends so far declared. Results so far this year have not been encouraging.

That favorable dividend and earnings influences are affecting an increasing number of stocks in particular is demonstrated by greater selectivity shown on the downward movement over the last two months as compared with the declines of last November and December. A compilation of 140 stocks reveals that only two issues of this total were able to hold above their June, 1930, lows, when the averages were reaching new bear market lows last December. Taking the same list, it is found that only 53 have moved with the averages into new low ground for the bear market since the trend turned down again at the end of February. With 87 holding above the December lows compared with two which held above the June lows during December, observers who have drawn up this compilation feel that it affords a good measure of the greater resistance that is developing to general selling pressure.

The market's inability to extend its recovery movement is commencing to exert fresh depressing influence on speculative sentiment. Judging by the run of comment in such circles, in most quarters belief had prevailed that the list looked oversold in many directions toward the end of last week and that the way was open for a technical rally of worthless proportions. But each time the market has demonstrated a willingness to turn upward it has encountered some sort of obstacle which it seemingly is unable to hurdle.

Coast Firm to Join National Dairy Co.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—Directors of Golden State Company, Ltd., have approved a plan to consolidate that company with the National Dairy Products Corporation. The plan, to be voted upon by the stockholders at a special meeting called for August 10, calls for an exchange of stock on a basis of one share of National Dairy for two shares of Golden State Company, Ltd.

Gas Firm Leases Stanolind Pipe Line

TULSA, Okla., May 13.—The Stanolind Pipe Line Company's line from Glen Rock, Wyo., to near Kansas City, Mo., which has been used as storage for crude oil, has been leased to the North Central Gas Company and other concerns for a natural gas carrier, it was learned at the Stanolind offices here. The line was built by the Sinclair interests.

EXPORT COPPER REDUCED

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP.)—The price of export copper was reduced a quarter of a cent a pound today to 9.525c a pound, c. i. f. European base ports.

The cut, which brings the foreign price to a parity with 9¼c copper in the domestic market, was not unexpected in the trade. Export copper has been selling considerably above the domestic level for some time, as some copper has been changing hands in the domestic market at 9c a pound despite the fact that producers have remained virtually out of the market and held their metal at 9½c.

BOSTON, May 13.—General Cable Corp. has reduced the price of bare copper wire in carload lots ¼c to 11c a pound.

CHICAGO, May 13.—The Wabash Railroad handled 6,417 revenue cars in the week ended May 9, against 7,545 in the like week of 1930. The road received from connections 9,517 cars, against 10,517 in the week ended May 9, 1930.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, May 13.—Wheat averaged higher and corn lower early today. Liverpool reported increased demand for wheat, with European continental buyers reentering the market and trans-Atlantic native crops late. Opening ⅛ cent off to ⅛ up, wheat afterward displayed firmness. Corn started unchanged to ¼@⅜ down and subsequently receded all around.

STOCK PRICES RALLY AFTER DECLINE

Market Firms Up as Store Shares Are Sponsored; Trading Extremely Dull

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP.)—Resistance of the industrials in the face of further selling in the rails encouraged rallying tendencies in the stock market today. Trading, however, was again afflicted with a severe case of dullness. Second grade bonds were inclined to heaviness, but prime investment issues in all groups held their ground.

Theorists who watch the industrials closely while the rails are declining placed a constructive interpretation on the action of the former group. There was some general selling in the early dealings, when United States Steel reacted to its old low of 109¾, but the market became so very lethargic that shorts grew more timid. Merchandising shares were brought forward cautiously as the leaders of an experimental rally, and the success attending that effort was followed by firming prices elsewhere.

Earlier declines in the rails were reduced. Southern Pacific went down nearly 3 points to 1922 levels. New York Central sagged to 91⅛ and Lackawanna made a record low, off 2 points. Pennsylvania dipped below 50 for the first time since 1926.

Woolworth gave the chain store group the example of a 3-point rally which carried it to the highest price since 1929. Other store shares rallied moderately. U. S. Steel showed a net gain on the upturn.

Another reduction was made in bankers' acceptances rates coincident with a cut in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's buying rate. It was the fourth reduction in three weeks.

The steel industry reviews reported that the decline had been substantially checked by the sustained inquiry for automobile and structural materials. Iron Age placed production unchanged at 47 per cent of capacity. Prices are still weak, especially in heavy melting scrap.

Loadings of freight increased by 16,019 cars in the week ended May 2, which was practically the average seasonal gain for the past several years.

Oil production showed a small decline. Electric power production last week was 2.4 per cent under a year ago, compared with a loss of 3 per cent in the previous week.

BURR & CO. QUIT EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, May 13.—George H. Burr & Co., prominent investment house, has retired from membership in the New York Stock Exchange, and will discontinue its brokerage business.

The firm will continue to transact commercial paper and general investment business as heretofore. It has specialized in chain store issues, and sponsored Burco, Inc., a general management type of investment trust.

The firm became a member of the stock exchange less than a month ago, on April 15, when it absorbed Hickie, d'Assern & Co., of which Howard F. Hickie was a member of the exchange. Mr. Hickie, together with T. D. Heed and J. J. Farrell, are withdrawing from George F. Burr & Co. Mr. Hickie will retain his stock exchange seat, becoming a private floor broker.

Electricity Output Shows Improvement

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Electricity output by public utilities of the country in the week ended May 9, a figure always watched with interest, was 2.4 per cent under the same week of 1930, but was an improvement over the preceding week, which was off 3 per cent. Improved comparisons with 1930 in this field cannot be unexpected now, since at this time last year the trend downward from levels heretofore prevailing was becoming increasingly marked, whereas the present trend appears to be more level.

English Woolworth To Change Capital

NEW YORK, May 13.—F. W. Woolworth directors, who are large stockholders, have approved a plan providing for a stock dividend and the alteration of the capital structure of F. W. Woolworth & Co., Ltd., England.

The action will have the effect of making it a public company instead of a private one.

Brentwood Bank Elects Cashier

John K. Blair, well known in local banking circles, has been elected cashier of the Brentwood State Bank to succeed J. H. Tritchler, who recently resigned. Formerly Mr. Blair was connected with the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A.

Standard Textile Adds 3 Directors

YOUNGSTOWN, May 13.—Carl W. Brand, Cleveland; Warren Bicknell, Chicago, and A. E. Adams, Jr., Youngstown, were elected to the board of directors of the Standard Textile Company.

Rail Leaders Consider Higher Rates

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

AT THE MEETING OF RAILROAD executives held in Chicago last week to devise ways to compensate for the loss of traffic and earnings, two plans were suggested. One group of rail leaders favored an increase in rates. Another went into the conference believing that lower wages offered the better solution.

Serious objections can be found to both plans. Differing conditions facing individual lines make it almost impossible for all the roads to agree on a definite program.

There is room for much doubt about the power of either move to be of any real help to the railroads because of unfavorable developments which might overbalance the advantages.

Rates May Affect Traffic

IT IS KNOWN that many of the railroad presidents are seriously opposed to any blanket increases in freight rates. The rapid development of truck competition has been materially helped by the lower costs obtainable in moving many types of commodities. The railroad men are afraid that higher freight rates might pave the way for the diversion of even larger volume of traffic to other channels.

While the number of railroads which are seeking general upward revision of rates is small, most officials believe that there are certain classes of traffic which could easily bear a larger share of the cost of freight transportation. Needless to say, they are thinking of commodities which are not particularly suited for motor truck transportation. It is quite probable that the railroads will ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to allow advances in the rates on materials of this kind.

The railroads claim that they are entitled to more compensation for their services because of the gradual whittling away of freight rate structures on the petitions of various groups of shippers during the past 10 years.

Action on Wages Uncertain

THE CARRIERS ARE GOING at the wage question even more cautiously. First of all they have to consider the effect on general economic conditions of wage cuts reducing the purchasing power of a group of workers as large as that employed by the railroads.

In addition, most types of railroad employes are strongly unionized. Any change in the scales would have to be made with the co-operation of rail labor leaders if trouble is to be avoided.

The effect of wage cuts on operating efficiency is also being considered. A large share of railroad employes are not working under direct supervision as are the workers in industrial plants. Freight train crews, particularly on local runs, could easily extend the time of their trips to get overtime. Employes dissatisfied by wage cuts could impair operating efficiency to an extent which would nullify the savings from lower wages.

Shorter Day Suggested

THE SHORTENING OF THE RAILROAD working day from eight to six hours has also been under consideration. On most lines, however, this would involve costly changes of divisions points and would result in operating difficulties which would be hard to overcome.

While attempts surely will be made to increase rates on some commodities, it is generally believed that the railroads will let the wage question alone.

The carriers may secure some relief from higher rates in the future, but rail officials are gradually becoming convinced that their real battle must be fought on the grounds of service. Lower costs have been only one reason for the increased use of trucks. Convenience has played an important part. The railroads will have to find ways of supplying equivalent types of service.

Some of the development which may make it possible for the railroads to compete with trucks on a more favorable basis will be discussed in future articles in this column.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Guesswork?

Sleuth Hogan Again Seeks Aid of Delancy

Detective Sergeant Morrisy stood on the short end deck of the ancient brick barge that had been towed back and forth between Haverstraw and the Hudson River docks for many a decade.

"Look," he said to Detective Peter Hogan, "isn't that your society friend who did a couple of good tricks at guessing?"

"Sure, Sarge, only have a heart, that was no guesswork he did—he used his bean."

"Yeah?"

"Yeah. You don't suppose he actually knew three crooks he'd never seen. He just guessed that they looked like modern gangsters, and because you didn't know them, he guessed they would be strangers."

Hogan looked sourly at his superior.

"He used his bean, Sarge."

"Guesswork, that's all. If you play the old wheel and guess often enough you guess where the pill will fall once in a while."

"But, Sarge, Delancy was on only two cases with me and he got both of 'em right."

Sergeant Morrisy shook his head. He was a capable detective, but stubborn. He hated to admit that a wealthy society chap with no police experience whatever could step in and unravel mysteries that old-timers fell down on.

"Go call him over, then, and get him to tell us the answer to this one."

"A cheap murder like this? Listen, Sarge, Delancy wouldn't be bothered."

An Ordinary Case

"I thought so."

"Look here. Get him in on some big cases full of trouble and without clues, something worth while, not an ordinary low-down case like this—"

"Hello there, Peter!"

Marvin Delancy, scion of an aristocratic family and noted for having lived like an aristocrat without a breath of a scandal, had recognized Hogan.

"Hello Mr.—hello there, Marvin."

Detective Hogan remembered that Delancy had made him agree to call him by his first name.

"So 'tis Peter an' Marvin between ye—thicker'n that, you an' this rich swell," Sergt. Morrisy muttered, grinning at Hogan.

"Shush up," Hogan warned.

"What's up, Peter—a floater?" Delancy asked.

"May I intrude?"

"Sure, Mr. Delancy," Sergt. Morrisy called.

Delancy came ashore and around to where the old barge was moored. A policeman at the narrow plank stepped aside and he went on the barge.

"You wouldn't like to bother with this," Hogan said, hastily. "It's a drunken old river character who's been killed. She's been known for years as 'Big Molly' and has lived mostly on one barge or another."

"Murdered, wasn't she?"

"I'll say," Sergt. Morrisy agreed.

"A murder is a murder, as I understand it. A man can be electrocuted as entirely and as completely for murdering a bum as for murdering a great statesman or financier."

Investigates Cabin

"Well, sir, from my years of experience, I'd say the chances would be in favor of the guilty party with the biggest pull."

"May I take a look around?"

Marvin Delancy wanted to shudder and back out of that little cabin on the end of the barge, but he knew that Detective Hogan and Sergt. Morrisy were watching him. More, he felt, in a way, that Sergt. Morrisy held some sort of an antipathy for him. He guessed that Morrisy considered him to be just another silly amateur who had a fleeting hobby of playing at Sherlock Holmes.

So he looked about the little cabin.

The body of "Big Molly" had been taken to the morgue, but nothing else had been molested.

There was a broken chair, a smashed stool and the bunk was sagged down at one end. Tin and crockery dishes were scattered about.

"It was just a low-down drunken fight," Detective Hogan hastened to explain, "nothing you ought to bother about—too common, nothing to fuss about."

"Then you know who killed the poor old hag?"

"Oh, no—and it doesn't matter," the sergeant said.

"Perhaps not, except here's something to be solved—that's where the fun comes in," Delancy said, earnestly.

"If you can see any fun in a case of this sort—"

"I selected the wrong word. I mean that it ought to be interesting."

Marvin Delancy picked up the stool and examined it; he picked up some broken and unbroken bottles. He did not seem to mind about the bloody stains on them and he examined them with great care.

Disagrees With Sergeant

Sergt. Morrisy winked at Hogan.

"Listen, Mr. De—I mean, Marvin, this isn't worth a thought. It was just a drunken brawl. The ambulance doc said she was so full of gin you could wring her out. Some worthless bum, some wharf-rat or other brought in booze and they got in a drunken fight and he killed her. The world is better off without her sort," Detective Hogan said, earnestly.

Sergt. Morrisy, no fool at studying human expressions, became uneasy. Marvin Delancy seemed to show great interest all of a sudden over hand and finger marks. Morrisy began studying some stains against the door jamb, and the edge of the broken-down bunk.

"I saw them, plenty of them. Not glove marks, Sergeant. I must differ with you."

"I know glove marks. The man was left-handed and wore a glove on that hand. Now and then he touched something with his right hand and there we see the lines, whorls and other markings we know in finger-print work.

Marvin Delancy smiled and shook his head.

"Oh, come now, Sarge," Hogan begged, fearing that the sergeant would insult his aristocratic young friend who was so keen on detective work.

Suspect Arrested

"Cannot agree with you, Sergeant."

"But, man, it's there, plain as your face—not a finger print mark, nor a curve or loop or whorl, just flat solid blotches caused by a soft kid glove making the stains."

Delancy looked about a little more and stepped out into the air. He wiped his hands on a handkerchief and tossed it away with a faint expression of disgust.

"The man who murdered the old woman," Delancy said, "was a bricklayer."

"Huh!" snorted Sergt. of Detectives Morrisy.

"A bricklayer," Delancy insisted.

"Now if you had said a brick handler that might be within reason, Mr. Delancy, for men are hired to unload the brick brought down on these barges from Haverstraw, but why do you say it's even a bricklayer—a guess that she would know such men?"

"A bricklayer lifts the bricks with his left hand, he holds the trowel in his right. The bricks finally wear down the skin on his fingers as smooth as glass, all the lines and whorls are worn away, his fingers make a mark like those of gloved fingers. He was beating her with his right hand and grasping things, hanging on, with his left."

The men who were searching up and down near these docks finally found a man dead drunk under the viaduct. He was thoroughly blood-stained.

Furthermore, he was a bricklayer and he was proven to be the man who killed "Big Molly."

Morrisy shook hands with Delancy.

lock down his brow, and simulating unconcern by feeling very concernedly along the rear edges of her shining curtain of coiffure.

"Dr. Felix Gerkes, of the National Museum and a scholar of considerable consequence, is going to make his home with us. I suppose you know that, Jennifer?

A sense of relief ran through Jennifer. Thank Heaven, he had not got wind of the whole silly business of "Casanova, Be Careful."

"I'm like the fellow, Father, when it comes to science, who kept 'Stones of Venice' on the geology shelf of his library."

"Dr. Gerke's scientific achievement is by no means all there is to him, Jennifer. I want you to cultivate him."

"That's impossible. I'm late as it is for early dinner with the Delaney Stuarts. Shibby sails tomorrow."

The name "Shibby Stuart" was no more anathema to him than a dozen others which were constantly on the lips of his wife and daughter. In fact, there were important reasons of diplomacy why there should be an entente cordiale with Delaney Stuart, president of an Eastern Federal Reserve Bank, with which the Rarick Chain, Inc., had enormous transactions. But the picture of Shibby Stuart as he had once seen her lying sick-drunk on a couch in his house, during one of Jennifer's dinner-dances, rose crazily before him.

Ordered to Stay Home

"You will remain at home for dinner tonight. It may help you to remember you have a home."

"Don't be absurd, father," said Jennifer, and began pulling at the net edge of her handkerchief. Her rage, which she felt hitting in hot points against her eyeballs, was out of all proportion to the dilemma of being obliged to cancel her dinner with Shibby Stuart.

"It isn't often I make demands, Jennifer. I let weeks go by without so much as seeing you at the dinner table. This is one of the times I want you here."

"You should have given me warning."

"You should have had sufficient judgement to know there comes a time when a halt must be called, if you won't call it yourself. You haven't sat down to dinner in this house for three weeks or more."

"Why should I? Everything I do gets on your nerves. If I'm so much as called to the telephone, you humiliate me before a butler by refusing to let me answer it."

"If I say the moon is made of green cheese, then I've said something off-color. Hell! why should I want to stay at home, father?"

Becomes Enraged

"Miss Jennifer will join us at dinner," he said to an immediate butler.

She waited until the door had closed again, and then, with her face set and her hands clenched and her gown making jangling little sounds as the quivers of her wrath shot through her, she lowered her face until it almost touched her father's.

"I just hate you sometimes," she said, and began to cry the invariable tears of anger and humiliation to which these scenes could reduce her. "I wish I had the guts to go out and scrub floors for a prostitute, rather than put up with being treated like one here."

A fit of trembling that went through him like a tree-shake caught him at the words which came off her lips, which were so close to his face that it was as if he could feel their shape.

"You will have dinner at home tonight, Jennifer, even if your temper does turn you into a barmaid."

"It must be a splendid feeling to have to force the members of your family to your side."

"It is, Jennifer," he said, and looked at her with what, for a moment, threatening to disarm her, seemed like a film across his eyes. She sat down, still pulling at the net edge of her handkerchief and every so often scraping it angrily along her wet cheeks.

"Well, now you've got me, what is it you want with me? I suppose it isn't asking too much to be allowed leave of absence to get a message off to the Stuarts. God knows what I am to say."

He beat the gong again. "Telephone Mrs. Delaney Stuart that, owing to an unavoidable change in her plans, Miss Jennifer will be unable to come to dinner tonight."

Willing to Learn

"Now what? I suppose I am to spend a jolly evening at home talking isinglass, or blue grottos, or dinosaurs' eggs, or whatever it is one talks to fossil-finders."

"I want you to meet a great and simple person, Jennifer. A man who has not grown simply great in his work, but great simply.

"Cultivate Dr. Gerkes, Jennifer. Cultivate Gerkes. You want to learn."

He knew he was being roiling and didactic and tiresome again, but to his surprise she flashed a tear-stained face at him that was lit with a sudden sweetness, a clear-eyed curiosity to it that was reminiscent of the small brown jug of a girl who had bounded Missouri.

"I do, father! I know I'm all of a total loss. I'm on to myself, don't you forget it. I want to sit at the feet of somebody and learn. God knows I don't know anybody with a pair of feet like that.

"Trot out his wise guy, father. I'll chuck everything and stay home at the indoor sport of improving my so-called mind. Do you think he'd like to collaborate with me on a book I've long had in mind, called 'Sex O'Clock?' Really, father, I am in favor of more and better brains."

Charming Frock in Sizes 16 to 44

Pattern 2144

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS.

The styling of this frock is based on slenderizing lines. The slim yoke reflects this tendency as does the joining of the skirt flare in downward points. Replacing sleeves, are the flared capelets so much in vogue this season. You may wear a belt, of course, but the waistline tucks are smart and do not tend to cut the figure. Pattern 2144 is lovely in georgette, chiffon, voile, flat crepe, etc.

Obtainable only in sizes, 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 3⅜ yards of 39-inch fabric. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

STUFFY LOOKING! MY WORD. THIS IS A MOTORING OUTFIT TO GO WITH THE NEW CAR I'M GETTING FROM THAT ESTATE
I'M TIRED OF SMALL CARS. I WANT SOMETHING BIG AND ROOMY. A ROBIN-EGG BLUE LANDAULET WITH TWO TONE INTERIOR FINISH. SIDE MOUNTED WIRE WHEELS, BALL-BEARING COWL LAMPS AND 17 OTHER UP-TO-DATE SNAPPY IMPROVEMENTS.
HA, FROM WHAT YOU SAY I KNOW YOU'VE SPENT THE DAY RIDING AROUND WITH AUTO SALESMEN.
OH, I'LL ADMIT I LOOKED AT SEVERAL JOBS. BIG STUFF. ONE FOR $6500 WAS NICE BUT I DIDN'T LIKE THE WAY THE TRUNK RACK FITS TO THE BODY. ANOTHER $9000 JOB I SAW WAS THE WRONG COLOR.
I'LL ADMIT $10,000. OR $15,000 SEEMS LIKE A LOT OF MONEY TO PAY FOR A CAR BUT WHEN YOU'VE GOT MONEY YOU CAN'T DRIVE UP IN FRONT OF SWELL CLUBS, AND SO FORTH, IN A CAR THAT LOOKS LIKE PART OF A CABOOSE MOUNTED ON A TRACTOR.
IMAGINE! WHAT THAT ESTATE NOTION IS DOING TO THE BUNGLES! WE'RE BEHIND IN THE RENT AND YOU'RE TALKING ABOUT BUYING TWO OR THREE $20,000 CARS. HA!

Danger of Tax Increase

Mr. Bamford's Suggestion That Council Start Planning Budget Is a Good One.

Former Mayor Magee warned in an address before the Real Estate Board on April 28 that the city tax rate will be raised next year unless sharp cuts are made in expenditures or new sources of revenue are found.

Three items of revenue from which the city received $1,300,000 this year will not be available in 1932—the $500,000 derived from surrender of the bank deposit insurance fund, the $500,000 which the garbage contractor returned, and the $300,000 which the Pittsburgh Railways Company is supposed to pay annually.

It seems, therefore, that the only hope of preventing a tax increase lies in cutting expenditures.

J. W. Bamford, of the Building Owners and Managers Association, has asked Council to begin study of the 1932 budget now and to grant citizens a hearing. The suggestion is a good one. It is none too soon to take the matter up in view of the seriousness of the situation and the urgent necessity of saving every cent that can be saved.

The tax burden is already crushing. Pittsburgh's municipal expenditures, which ran about $20,000,000 a year from 1921 to 1926, have increased at the average rate of nearly $2,000,000 a year since then and now amount to $29,000,000. To raise this enormous sum the tax levy has been increased to a figure almost without parallel in the other large cities of the United States.

The high tax rate is affecting business. Mr. Bamford reports that 180 stores in the downtown section are vacant. One reason why they are vacant is because the rentals are high; and the rentals are high because taxes are high.

Drastic retrenchment is in order.

Council's attitude on the matter has thus far not been reassuring. Council has done nothing as yet on the recommendations of the Building Owners and Managers Association and the Real Estate Board for changes in the municipal buildings and markets which would reduce expenses and increase revenues.

Mr. Bamford's call for action deserves the indorsement of all the trade and civic bodies.

Doom of the Blue Law

Passage yesterday by the House of Representatives of the Denning bill, authorizing Sunday baseball games in municipalities whose voters approve, is the handwriting on the wall which foretells the doom of the blue law.

The Senate may defeat the measure. Gov. Pinchot may veto it. But it is inevitable that with public sentiment overwhelmingly opposed to the antiquated and unreasonable Sunday restrictions now in the law books they will not be permitted to remain there for more than a few years at most.

The situation may be compared to a boxing contest in which one of the contestants has been dealt a staggering blow and is plainly on the verge of being knocked out. He may last a round or two longer, but defeat is inevitable. The referee in such a case not infrequently declares the man beaten and stops the bout to save him from injury.

The Senate or the Governor may prolong the blue law fight for a session or two, but the sensible thing would be to admit the blue law is doomed and end the contest.

Relaxation of the Sunday restrictions will make Sunday a pleasanter day for millions of Pennsylvanians and harm no one.

Voting Machine Outlook

Encouraging news comes from both ends of the state in regard to voting machines.

An official of the Poole Engineering Company, which has the contract to supply Allegheny County, promises to deliver all of the machines by August 15, and samples for demonstration purposes at a date sufficiently early to let the voters learn how to operate them.

In Philadelphia a citizen who had filed a suit to prevent the installation of voting machines has agreed to withdraw it if satisfactory proof is given that the device conforms to the legal requirements. Secretary of the Commonwealth Beamish has accordingly arranged for a test, with a jury of newspapermen to decide if the machine complies with the demands of the law, and the complaining taxpayer has consented to abide by their verdict.

The prospect is accordingly brighter for honest elections next autumn in the two cities of the state where voting frauds have been most notorious. And that is cause for satisfaction.

Quick Proof of Value

Police Radio System Promises to Make It More Difficult For Criminals to Escape.

The second message broadcast over the new police radio system was that an automobile had been stolen from a North Side garage. Four hours later one of the cruising cars which had picked up the message found the stolen machine.

The police radio promises to make things more difficult for criminals in Pittsburgh; they are not going to find it so easy to escape hereafter.

The success of the new method of communication gives the Sun-Telegraph particular satisfaction because it was the Sun-Telegraph that proposed its adoption.

About a year ago Director Clark, of the Department of Public Safety, and Supt. Walsh, of the police bureau, were given a demonstration which satisfied them of the feasibility of the plan. Action by Council followed.

It is gratifying to have been of service.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

When Will Women Wake Up?

If there is a love-famine in the larger cities of this fair land, as has been asserted, it is only what I have been predicting (with tears in my eyes) for several years.

* * *

The real reason for the love-depression is a psychological one, far deeper than any of these. And its middle class name is prodigality, satiety—TOO MUCH WOMEN!

* * *

When a man has had enough of anything—food or drink or love—he doesn't want any MORE. That's natural. Too much emphasis on sex-appeal, too much dalliance along the rose-colored way, too much free and easy love-making—these have deadened the average man's senses and sent his imagination into a coma.

* * *

Too much frank camaraderie with woman has killed his curiosity. The love-feast spread out for his eternal delectation has robbed him of his appetite and given him emotional nausea.

* * *

Woman, whom Michelet once called "the Sunday of Man," has become just as commonplace as the Monday morning wash-line! When will women WAKE UP, and learn that all the physical beauty in the world will not stir a man's imagination, when it is spread before his eyes as frankly as the Monday wash?

Nobody would want to put woman back into the stuffy cocoon of mid-Victorian conventionality. Nobody would care to wrap her up in the cotton batting of mock modesty, or the sickly sentimentality of an age that invented candy hearts and lace paper valentines.

* * *

But, in rushing to the other extreme, blaring up the bands of her soul and flaunting all her emotions out of the front window, she has OVER-ADVERTISED herself.

* * *

Fortunately, woman is the only thing that the Lord made for men to love and marry. Men must still have women in their lives—but they don't need romance. It is women who MUST have romance, and who is wailing that there is a "love-famine."

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 13.—European artists cheer our architectural triumphs, but boo our statues. In their opinion they are a mess and not worth a second artistic glance. Some of the most distinguished have said the nearest thing to statuesque splendor is the Washington Arch.

Yet even this in comparison to the Victory Arch in Berlin or the Arc de Triomphe looks runty and scanty. Enemies of Tammany say the grip the organization has on the metropolis has spoiled freedom in city planning and shorn it of much beauty.

New York has attained generous building beauty in spite of the throttling, but at the same time it has more civic eyesores than any other large American city. Spots have been worn slick in public parks and beautiful vistas are splotched with debris.

There are no public flower gardens of distinction. Benches along broad thoroughfares are often in a state of dilapidation. Weeds sprout along many enticing paths. Little public triangles frequently resemble those splotched paintings on burlesque back drops.

The Metropolitan opera is a hideous and gloomy monstrosity, suggesting one of those abandoned spoke factories out by the water towers. Some of the seats are torture racks. In the center of the city the streets are in a perpetual state of excavating disorder.

Even the Statue of Liberty is in constant need of brightening. It is inspiring only as a symbol. The statue in Greeley Square is squat and awkward. Few ever notice it. That is true of Verdi's statue at Broadway and 72d street. And dozens of others.

It is said that when Radio City is finished, the metropolis will have an invigorating relief from its civic atrocities. There will be footbridges spanning sweeps of flowered landscaping and an overtone of imposing edifice. But this is a private enterprise. Not the city's.

* * *

New York's lack of vision in beholding its opportunity for beauty is encompassed in a verse called "The New Yorker" by Bert Leston Taylor:

Three thousand miles of broad
Three thousand miles of smiling country at its feet;
He sits enthroned 40 stories high and sees before him—Broadway!

* * *

A story persists that songs of a famous Tin Pan Alley composer are the creations of a crippled young Negro in Harlem who is on a $5,000 yearly salary for life. So long as he keeps mum.

* * *

When I hear of such duplicities I confess to a pronounced skepticism. Among my taunting letters at intervals are correspondents in Columbus, O., and Chicago, who insist these trivialities are written by my wife. It would be fine if she did and I'm quite certain she could do the job much better. But not only will she not write them; it is becoming increasingly difficult for me to cajole her into reading them.

* * *

Recently I saw a touching farewell between a Japanese valet and his master. The Jap had been in the same service for 17 years and was returning to his native land to fulfill a filial duty. He walked into a gathering of after dinner guests who had known him for years, shook hands quickly with each in his mincing Nipponic way and, approaching his master, bowed low. "You will never know, sir," he half choked, "my sorrow and my eternal devotion." And he turned like a flash and walked stiffly out of the room. And a lot of galoots in a delicious confusion were suddenly using their handkerchiefs and trying to crack wise.

* * *

This morning I visited the room in a little family hotel where I once lived on what is now rowdy West Seventy-third street. It was the generating ground of this quixotic adventure in syndication. And was home for my three happy first years in New York. Yet I found it depressing. On my way home I wondered if those who attain heaven look back on what seemed the happy world they left in the same way.

EARTH'S ERRATIC JOURNEYS

By Archibald Henderson

The relativity of all motion, and new modes of arriving at relative velocities, are nowadays much to the fore in the public consciousness. The contributions of Einstein and the numerous discoveries of astronomy have focussed attention upon the strange and erratic behavior of many of the heavenly bodies. Elaborate methods have been devised for determining all the peculiar motions of celestial bodies, their direction and velocities. There is now strong grounds for the belief that the entire universe itself is flying apart, each celestial body of appreciable mass slowly separating from every other such body, as the result of loss of mass, with consequent weakening of the mutual force of gravitational attraction.

The earth presents itself as an extraordinary illustration of a body having many different motions, consequent upon the many and varied forces perpetually tugging away at it. The familiar, but obviously erroneous view is that the earth moves in an elliptical, plane orbit around a sun which, for the purposes of argument, is assumed to be momentarily still. But, of course, the sun is not still. Indeed, it is moving through space, as we say, at about 18 miles per second in the direction of the constellation Lyra.

Naturally, by reason of gravitational attraction, it carries the earth along with it, revolving about the sun as it goes at an average speed of about 18.6 miles per hour. The natural result, then, is that the earth travels through space in the form of an elliptical spiral—a path approximating the thread of an oval screw.

Yet this does not account for the phenomena as a whole, for the sun is revolving around the center of the Milky Way with a speed of about 180 miles per second. The earth follows the sun in this motion, likewise; so that we must think of the oval screw itself as constantly turning around, not upon its axis, in space, as the earth follows the course of its helical thread.

Moreover, the earth is subject to certain oscillatory motion as the result of the movements of its axis. First, the axis of the earth is not exactly placed to accord with the roughly symmetrical shape of the earth. Second, the shape and weight of the earth are subject to variations, due to the changes of the seasons, the periodic fluctuations in weight caused by the successive forming and melting of vast masses of ice and snow. In consequence, the axis of rotation of the earth is constantly wabbling—moving back and forth, by small amounts which nevertheless can be determined. The first motion causes the poles to trace a circle, 26 feet in diameter, every 14 months. The second force causes the poles to describe another figure in space—a rather thin ellipse about 30 feet long—in a year's time.

Another curious phenomenon is the fluctuating but roughly periodic expansion and contraction of the earth, which has been happily described as a sort of breathing. The resulting change in the diameter of about 8,000 miles is never more than two feet. Furthermore, as a result of the friction of the tides, there is a periodic change in the velocity of rotation. Each day it has been estimated, is longer than the preceding by about one-fortieth part of a millionth of a second.

Revision of Anti-Trust Laws

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

UNDER the challenge of disturbed business conditions, the demand to modernize the anti-trust laws appears to be growing.

In 1890, when the Sherman law was passed, the main impulse was to protect consumers and small business men from exploitation by corporations, which, it was feared, were capable of monstrous atrocities.

Today, with at least 5,000,000 persons unemployed, the emphasis is on the broader question of social engineering, namely, how to keep the instrumentalities of production and the means of paying for consumable goods in balance.

Modern corporate engines of production and distribution have become so enormously complex that it is necessary to deal with them affirmatively and constructively, if they are to be turned effectively to the service of men.

A new setup will deserve social sanction only if it also heightens the prospects of competent workingmen for steady and uninterrupted employment.

The corporation as such deserves little consideration from Congress, but should be judged mainly in the light of its usefulness in facilitating the major task of Americans to earn a decent livelihood and to maintain a high standard of living.

Candor compels recognition that the older dogma, as exemplified in the anti-trust laws, that unbridled competition points the way to national welfare, is fallacious.

Under present complex economic conditions, blind and uncoordinated competition heightens stresses and strains in the economic structure, which periodically bring about severe breakdowns of prosperity. The evil is not to be measured simply by a contraction of the volume of trade or a shrinkage in business profits, but in loss of opportunity to millions of energetic workers of an opportunity to earn bread, clothing and shelter for themselves and their families.

UNDER conditions of artificially stimulated competition, especially in the great raw material industries, there has developed shocking economic waste, which makes us all poorer.

Perhaps the country has paid too high a price for protecting the sentimental right of the unfit as well as the fit to go into business on his own.

In oil, in coal, in copper, for example, the bad results have not simply been in interrupted employment and transient waste, but also in the permanent and unnecessary depletion of precious national resources, which will be greatly missed in the future.

Efforts under the stimulus of the administration to rationalize the operations of the petroleum industry have been frustrated by a ruling of the Attorney General that proposed remedies might run counter to the spirit of the Sherman act.

In other fundamental industries, if there were less blind competition and more wise co-operation, which considered the interests of the trade as a whole, rather than of individualistic competitors, it would be increasingly practicable to forecast demand and regularize production through the year, instead of continuing the inhumane system of working overtime in one season of the year and closing down plants in other seasons.

THE business situation abounds with opportunities for watchful managers to slough off wasteful practices which in the aggregate lay a heavy cost on consumers. Congress should remove the barriers which prevent industry from making full use of scientific methods.

It is unthinkable, of course, to remove from the public the protection which the present anti-trust laws give from exploitation by plunderers in control of corporations, without substituting proper safeguards.

The price which industry would have to pay for freedom from unrestricted competition would be submission of certain of its activities and decisions to a public regulatory body.

Public utilities and railroads are already in such a relationship with public commissions.

At first blush, it would appear that the Federal Trade Commission is the logical body to keep new style trade agreements in the public interest.

BUT if this important work is to be turned over to that body, the president of the Senate should become alive to the need of raising the personnel of the commission to the highest standards of American excellence.

As matters now stand, jurisdiction over the questionable anti-trust activities of corporations in the federal field is divided between the courts and the Federal Trade Commission.

The real issue in anti-trust legislation is not whether corporations should be released from social control, but whether the task of evolving changing public economic policy should be delegated to the courts or to an administrative body.

THE issues incidental to rationalizing the processes of trade do not involve criminality, such as the courts are accustomed to deal with, but interpretation of broad policy, which is largely an administrative function, provided the regulatory body stays within general principles laid down by Congress.

It should be feasible, in the interest of efficiency, for trade units to take agreements lying in the twilight zone for approval or disapproval in advance, just as the railroads may submit railroad merger plans for official sanction.

Since the war, the whole tendency has been to depart from the original rigid conceptions in the Sherman act. The transportation act of 1920 exempted the railroads from some of the restrictions; the Edge act freed companies engaged in foreign financing, and the Webb act, associations engaged in the export trade.

THE COMMONWEALTH OF AUSTRALIA HAS EVOLVED THE DOCTRINE THAT CONTRACTS AND COMBINATIONS, WHATEVER THEIR TECHNICAL NATURE, ARE ILLEGAL ONLY IF OPPOSED TO THE PUBLIC INTEREST.

IN GERMANY, where cartels are in position to fix prices, the government does not attempt price determination, but the Minister of Economic Affairs has the power to veto price schedules presented by the cartels.

Besides public supervision, the government would perhaps be wise further to protect the consumer against even the threat of extortion by radically lowering tariff rates and opening up the prospect of effective foreign competition in case American industrialists were slow to take proper advantage of their proposed opportunities.

The immediate need is for clarification of the anti-trust issue by act of Congress, which should narrow the zone of uncertainty as to what is legal and what is not.

The new goal should not be exploitation of political prejudice, but the setting up of machinery for getting from business the full benefits of efficient and scientific production and distribution and at the same time protecting the public from monopolistic extortion.
